Apple Sales Still Down From Alar Scare, Donaldson Says

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing. Editor

BIGLERVILLE (Adams Co.)—The Alar apple grower fiasco generated by national TV scare tactics became a topic for discussion again this week as the Agricultural Advisory Council for Penn State University met at the Fruit Research Laboratory.

The meeting gave council members the opportunity to see research programs that are underway at the facility and to visit Guy Donaldson's fruit farm located west of Gettysburg.

Alar was an approved chemical that helped growers to produce blemish free apples for consumer preference. But a very small cancer risk was made into a national issue that reduced sales and caused huge industry sales losses.

"The Alar scare has continued over into this growing season," Donaldson said. "Even though we are in a very short crop situation in the Appalachian area, it has affected sales in this particular crop year. I've heard estimates of

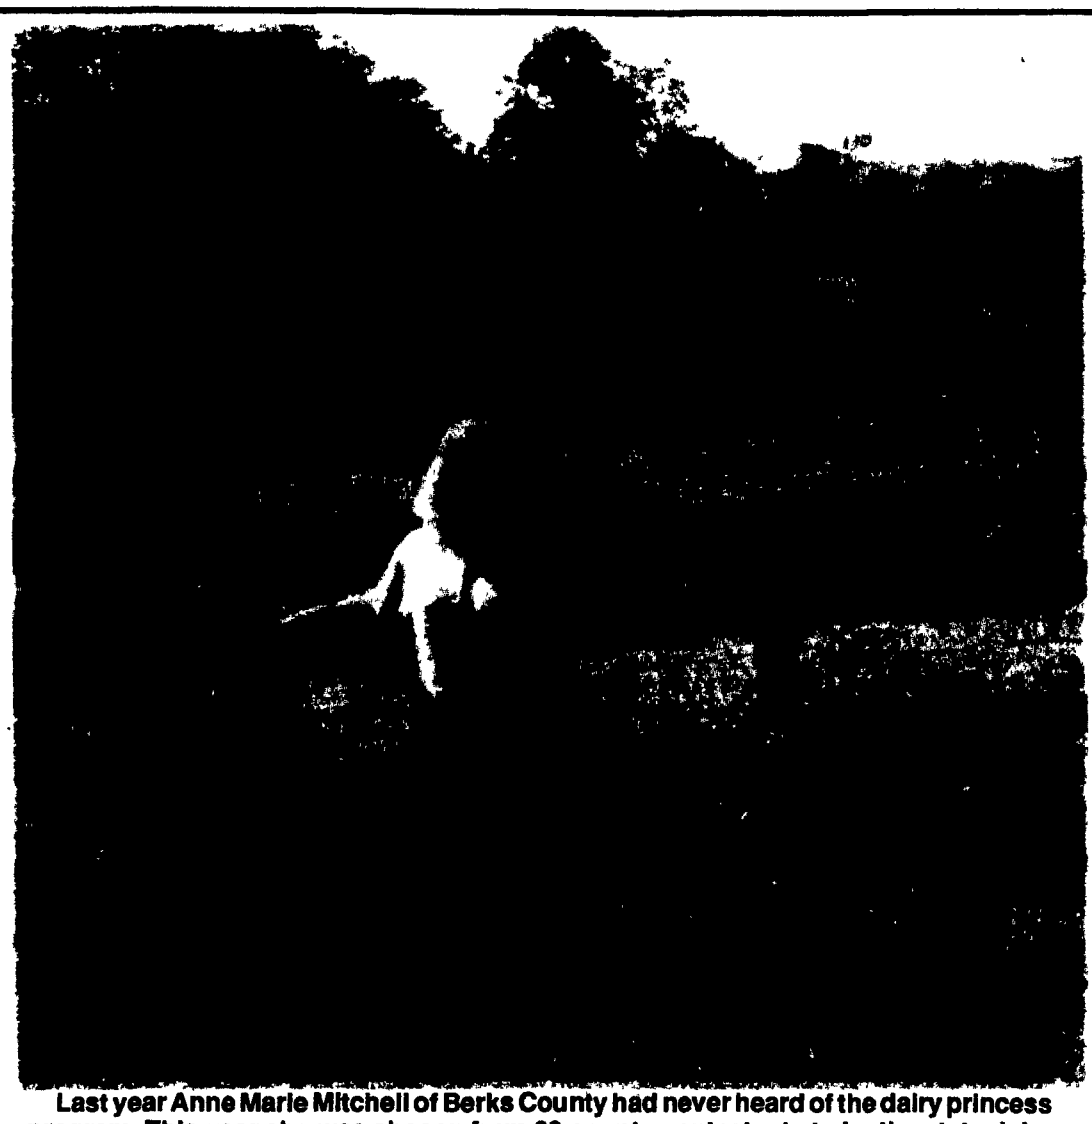
Two New Features This Week

Because of reader interest, two new features begin in this issue. Both pages will supply information you can use in farm management.

The new state "DHIA FOCUS" column starts this week with a summary of average feed costs from across the state and an article by Dick Chichester, General Manager, Select Sires. This article entitled "A.I. and DHIA--Partners In Progress," appeared in the September-October 1989 issue of "Selections," and is reprinted by permission. You'll find this information on Page A-20.

The second new page this week features the most complete grain, hog and cattle futures market report anywhere in farm publications. If you have a dairy operation or if you feed livestock, you'll find charts, moving averages and resistance/support figures compiled by Data Transmission Network Corporation to help you get a quick look at how the markets are moving. In a local reader survey, more than half of Lancaster Farming readers indicated an interest in this page found on A-16.

So, this week and every week, take a look at these new features as well as all the other regular market reports, news stories, professional columns and advertising pages that make Lancaster Farming (according to the new independent Starch Report) number one in the nation for reader response to advertising. In addition Starch reports that readers spend an average of 129 minutes reading each weekly issue.



Last year Anne Marie Mitchell of Berks County had never heard of the dairy princess program. This year she was chosen from 33 county contestants to be the state dairy princess.

Anne is much more than a pretty teen with a crown and banner; she is a bona fide farmer who works fulltime on her father's dairy farm and she does relief milking for other farmers. To learn more about Anne and Gambling B farm, turn to page B2, for photos and story by Lou Ann Good.

Cook Urges Dairymen To Unify

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.)— Milk checks of producers in the Mid-Atlantic Order 4 area continue to be boosted by more than $1 million per month in premium pricing, through the successful efforts of dairy cooperatives working together, according to Dairymen Middle Atlantic division manager Boyd M. Cook.

The over-order pricing of Class I milk, through the Middle Atlantic Cooperative Milk Marketing Agency (MAMMA), is proof that dairy producers can work together to gain satisfactory pricing, says Cook.

"My concern is whether farmers will continue to work together, or fall prey to offers of short-term gains, and lose the long-term benefits of responsible marketing efforts," Cook told members attending the cooperative's division annual meeting, October 13 at the Sheraton Gettysburg.

"There are those who promise prices slightly over what their

State Grange Testifies On Nutrient Management Proposals

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Grange was one of many groups to testify at the hearing Thursday held by the Pennsylvania's House Ag Committee on a proposed nutrient management bill.

The Grange testified that nutrient management, involving the use of commercial fertilizer and the excess application of animal waste to the land is a growing problem and that for many years the State Grange has supported a limited nutrient management plan.

Last year Grange delegates passed a detailed resolution which stated that the Grange supported a statewide nutrient management program comprised of the following elements.

Results Of County Ag Education Survey

BY PAT PURCELL

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co. — Agricultural education in Lancaster County high schools may see changes by early 1990 due to the work of the Lancaster County Agriculture Teachers Association (LCATA).

More than 500 surveys were sent to agri-businesses throughout Lancaster County in the spring of 1989. The results of the survey have been tabulated and ag educators in the county have begun planning course changes that will be in effect by the first of next year.

"The survey has been a very positive step and it's been great that these teachers have done the field testing," said Larry Redding, Program Specialist Agriculture Education with the Pennsylvania Department of Education. "This has been an excellent way to get the needed input from the local

Lancaster Swine Club 4-H'ers Honor Members

BY LISA RISSER

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — For the Lancaster County 4-H Swine Club, Tuesday night was a time for fellowship and for congratulating each other on a winning year.

Club president Greg Shipe was honored as the club's outstanding 4-H'er. Presenting the tribute to the 17-year-old son of Dar and Betsy Shipe of Elizabethtown was J. Warren Heisey, a swine club leader of 23 years.

Shipe is in his last year as a club member, but hopes to continue helping members in the future. During his eight years as a 4-H'er Shipe has served the club as treasurer and news reporter.

A novice club member, Calvin Landis also received a special award. He was named rookie of the

Delmarva Broiler Fryer Market

Wednesday, October 18, 1989

Movement of ready-to-cook whole fryers was fairly good today but demand was limited to standing commitments. Supplies were adequate to instances fully adequate. In the parts complex, supplies of cutlets were more than adequate for the sluggish demand, whole breasts were tight, dark meat items were in close balance, and wings were barely adequate with additional buyer interest noted. Less than trucklot asking prices were steady at 52-61 cents. Live supplies were adequate. Average weights were mostly desirable. Slaughter schedules today were very light. The trade sentiment was generally steady.

New York & Philadelphia Eggs Frozen

Tuesday, October 17, 1989

Trade sentiment was unsettled. Buyers remained cautious and made purchases accordingly. Whites were usually in the softest position, while whole eggs were in the strongest. Although there was a good demand for yolks it was difficult to get higher prices. Raw materials were irregular in their availability and breakers were selective and in some instances adjusted schedules in an effort to avoid building higher priced inventories.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, October 18, 1989

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: The market tone was generally fully steady to firm. Cartoned egg demand was mixed and usually ranged from fair to good Inter-dealer trading was active in several areas but most product was in good balance to cover current needs. It was too early to assess the outcome of the recent earthquake on the egg markets on the West Coast. Breakers were cautious as costs on raw materials continued to trend higher.

Take Your Seat, The Performance Is About To Begin.

You'll applaud the performance of Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, G-4626 and G-4446 when the curtain falls at harvest time.

A top choice for shelled grain or ear corn in 110 to 120-day maturity areas, G-4543 produces maximum yields even at lower populations. In Delaware hybrid field corn trials, it topped the field with 148.4 bu./A.

G-4626 has it all in a 115 to 120-day maturity hybrid—fast dry-down, outstanding stay-green, superior standability, excellent plant health and exceptional yields. In Delaware trials, G-4626 produced yields up to 200.9 bu./A.

G-4446 delivers superior late season standability, excellent grain quality and high test weights. A multi-purpose, widely adapted hybrid, G-4446 produced a state record 252.4 bu./A. in the 1986 Pa. Five-Acre Corn Club competition.

Get your ticket to superior performance by contacting your local Hoffman sales representative or our Landisville office. Call toll free 1-800-233-0137. In PA: 1-800-732-0456.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

OCT. 23-29, 1989

Oct. 24, United Nations Day.

Oct 23, the swallows leave Capistrano, Italy On this day in 1456, St John Giovanni of Capistrano died of the plague . Oct 24, foxhunting begins in England . Average length of days for the week 10 hours 36 minutes . Oct 25, St Crispin's Day, patron saint of shoemakers, saddlers, and tanners It is believed that October always has 19 fine days We make our fortunes and we call them fate

Ask the Old Farmer: Have you heard of a killick? I think it may be a nautical term. B. L., Ala
A killick is a stone, variously rigged in a forked stick, to serve as an anchor The Chinese used 'em a good while before there were any Yankees

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Warm and rainy, then clear and pleasant It's as simple as that Average precipitation this month, 2 inches, high for the north Greater New York-New Jersey: Cool with showers; then clearing and warmer. The average temperature this month is 60° F., two degrees above average.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Rainy and very cool Then it's sunny and pleasant for the rest of the week October precipitation is expected to be about 2 5".

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Sunny and warm briefly; then sprinkles and cool through most of the week Clearing and warm at the weekend, at least.

OPINION

A Little Hunger May Help

The impact of the Alar scare in the apple industry last year has extended to this year's crop. Millions of dollars were lost in sales after a national TV network ran a story that pulled out a small risk situation and made it into a case of life or death.

While many reputable scientists refuted the information used in the documetary, the network aired the program anyway. And the losses to farmers last year were astounding as the unsuspecting public paniked over the situation that was far less dangerous than many other ordinary life risks.

But even more disconserting is the market trends that are now unfolding with this year's new crop. The Alar scare continues to reduce sales and as Guy Donaldson, an Adams County apple grower told the Penn State University Ag Advisory Council this week, "That's perty hard to swallow."

Donaldson quoted industry estimates of losses in apple sales to be in excess of $100 million. And Herb Cole, PSU Dept. of Plant Pathology, really put the situation into perspective. "We're dealing with an American public that is so illiterate and ignorant when it comes to assessing risk that you don't really know where to start. How do we get people to perceive risk and balance risk and then assess the risk properly?

We have given this question some consideration. Maybe education would help. We're sure it would help if people were willing to learn. Then again it may take a large disruption in the American food chain to get the farmer's needs exposed to the public mind.

If the grocery store shelves would begin to show empty spots and lines would start to form at the entrance of the store rather than at the check out counter, maybe people would be more able to assess the risk of throwing out perfectly good food like apples.

We certainly hope people become willing to learn about the farmer's problems before the American food chain is disrupted to the point where people must go hungry because the grocery store shelves are bare.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Hunt Safely

We are fast approaching small game hunting season. We need to remind ourselves to be courteous and considerate while hunting on farms. We encourage all hunters to practice good relations between farmers and hunters. Criticism of hunting often starts because a few hunters forget the landowner is his host. By observing a few sensible hunting manners, hunters will keep themselves from becoming uninvited guests.

Most landowners permit reasonable hunting. Asking permission to hunt is a small courtesy in return for a pleasant day in the field; yet too few people follow this rule. Landowners may actually need protection from indifferent, careless and destructive hunters. When the trouble starts, many farmers post their land for protection from irresponsible hunters.

It takes very little and costs nothing to observe a few common courtesy rules while hunting: ask permission before hunting, close gates, pick-up litter after eating lunch and stay out of unharvested crops. Keep a safe distance from buildings and livestock while hunting and be sure to respect the property of others as you would expect others to respect yours.

To Pick and Store Apples

Whether you grow apples or just like to eat them, it's important to store them properly.

Cool apples will keep longer. Ideally, they should be stored at 33°F, at 90 percent humidity, and in dim light or darkness.

Now as to picking, it's a good practice to store the fruit in shade as it is picked, then allow it to stand in the orchard overnight to cool. Then, place the apples in storage early in the morning before the temperature rises too much.

If you leave apples in a packing shed or in piles under the tree for one week, you'll shorten their storage life by about five weeks. So, keep apples cool, maintain good air circulation during storage, and your apples should keep a long time.

To Check Ventilation Equipment For Winter

Exhaust fans in dairy and poultry houses have a heavy ventilation job to do. They remove moisture and dust, and in many cases run almost continually from October to April.

To make your ventilation system ready for winter, several items may need attention. The fan blades, motor enclosures and louvered shutters need cleaned frequently. Loose belts are common on belt driven fans. Fan output varies directly with fan speed. A 10 percent loss in R.P.M.'s of the fan means a 10 percent loss in air delivery.

Check the thermostat for accuracy by hanging a thermometer beside it for easy comparison. Be sure the sensing element is clean and free from dust.

To Inspect Heating Systems

With colder weather just ahead, we'll be using different types of heating units. In order to prevent the potential for fires and other problems, I'd suggest that all chimneys and flues be checked for cracks and places where sparks can escape.

In this part of the country, tobacco sheds have stoves to provide comfort for the winter job of stripping tobacco. Many of these have been in operation for a number of years and may need some attention. The mortar around pipes and between bricks may have fallen out; in some cases a repointing job with mortar will make the system much safer.

Don't take chances with a faulty system; it could start a major fire or the fumes could cause suffocation.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

PREPARE NOW
October 22, 1989

Devotional Reading: Matthew 24: 29-35.

Background Scripture: 1 Thessalonians 4-5.

In recent years our world has become technologically advanced in the field of medicine and continues to become more so elach day. Humans are constantly searching for the cure of disease and preventive measures for accidental deaths. We spend many hours in our lifetime worrying about the day when it is "time for us to go."

It's difficult to understand the reality of death, but avoidance and fear are not how this concept should be handled. Christians need to live a life full of purpose and meaning, and prepare for their future life in heaven; for death does come unexpectedly, just as the second coming of Christ will come unexpectedly.

Thessalonians 5:4 states that that day shall overtake you as a thief. Thessalonians 5:6-7 says, "Therefore, let us not sleep, as do others, but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep, sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night."

Christians should be fully aware as they await Christ's second coming. Months and years may go by as we live our lives without any thoughts or worries about death. Then, the day comes when we lose someone close to us and we must face the reality of death. During our time of grief, we search and look to the Lord for signs of hope.

The basis for that hope is in the words of the Bible. Matthew 24:34 says, "Heaven and earth shall pass away but my words shall not pass away."

Why should our search to strengthen our faith be put off until we are dealing with the death of a loved one, or facing death ourselves? The building of our faith in the Lord should be a lifetime endeavor. We may not find all the answers to our fears and doubts, but relief and hope can be found and restored. It can be found through readings in the Bible, church sermons, and religious instruction. And it can be found in helping others in their search for faith.

Don't wait until it is too late. Prepare for the coming of the Lord right now. As you prepare, offer support to others and support to others and encourage them to lead productive lives, for when Christ comes again, believers who have died will be the first to rise.

If we truly believe in God, then we have that faith. And if we truly have faith, then there can be no fear of death.

MoorMan's Beef Cattle Boost Medicated

They're right off the truck, probably off feed and vulnerable to sickness

Getting those calves eating and gaining again is the key to your profitability and maybe their survival A simple, economical way to do it is with MoorMan's Adjustment Program

Just add 1 lb per head daily of Beef Cattle Boost* to your own forage and grain Feed it for 28 days after arrival It's highly palatable and easily digested by stressed calves So they eat more feed which helps increase gain and reduce sickness

Beef Cattle Boost contains Aureo S 700* which aids in the maintenance of weight gain in the presence of respiratory disease such as shipping fever

Ask your MoorMan Representative about Beef Cattle Boost It's the easiest way to help your calves survive and thrive

PARADISE TOBACCO AUCTION IS BACK!

It is a year that we expect an intense demand for all your tobaccos. You farmers are in the drivers seat this year. If you sell on the farm before auction opens, market price may be determined too quickly and too cheaply. Paradise will keep you informed of market info each week in this Lancaster Farming space.

People from all parts of the country have been here to inquire about how much tobacco we will have in the market place. We have already sent out a lot of good samples representing a quality crop. We finally have gotten a sound committment from a large tobacco company to follow your auction. Your dream has come true and you will be rewarded for your support of the tobacco auction system. Paradise continues to work to put PA grown tobacco on the map. Remember, Maryland tobacco auction went 5 years before attracting tobacco companies to their market. We have gone through 4 years now, and see light at the end of the tunnel.

The tobacco auction system stands stronger among farmers and buyers than it ever has - NO MATTER WHATEVER ANYBODY TELLS YOU!!

After last year you should respect the auction system and its IMPACT!! You need to have enough confidence in the tobacco auction system to wait until it opens before you sell either type of tobacco!! This could be a year of the greatest demand you have seen for both type 41 and 609 tobacco - and Paradise expects to make a market in both types. Brace yourself hard for buyers coming out early to the farm to buy this crop before auction opens and the big new tobacco company arrives - YOU MAY BE TEMPTED BY BIG PRICES!! Don't forget the auction in a good year - remember when you wanted us in the tough years?

FOCUS ON PARADISE - We have become PA's tobacco marketing center. The auction system can survive - but it soley depends on you, "The Tobacco Farmer" - to support it and make it work!!!

AGAIN - YOU WILL BE TEMPTED BY BIG PRICES BEFORE AUCTION OPENS BUT BE STRONG - AUCTION WILL WORK TO MAKE THEM BIGGER! Remember, we will sell both types of tobacco.

For Sale: 3 Compartment bale boxes with either hydraulic or hand jacks; Cotton baling twine, we can ship UPS.

HERD STATS
• 189 cows milking
• 25,572 lbs milk (RHA)
• 822 lbs. fat

"Consistency and uniformity are two things we like about SoyPLUS®"

"In our opinion, consistency is one of the big factors in getting cows to milk That's why we rely almost totally on corn silage for roughage in our herd – less than 3 lbs of haylage is fed on a dry matter basis We like the uniformity in corn silage – it doesn't vary as much as hay or haylage Consistency and uniformity are two things we like about SoyPLUS We've been feeding SoyPLUS for four years, and it's the same product, load after load

"However, because we don't feed any hay, our ration requires a blend of solvent meal and SoyPLUS. We were feeding 70% solvent soybean meal and 30% SoyPLUS, but we recently switched to a 50/50 ratio and the cows are milking better. Our ration is balanced for 16½% protein

"In the past several months, our cows have been milking really well and production has been climbing. We're hopeful that we'll soon reach 26,000 lbs of milk"

Plan Fire Control In Livestock Buildings

ITHACA, NY — Every year in the United States millions of dollars worth of livestock, farm equipment, and agricultural buildings are lost due ot fire. Although accidents and lightening make it impossible to prevent agricultural fires entirely, sound construction and maintenance practices can help limit the size—and destructiveness—of fires that do start. "Fire Control in Livestock Buildings," a new publication in the Farm Safety Series of the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service (NRAES), provides the information that farmers and builders need to ensure that their livestock buildings are constructed and equipped to minimize the danger from fires.

The first section of the 18-page bulletin covers building design, including the use of fire-retardant materials in construction and building management to limit fire spread. Fire walls and curtains to limit fire spread also are thoroughly discussed, including recommendations for spacing these fire barriers. An explanation of vent spacing and the importance of ventilation in removing toxic gases, enabling livestock to survive and firefighters to get closer to the blaze, rounds out the section.

Early warning devices and fire suppression are the topics of the second and third sections of the pamphlet. The detailed information about different types of smoke and heat detectors and automatic sprinkler systems will help livestock building owners and others determine the fire-control technology that is most suited to their facilities. The fire suppression section also contains useful advice on how to make it easier for firefighters to combat fires in livestock buildings.

The bulletin, NRAES-39, costs $3; quantity discounts are available. Postage and hadling are included; foreign orders must be prepaid in U.S. funds. Order from the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service (NRAES), 152 Riley-Robb Hall, Cooperative Extension, Ithaca, NY, 14853, or call 607/255-7654.

A.I. And DHIA — Partners In Progress

BY DICK CHICHESTER
General Manager, Select Sires

In 1950 there were 24 million dairy cows in the United States providing our nation's population with dairy products. Today, there are slightly more than 10 million cows, and they are feeding a U.S.A. population which has incrased substantially since that time. Indeed, today's 10 million cows are producing considerably more total pounds of milk than 1950's 24 million cows did.

Why is this? Why are the American dairy farmers and their high-producing cows among our very best examples of U.S. productivity? There are many reasons, of course. They include advances in nutrition, housing and milking systems, fertilizers, weed control, and all the rest. However, I believe that two major resources, artificial insemination and production testing, working hand-in-hand, have played as big a role as any others.

These two practices have allowed dairymen to change the genetic makeup of their herds in a positive way. A.I. has contributed to the addition of new, profitable genes to the herd while DHIA has caused the elimination of less desirable, unprofitable genes from the herd. As a matter of fact, DHIA records have been the raw materials upon which we have been able to identify the genetically superior animals in an effort to increase the frequency in which they become parents. In other words, the utilization of DHIA records for genetic evaluations have been a by-product of DHIA testing.

What I really want to discuss, however, is the primary purpose of DHIA itself. When properly utilized, there is no better single resource available for making internal herd management decisions than DHIA records. Next to A.I., the most effective way of controlling the herd genetically is intelligent culling.

With today's sophisticated computers, DHIA can provide virtually any kind of management listings conceivable. Sometimes it may appear to be too much information, but each dairyman can pick and choose for himself which pieces of information he wants.

Sort Out the Profitable Cows

I would urge every dairy farmer who reads this article and is not on DHIA to seriously consider joining your local testing association. Today's dairy economic situation dictates that we must "breed to the best and cull the rest." We must be able to sort out our profitable cows from our "boarders." Some dairymen tell me that they can tell the difference between high and low production by "eyeballing" their cows and watching the pipeline at milking time. Well, I'm certainly no expert, never been asked to judge at Madison, etc., but I think I know a good cow when I see one. However, on any number of occasions, I have walked through a herd, pointed to a cow and said, "I'll bet she's a good one." Then, to my surprise, the owner will turn and say, "She's not so hot." My standard answer to that is, "That's why you hire a DHIA tester!" The tester sorts out the real truth from what we think may be the truth.

That, in a nutshell, is what my message is really all about this time. Today's dairying is competitive, and will become even more competitive during the decade of the 90's. We need to have both feet firmly planted on the ground and know precisely what each of our cows is contributing to the big picture. If you're not doing it already, hire a DHIA tester -- I'll bet you'll be glad you did.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's this week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. Remember these are averages so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Doebler's Top Seven

HERE'S HOW I PICK 'EM

by Willard Jones

I'm Willard Jones, Doebler sales manager, with my top picks.

We sell 30 corn hybrids at Doebler's. "But what seven would you recommend first?" I'm asked. That's not easy. Soil, management, weather would come into play here.

Three-ways got lot of thought early on. During the fall sale they sell for $17 less than super singles. And some years they really crowd'em on yields.

It wasn't easy to pass over 48X, a three time winner in Penn State Commercial Corn Trials.

Or the big healthy 70X-C with its big ears and rank growth.

DOEBLER 84XP, 118 days. A top choice—grain or silage. Big ears means big yields. Like 191.4 bushels this fall in a Maryland strip test. Big tonnage fills silo quick. Excellent standup. Healthy. Superior drought rating.

DOEBLER 75X, 113 days. Still our top seller. And for good reason. Dozens of 200 bushel yields, including a record 281.6 bu. in PA Five Acre Corn Club. Silage? Old reliable also holds Virginia's silage mark. Great stalks.

DOEBLER 66XP, 103 days. A super sheller. No. 2 yield in Cornell's 1988 Medium Maturity Trials, 4.6 and 16.2 bu. head of other 600 series hybrids in our first strip test results this fall. Shrugs off blight. Easy sheller.

DOEBLER 57XP, 97 days. Popped 199 bu. in Cornell's Medium Early Maturity Trials last year, buried old 58X by 19 bu. Two recent yields over 225. My choice north of Route 80. Extra oomph pays off in thin stands and poorer soils.

DOEBLER 54XP, 95 days. Great early corn in full season country. Starts quick and stays green. Dark green, that is. Standup outstanding. Solid 202 bu. in '88 Cornell Medium Early Trials, or 15 bu. better than Pioneer's best.

DOEBLER 35XP, 83 days. Bill Camerer has made case for the new 33XP. But don't forget this baby. It outslugged 48XE 161.3 to 152.3 bu. in recent tests with 1% less moisture and 5% less down corn. Great choice in early country.

DOEBLER 28XP, 78 days. Now you have it. A big sheller for early high country. Healthy. Sturdy stalks. 141 bu. in '88 Cornell trials, five more bushels and five less points moisture than 48XE. Class of our 200 series.

Hay for Horses

Today horses represent one of the fasted growing markets in the Northeast for quality hay. Good quality hay can provide, except for salt and water, most of the nutrients needed for mature idle horses. And if quality is high, such as with early cut alfalfa, the protein needs for weaning foals can easily be met.

But, to be of the most value as feed for horses, hay must be high in quality! So what is quality hay? Briefly, it's hay that is early cut; leafy; free of must, mold, and dust; free of foreign material such as weeds and stubble; and has a good green color. Hay of this type is usually rich in energy, protein, minerals and vitamins, and is readily consumed by horses with little waste.

When it comes to free choice, horses generally do seem to have some preferences. For example, in controlled studies horses actually preferred legumes hay over grasses and clover over alfalfa hay. But, when quality was high, horses were content with a number of hay mixtures, including a variety of legumes and grasses. Respiratory or digestive disturbances frequently associated with feeding hay were found to be more related to dust and mold than to species or mixtures.

Alfalfa hay is being used more and more frequently in well-balanced horse rations. High quality alfalfa is becoming a much more common hay at many race tracks and show barns, and many horse owners may use alfalfa almost exclusively with excellent results. The key, of course, is that it must be properly balanced with other feeds depending on the needs of the animal.

Hay Treated With Chemical Preservatives

In the past many horse managers and owners refused to buy or feed hay treated with chemical preservatives. The reasons; (1) fear or lack of understanding of the chemical nature of hay preservatives, or (2) a bad experience in feeding preserved hay.

To begin with, just because hay has been treated with a preservative doesn't guarantee that the hay is preserved from molding and spoilage. To be effective the preservative must have been applied on the right rate and the right hay moisture. To date the most reliable chemical preservative continues to be one containing high concentrations of propionic acid.

But in order for it to be effective, the material must be applied properly, i.e. the right amount at the right hay moisture level and good over-all coverage. Thus, when purchasing hay treated with a preservative, it's still important to look, feel and smell the hay checking for mold or mustiness.

Do Preservatives Harm Horses?

Recent independent studies performed at three universities compared hay baled at high moisture and treated with a perservative containing a mixture of propionic and acetic acids to low-moisture hay not treated. In brief:

1. There were no differences in crude protein or digestibility of the treated hay versus the untreated hay.

2. The appearance of treated hay varied from green to brown bales; however, forage analysis showed no difference in available crude protein. The result of the brown color was due to heating.

3. In one study when horses were given a choice between treated and untreated hay, horses preferred the untreated hay. However, when fed only one type of hay at a time, horses consumed both treated and untreated hays equally. In another study, intake of the treated and untreated hays were identical.

4. Generally, the untreated hay was dustier than the treated hay; therefore, treated may be better for horses with respiratory problems.

Drying Agents

A newer type of product being used by some hay producers is the chemical drying agent also referred to as chemical conditioners. These products are different from preservatives. Drying agents are applied at mowing and aid in rapidly drying the forage. They do not preserve wet hay. The chemicals used as drying agents usually include potassium carbonate and sodium carbonate. These are rather simple salts that have not been shown to cause harm to livestock. The amounts of potassium and sodium applied from drying agents are far less than typical amounts that are taken out of the soil by the forage plants; therefore, there should by no potential problem from salt toxicity.

To Summarize

Generally, hay treated properly with either or both hay preservatives or hay drying agents do not cause any ill effect to horses. When given a choice, horses may not prefer treated hay, the horse will most likely become accustomed to it. No matter if hay has been treated or not, avoid moldy or dusty hay.

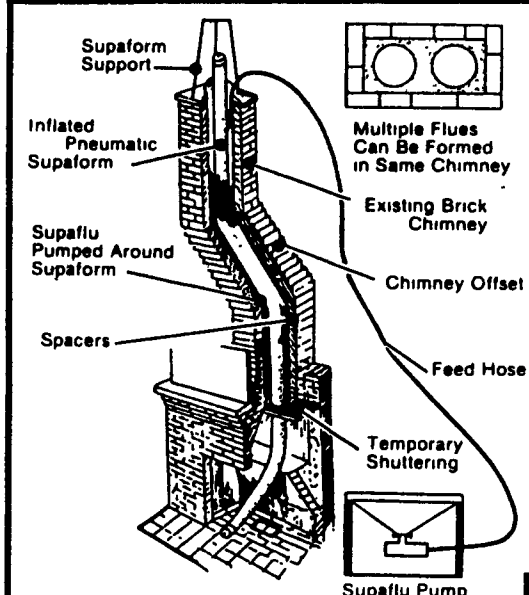
Holstein Association Changes

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Beginning with the January 1990 genetic evaluations, the Holstein Association of America will include all classification scores in calculating a cow's Predicted Transmitting Ability for Type (PTAT). Research results from several universities show a slight increase in accuracy from using all classification records in genetic evaluations.

First classification score is a good predictor of later classification scores. Over time, most cows who score higher than herdmates at first classifications will score higher than herdmates in later classifications.

For some cows, the first classification score does not indicate conformation at maturity. Using all classification scores will have the most impact on these cows. In addition, PTAT's will be slightly more accurate for all cows.

CHIMNEY PROBLEMS?



Supaflu Fights Hot Chimney Fires Before They Begin.

Creosote build-up, cracked chimney tiles, decaying mortar and hot trapped gasses. This is the way dangerous and damaging chimney fires start. A trained Supaflu chimney professional can spot these hazards in a hurry and take care of them almost as fast. A fast and inexpensive cast-in-place Supaflu installation makes your chimney better than new, safer than new. A smooth, strong Supaflu lined chimney fights creosote build-up and eliminates hot trapped gases, dramatically reducing chimney fire dangers.

Changing To Meet Today's Needs

BY LISA RISSER

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Time stands still for no one. And with its passage comes changes that force other changes, producing a domino effect. In the agricultural industry, changes have filtered down into the youth organizations. For example, last winter the national FFA group voted to restructure itself to better adapt to today's agriculture.

In Lancaster County, 4-H beef club leaders are revamping the program so that it can continue to meet the needs of its members. For instance, today is the last time the Southeast District beef show and sale will be held due to a lack of participation.

"We've seen membership drop lately," said Chet Hughes, Lancaster County Extension livestock agent and coordinator of the 4-H beef club. "We had 85 members in 1980, and we have 35 members now. But I see this as a state-wide issue; other counties have the same concerns as we have in Lancaster County."

Hughes and the club leaders recognized the problem about two years ago and began examining it for causes. A major cause for the decline was simple economics.

"Often the project calves are sold at premium prices to 4-H and FFA members, and they have little chance of making a profit on the animal," Hughes explained. "We do get good support from the buyers, but it's unfair to ask them to foot the bill, which started with a high feeder-calf price."

The high project calf prices are due in part to the fact that, feeder calf producers found that 4-H'ers were willing to pay a premium price for a show-type calf, and prices snowballed from there.

In addition to high calf prices, the program was geared toward feeding out the steers for the Farm Show in January, which meant a 15-month feeding period and consequently a bigger total feed bill.

In addition, the increased after-school activities and youth opportunities was another cause for membership loss. "Children have a lot more activities and opportunities available, and they don't look at the 4-H beef club as a social outlet like they used to," reported Hughes. "There are more school programs now, and it's easier to stay at school than make special efforts to go to outside activities."

The growth of the county's 4-H sheep and swine clubs certainly back up these theories. Both clubs have projects with a shorter duration, less costs involved, and bigger returns. In 1980, the sheep club had 10 members, while the swine club had 25 members. Currently, each club boasts at least 60 members.

The way it was

This isn't the first time the county 4-H beef club has experienced changes. When it began more than 60 years ago, consumers wanted a different kind of beef and Herefords were the steers of choice. Today's steers are much taller and leaner than the bunchy steer of years ago. The preferred steers, up until as recent as the 1970s, were short, blocky animals. The steers were called baby beef because they were short and compact, sort of like a baby animal.

"There wasn't as much clipping and blocking then because you wanted body depth. You didn't take hair off the underline so the steer would look blockier," recalled Max Smith, former Lancaster County Extension director and former club coordinator. When pictures were taken mounds of straw surrounded the steer so its legs would appear shorter.

"When I took over the club in 1937, all the steers were Herefords," remembered Smith. "There weren't any cattle breeders of note of either Herefords or Angus, so cattle came from the stockyards. There were more Herefords available from the stockyards and marketing people, and that's what the members got."

Angus began making a stronger appearance in the '50s, while more crossbreds began to be fed out in the '60s.

Obtaining a project calf has changed over the years as well. "The old system was a drawing for steers," Smith explained. "Club leaders and the county agent bought steers that were uniform, and the members drew from a box for their animal. There wasn't any trading afterward allowed."

The biggest advantage to the lot-drawing system was that every youngster had the same chance at producing a champion steer, according to Smith. In addition, everyone paid the same price per pound for the same breeds. For

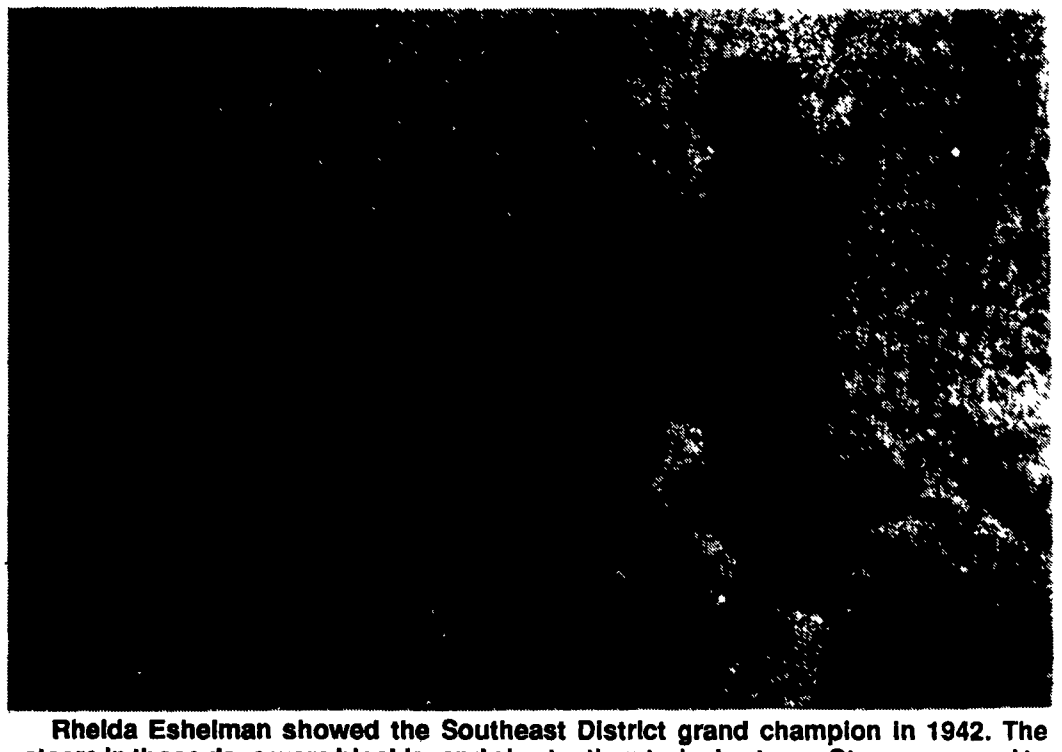
In the 1940s, many beef shows were held at the Lancaster County Stockyards.



Rhelda Eshelman showed the Southeast District grand champion in 1942. The steers in those days were blockier and shorter than today's steers. Straw was used to help make the steer look shorter and bunchier. And steers weren't clipped much because the hair made them look bigger.

Keller Wins Berks County 4-H Swine Show Again

BY VAL VAN TASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Jason Keller, a 14-year-old from Fleetwood, won the Berks County 4-H swine show for the second year in a row. Last Wednesday morning his medium middleweight topped the 57-hog show held at the Leesport Auction and Market. Hatfield Packing represented by Ezra Good, bought the 240-pound market hog for $3.80 per pound that evening.

Judge Ken Winebark was impressed by the hog's thickness. "The champion hog has a high volume of muscle and will probably have the highest yielding carcass in the show," he said.

Keller has had a very successful show season. The champion was part of the reserve champion pair at the Reading Fair. He also had the grand champion hog at the 4-H Carcass Show held earlier this summer.

Keller credits good pigs and good feed with his continued accomplishments. "First thing I'm going to do is to pay off my feed bill. Then maybe I'll buy a rifle." Keller bought his pigs from the Dennis Cooper farm.

Leon Hunter owned the reserve, another Cooper hog which followed Keller's pig in the medium middleweight class. "These animals are very similar. The reserve is a very thick, meaty hog," Judge Winebark said. Hatfield Packing also bought the reserve at $2.20 per pound.

This was Hunter's first reserve but he knew just what to do with the windfall. "I'm putting it in the bank," he said emphatically.

Hunter of Fleetwood had a fine day in the show ring. He won the champion fitter honors in the junior division and the reserve showman ribbon as well. Jenni Rabenold topped the showman category and followed Leon in the fitting competition.

Jenni's brother, Todd actually owned the nicest animal in the show. "The lightweight champion is really the best package here. It has the best structure and is the heaviest-muscled hog but it is just too small to give championship status today," Winebark said. According to Winebark, if the 200-pound animal had weighed in 10 pounds heavier, the show results would have been a bit different. Todd had to content himself with the champion fitter honors in the intermediate division.

Paula Hunter, Leon's sister, owned the reserve champion lightweight. Another sister, Christine, had the champion heavyweight followed by Leon's second pig as the reserve.

Valerie, another Hunter sibling, was selected as the top senior showman followed by Randy Balthaser of Bernville. Tammy Balthaser, Randy's sister, was the champion senior fitter with Traci Gelsinger picking up the reserve champion senior fitter honors.

Tammy Gelsinger was the reserve junior fitter. Jason Balthaser was the top showman followed by Leslie Seidel of Lenhartsville.

The sale not including the champions, averaged $.70 per pound with a buy-back price of $.48 per pound.

Jason Keller, right, of Fleetwood celebrated his second consecutive year as the exhibitor of the grand champion market hog at the Berks County 4-H swine show. Ezra Good of Hatfield Packing purchased the hog for $912.

The reserve grand champion hog, exhibited by Leon Hunter, also went to top bidder Ezra Good of Hatfield Packing. This 235-pound hog sold for $2.20 per pound.

Sutton Elected President Of PennAg

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — John W. Sutton, President of Lovatt & Co., Ambler, has been elected president of PennAg Industries Association for 1990. PennAg Industries Association is an Ephrata-based agribusiness trade association representing more than 500 firms.

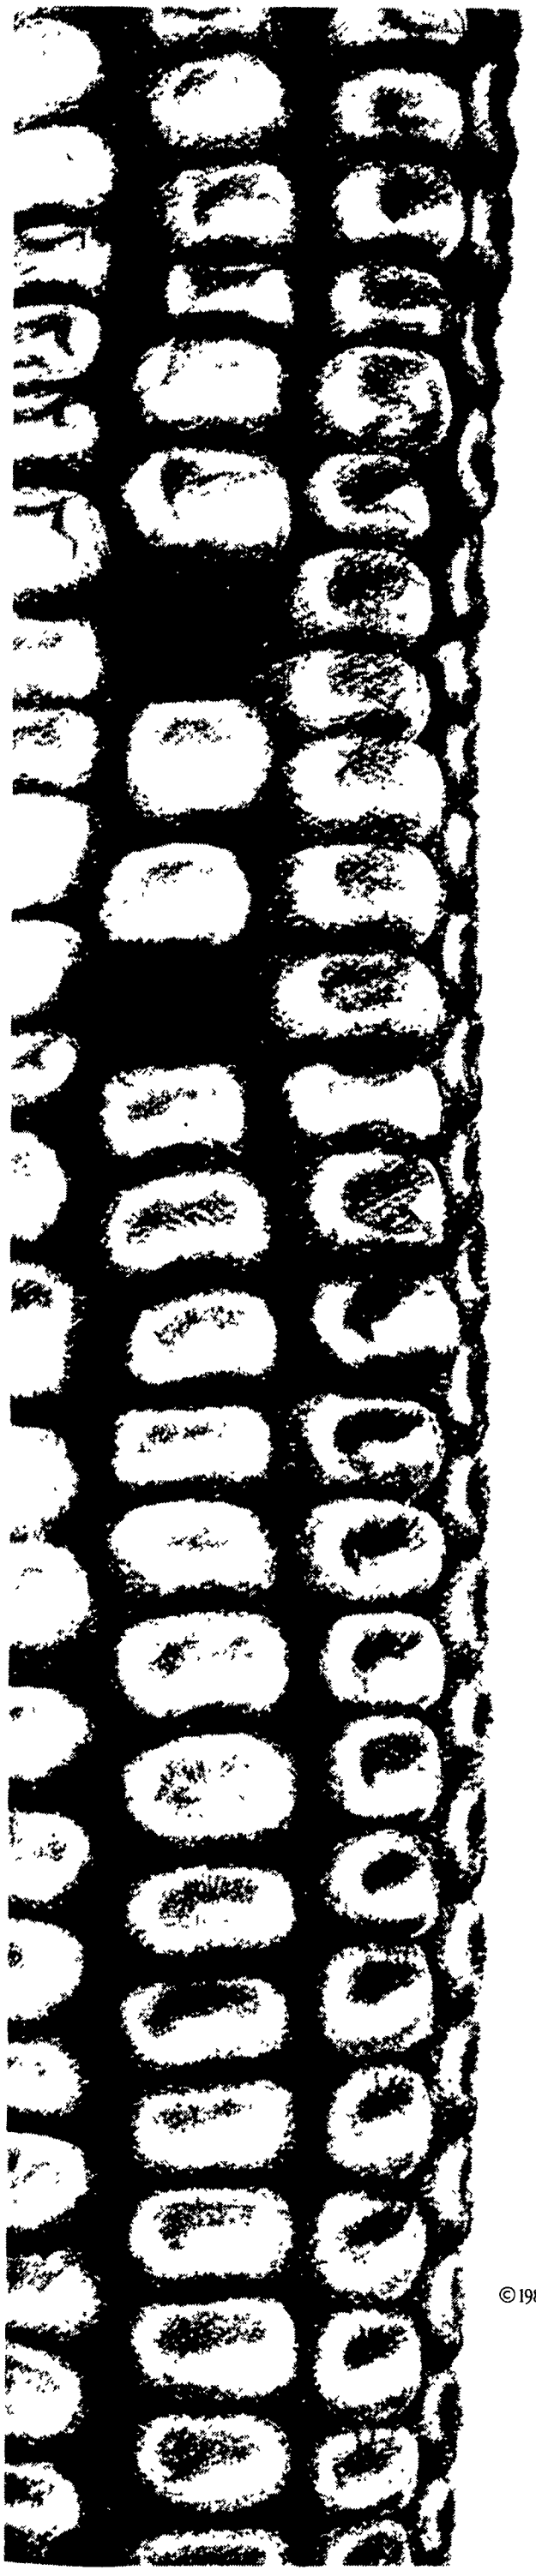
A graduate of Penn State University, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in agricultural economics, he served in the U.S. Navy as an electronic technician.

Sutton is a past president of the S.E. Pennsylvania Ag Business Association and currently is a director of that association. He is a committee chairman for Montco Investment Club and for Boy Scout Troop #414, Lansdale. Sutton is also a Nation Chief in the North Penn YMCA Parent-Child Program. He has also served as a coach and assistant coach in the Montgomery Township Soccer Association.

He and his family reside in Lansdale.

1990 Feed Grain Program Provisions Announced

YORK (York Co.) — Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter announced a 10 percent acreage reduction (ARP) for 1990 crop corn, grain sorghum and barley, and a 5% reduction for oats", according to W. Dean Manifold of Stewartstown PA. Manifold, Vice-chairperson of the York County ASC Committee continued, "Target prices are $2.75 bushel for corn, $2.61, $2.36/bu and $1.45/bu for grain sorghum, barley and oats respectively. This represents a reduction over 1989 target prices as follows: Corn- 9¢, Grain Sorghum- 9¢, Barley- 7¢ and Oats- 5¢. All crops except oats is subject to limited cross compliance and the barley/oats base will be split for the 1990 crop year," Manifold concluded, "Sign-up for the 1990 program runs from January 16 through April 13, 1990." Interested farmers can contact their county ASCS office.



Agway has the top fielders in both leagues.

Loyalties run deep. Whether you're talking ball teams or seed corn. That's why we offer you a fielder's choice of the best seed corn brands in both leagues. Nationally ranked DEKALB and AGWAY—the eastern regional favorite.

Together they make a great team. Not only are they backed by the world's largest seed research program, they are the most extensively tested seed corn varieties in the East. Each delivers outstanding performance under the wide variety of soil types and growing conditions characteristic of the eastern region.

instance, a 475-pound Hereford was purchased at the same price per pound as a 500-pound Hereford, regardless of their appearance or bloodlines.

The system also kept the same families from winning champion titles all the time. "Management is what counts," said Smith. "If the family is good (at beef management), it gets to be like a monopoly under the current system because if you start with a good steer, you'll end up in the winning circle all the time."

But, Smith hastens to add, "it's not unfair now, it's just a different set up."

Sometime in the 1970s cattle became easier for members to obtain on their own, and the lot-drawing system was dropped. Leaders also viewed this as a chance for members to learn about breeding operations, selection skills, and marketing skills such as bidding at an auction.

Member numbers changing

During Smith's 40-some years of coordinating the 4-H beef club, the big show in Lancaster County was the Southeast District beef show, which peaked at about 200 animals. In addition, there was a quota on steer numbers at the Farm Show. Only 150 head were allowed to compete. Now the district show is down to about 40 head, and Farm Show officials allow counties to enter as many steers as they would like. In recent years, only about 60 head of steers were exhibited at Farm Show.

Finding solutions

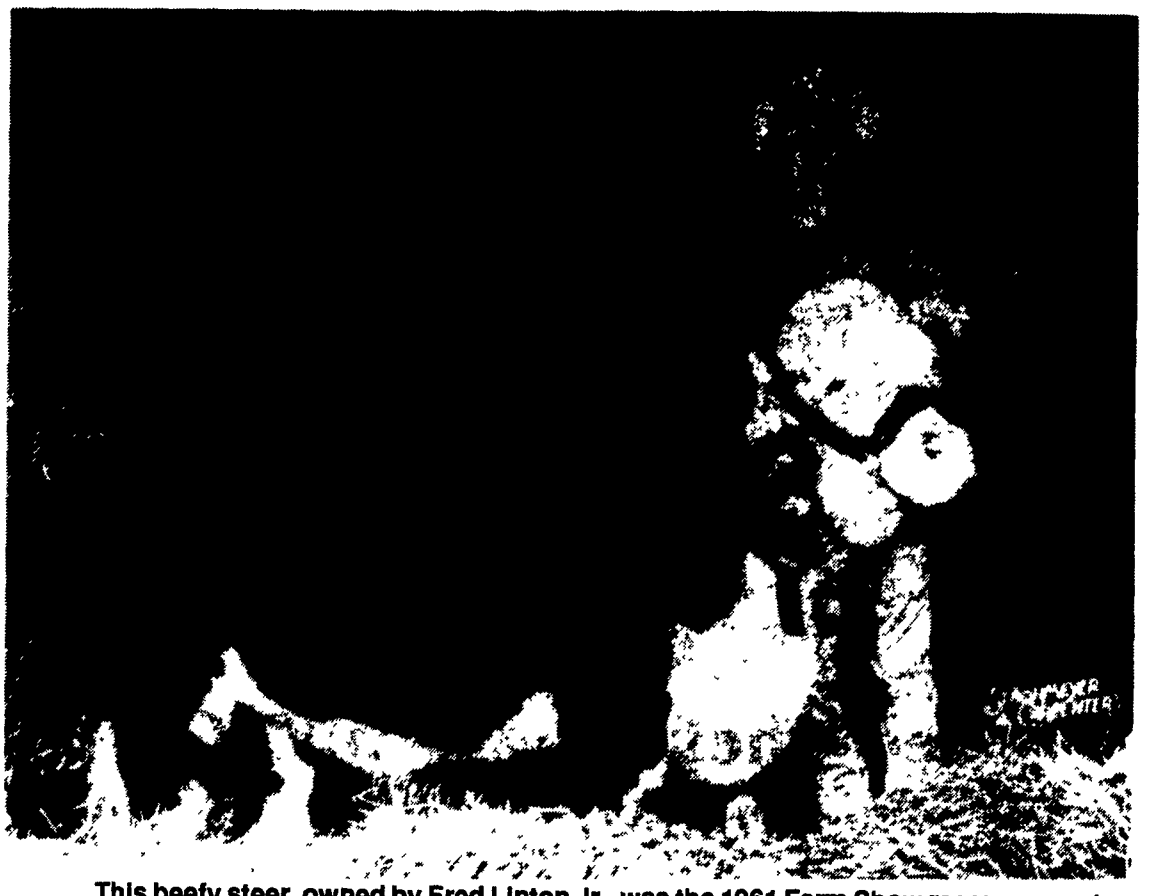
With their problem defined and causes discovered, the county 4-H beef leaders worked on finding a way to halt membership decline.

"We think the ideal solution would be to move the beef roundup to the county 4-H fair in August and allow 4-H'ers to show and sell the steers at their community fairs," Hughes said.

Traditionally the community fair beef sales have been the exclusive domain of FFA chapters, with the exception of the Ephrata and New Holland fairs. The 4-H'ers would have a separate show from the FFA'ers and would take those steers on to the county roundup and Southeast District Show, after which the animals would be sold.

Hughes, the 4-H leaders and FFA advisors have been meeting to discuss the situation. At their most recent meeting, held Wednesday night, they agreed to work together to hold youth beef shows a community fairs with both 4-H and FFA members showing and selling steers. The next step is to present the group's recommendation to the local fair boards.

While the 4-H leaders prefer to have the steers sold at local fairs, that's not their main concern. "When it gets right down to it, we are trying to do something that will better benefit our Lancaster County youth," said Hughes.



This beefy steer, owned by Fred Linton Jr., was the 1961 Farm Show reserve grand champion. It wasn't until relatively recently that the tall, lean steer became the preferred type.

1992 Keystone Holstein 3-Year-Old Futurity

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Holstein Association invites your participation in the 1992 Keystone Holstein Three Year Old Futurity. Members can enter calves born from September 1, 1988 - August 31, 1989 in the 1992 Futurity for $3.00 per animal. A second payment of $11.00 will be due in 1990 with final payment of $20.00 due in 1991. Animals that have all three payments made will be eligible to show in the Futurity Class at the 1992 Fall Championship Show.

The winner is guaranteed to take home at least $500. All animals that show in the class receive money, based on their placing.

The class winner in 1989 received a check for $718.00, while the 1988 winner was paid $468.00. For the #34.00 investment it proves to be an excellent way to promote your breeding program and herd.

Nutrient Management Proposals

First, more nutrients should not be applied to the land than the next crop can use. Second, it is requested that Penn State University develop a certification program for nutrient management technicians. Third, the Department of Agriculture should certify the nutrient management technicians requiring yearly updated training as they now do in certifying the pesticide applicators.

Also, county conservation districts should be required to review the nutrient management plans and that these districts should be reimbursed by the State Conservation Commission for the extra work load. Finally, the State Conservation Commission should concentrate on identifying alternate uses, conversions or disposal of the excess animal waste.

In addition, the Department of Environmental Resources should assess the non-agricultural nutrient contribution to the non-point source problem including the following:

—residential application of fertilizer;

— malfunction or aged on-lot septic tanks;

— septic tank cleansers that stimulate perculation of nitrates to ground water;

— storm water run-off;

—surface intrusion of nutrients to the ground water caused by improper well construction.

"Since this resolution passed it became the model for other organizations' policy," said Brenda Stambaugh, legislative director. "The Grange has been working with these groups and Representative Jeff Coy in developing nutrient management legislation," explained Stambaugh.

Even though HB 1838 (written by Coy) mirrors the Grange's described current policy, the Grange has some concerns. The first is simply appropriating enough money for the conservation districts to review management plans and conduct an educational program for the agricultural community. This educational program must identify the proper methods, practices and techniques for the utilization and management of nutrients on the farm to prevent pollution of surface ground water.

Shambaugh said, "Without adequate funding, the program cannot be fully implemented, thus defeating the purpose of the legislation."

Another concern is that state law superseding local ordinances. The Grange believes it is imperative to the program's success that the state nutrient management plan supersede the local ordinances.

"The local ordinances could make nutrient management an impossibility through over-regulation, resulting in a grave hinderance to our number one industry," said Shambaugh.

The Grange firmly believes that non-agricultural nutrient problems contribute to the non-point source problem. The legislation states that DER should assess these non-agricultural nutrient contributors and identify what regulative initiatives are needed to correct the problem. Shambaugh commented, "The Grange believes that DER should be required to report their findings and recommend regulation changes to the State Conservation Commission. It would be a disservice to the intent of HB 1838 not to have this section fully implemented."

According to Grange belief, another provision in the legislation that might need revision is the time frames outlined in the legislation. The Grange recommends giving the conservation districts more assessment time to fully evaluate the problem, and additional time to implement nutrient management plans.

In request of the certification program through Penn State, this idea is not part of HB 1838. It is encompassed in Representative John Barley's Bill, HB 1980. The Grange recommends incorporating section 6 through 8 of HB 1980 into HB 1838. These sections cover certification for developing nutrient management plans; categories of certification and revocation, suspension or denial of certification or recertification.

Atlantic 'On Target' For 72nd Annual Meeting

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.)— "On Target for the '90s" is the theme of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative's 72nd annual meeting, which will be held Nov. 2-3 at the Sheraton Lancaster Host Resort in Lancaster, Pa.

The meeting brings together Atlantic's management, board of directors and member delegates for a review of the 1988-89 fiscal year. Also to be discussed are Atlantic's plans for the 1990s.

The two-day event will kick off on Thursday, Nov. 2, at 9:45 p.m., with a meeting of Atlantic's officers and delegates. During this session, the cooperative's management team will report on past year business and programs.

Following this and a noontime luncheon, Dr. Paul E. Hand will present his report as general manager. The afternoon program will conclude with a presentation by Cynthia Carson, chief executive officer of the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board.

The annual banquet will begin at 6:15 p.m. Thursday night. David William "Duffy" Robbins, chairman of the Youth Ministry Department of Eastern College, St. David, Pa., will be the guest speaker.

Don Schriver, director of member relations for Milk Marketing Inc. will serve as master of ceremonies. Entertainment will be provided by the Vicksburg Quartet.

The program on Friday, Nov. 3, will begin at 7 a.m., with the traditional Young Cooperator's Breakfast Program. Norman Harvey, chairman of the board, Agri-Mark Inc., will address the group.

The delegate session will resume at 9 a.m. During the meeting, action will be taken on the 1989 annual meeting resolutions.

Special activities have been planned for those not attending the general sessions. The agenda for Thursday includes either a shopping trip to Vanity Fair in Reading or a musical excursion to the Dutch Apple Dinner Theater for a showing of "Singin' in the Rain." Friday's program will include a presentation on "Recycling in the Home and on the Farm" by Mary Minor of Hanover. Betty Groff, a farm wife and entrepreneur from Mt. Joy, will give a presentation on cooking.

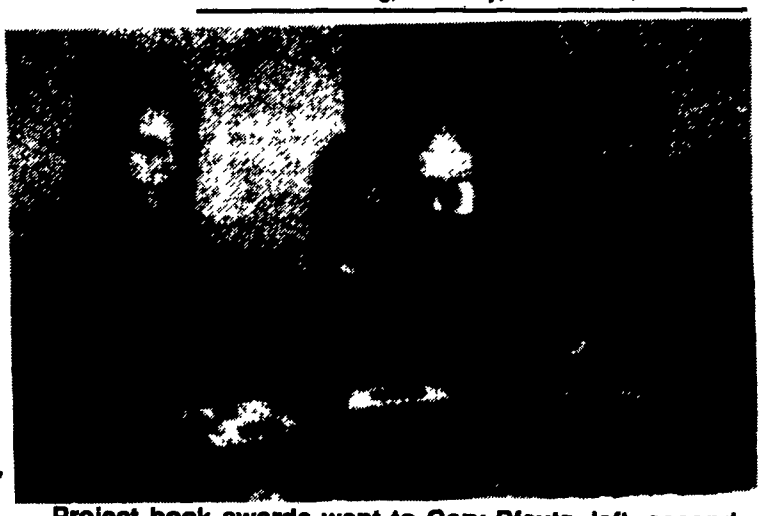
year. The 12-year-old son of Claire and Arleen Landis, Strasburg dairy farmers, Landis wrote in his project book "from remembering just after you crawl in bed that a gate is open to getting up early in the morning to walk my pig around, it was fun to watch a pig grow up to be a market hog. I will never regret being in 4-H."

Also honored at the banquet were the owners of this year's best three project books. Receiving the first-place trophy was Travis Donough, the 9-year-old son of Ed and LaRue Donough of Manheim. The second-place book belonged to Cory Pfautz of Lititz, the son of Rick and Sue Pfautz. The last project book award went to Gerald Boyd, the 11-year-old son of Deb and Kerry Boyd of Ephrata.

Lancaster County Extension agent Chet Hughes was happy to report an increase in membership to 62 4-H'ers. This number is up substantially from the 1980 figure of 25 members. In addition, club members are hoping to form a pork bowl team.



Project book awards went to Cory Pfautz, left, second place; Travis Donough, center, first place; and Gerald Boyd, third place.

Wolff Asks For Building Materials For Hugo Victims

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff today appealed for help for South Carolina farmers who lost crops and buildings to hurricane Hugo.

"Rural communities and agribusiness need special help during the clean-up and restoration period," Wolff said. "Officials in South Carolina report to me that people in the 22 disaster counties now need donations of galvanized, aluminum or composition roofing materials, roofing nails, plywood, sheet rock, 2x4s and rolls of polyethylene plastic."

Building and fencing materials or cash donations can be sent to the South Carolina Farm Bureau Relief Fund, c/o Jim Griffin, Asst. Director of Public Affairs, P.O. Box 754, Columbia, SC 29202.

community. Now it's up to the ag teachers to tailor their programs to meet these needs."

The LCATA curriculum development committee began meeting monthly nearly two years to discuss falling student enrollment in high school ag ed classes and how ag ed in secondary schools should change to meet the current needs of modern agriculture.

Dr. Arba Henry, ag instructor at Solanco High School, began working with a group of educators from Penn State University in early 988 to devise a survey to be sent o potential employers through out he Solanco district. The survey was designed to determine the needs of the local agricultural industry. The tabulated results would be used to guide the efforts of the LCATA curriculum development committee.

The pilot survey was mailed in early 1989 to 251 agribusinesses, adult farmers and to graduates of Solanco's ag ed program. When the results of Solanco's survey were in, the LCATA mailed an additional 250 more surveys to agribusinesses throughout the remainder of Lancaster County.

The businesses surveyed included dairy farmers, poultry producers, as well as farm supply companies, wineries, wood producers, lawn and garden companies, nurseries, food brokers and to other ag enterprises involved in the production, processing or distribution of food and fiber.

Not all agribusinesses were surveyed. However, a formula was followed to allow for a representative sampling of each type of agricultural enterprise within the county. Of the 502 surveys sent, approximately 250 were returned.

Those businesses involved directly in agricultural production made up 34.9 percent of the total responses; ag supplies and sales, ag mechanics and ag products processing responses totaled 48 percent of the returns. (Note that the total percentages are in excess of 100 percent because some of the respondents classified their business in more than one category.)

Those surveyed were asked to rate what subject areas they considered to be priority in the high school agricultural education programs. (See the complete subject list). In the top five were:

•1. Recordkeeping
•2. Soil Management and Conservation
•3. Safety
•4. Water Management and Conservation
•5. Marketing Principles of Agriculture

Recordkeeping and soil management and conservation tied for top priority with 96.4 percent; Safety ranked second at 96.1 percent; water management and conservation ranked third at 95.2 percent and marketing principles of agriculture ranked fourth with 93.4 percent. Leadership ranked fifth with 93 percent. (Percentages are the sum of strongly agree and agree).

The Lancaster County survey harvested the same results as the pilot survey conducted in the Solanco school district earlier this year by Henry and his colleagues. Agribusinesses in both surveys ranked the topics in identical order in the top third of the list and also in the bottom third.

Where do ag educators go from here?

"The survey tells us what areas we need to place our emphasis," said Gus Birchler, chairman of the LCATA curriculum development committee. "Record keeping is already a large part of our program and we need to continue that emphasis. But we also need to emphasize how important good recordkeeping is to successful management."

"Some of our programs just touch on water management and marketing. But now the agricultural community has told us we need to place more emphasis on these areas," said Birchler.

While much time and effort has gone into the survey, in the overall picture of modernizing agricultural education, the most difficult task, that of updating curriculum lies ahead of this Lancaster County teachers group. The responses have allowed educators to pinpoint subject areas which need to be expanded or created.

"We have done the ground work in surveying the needs of the agricultural community," said Birchler, "But now the real work begins of updating our curriculum."

New teaching materials are not easy to find. Textbooks currently in use in ag ed classrooms present farming as it was in the 30s and 40s, according to Clair Witwer, ag ed instructor at Pequea Valley High School, and remedying the situation is not as easy as ordering new textbooks which quickly become obsolete.

To echo the current motto of the F.F.A. these agricultural educators are on agriculture's leading edge and this is not a comfortable position. There is no pre-packaged curriculum waiting to be dropped into place in the current ag ed programs.

"The Pennsylvania Department of Education is attempting to do something, but they are lookin at a time frame of at least three years to have a workable curriculum in place. Many of the ag ed teachers throughout the state feel three years is unacceptable if programs are to survive and ultimately thrive," said Bob Lauffer, ag instructor at Garden Spot High School.

Redding has been conducting workshops with ag education teachers from across the state. In the workshops Redding discusses the current status of ag education, the findings of the National Research Council, and where ag eduation should be going.

"I've gotten real positive responses and I feel ag teachers are eager to make some changes. However, we (PDE) have neither the manpower nor the funding to write new curriculum," said Redding.

Redding has formed a curriculum search committee to find those ag education departments throughout the country which have developed curriculum that might be adapted to the Pennsylvania's ag education programs.

"We have no intentions of reinventing the wheel," said Birchler."To save money and time we plan to look at curriculum developed by other ag teachers and adapt those programs to meet the special needs of our students."

"We plan to utilize experts in industry to help us, also. We have already lined-up some experts in water quality and in marketing to come in and help us develop certain units of study," added Birchler.

"In early winter we plan to concentrate on developing units in water management and conservation, marketing principles in agriculture, and soil management and conservation," said Birchler. "We will continue our work, taking four or five topics and incorporating them into our curriculum until we have covered each item on the list," said Birchler.

And what of those subjects on the bottom third of the list? Will those subjects be dropped from high school ag ed programs?

The answer is no. While these subjects may have received less positive responses than some other subjects, they did however earn a substantial amount of approval. For instance, aquaculture appears on the bottom of the list, but it received an impressive 36.7 percent positive response.

Those subjects ranking in this lower portion may be there for a number of reasons. The primary reason may be that they are so new to farming that many people are not familiar the viability of the product or service.

"I know that throughout Lancaster County and specifically in our local area two areas of agriculuture which are growing very quickly are fruit and vegetable production and landscaping," said Lauffer. "Although these appear about halfway down the list of priorities they are still very important. Ten years ago they would likely have been lower on the list."

Topics which appear in the bottom third of the list may not be covered in every ag ed program in Lancaster County, however, teachers can be selective when tailoring their ag education program to meet the specific needs of their immediate community.

Redding added that the survey tells educators what the agribusiness community determines its needs to be at the present. He said that the survey, to be most useful in guiding curriculum development, should be done every four years at a minimum. The task of interpreting the results in order to put into place curriculum for future agricultural trends remains with the ag educators.

This survey is being made available to ag teachers. To get a copy, contact Larry Redding, Program Specialist, Agriculture Education with the Pennsylvania Dept. of Education, 333 Market St., Harrisburg, PA 17126-0333.

Somerset Countians Enjoy Tour

BERLIN (Somerset Co.) — The Somerset County Holstein Club held its annual fall tour recently. Willard Maust, tour director, blazed the trail into Garrett County, Md. and one farm in Somerset County in southern Pennsylvania.

First farm toured was the Phil and Ruth Beachy Farm near Springs, Pa. Phil, Ruth and their six children farm 89 acres and rent another 40 acres. Their 50 cows attained a Rolling Herd Average in 1988 of 23,589 pounds milk and 829 poounds of butterfat. Fifteen cows have records more than 1,000 pounds butterfat.

Phil feeds a TMR and a top dressing to cows over 80 pounds milk. In 1988 Phil and Ruth earned their first Progressive Breeder Award. They utilize AAA as a breeding tool in helping to select the top TPI bull to use in their herd.

Items of interest included a gated free stall barn for heifers and dry cows and a one--year manure storage lagoon with both gravity flow input and output. Phil had a Gemini Daughter highest milk cow in his herd with a record of 34,300 pounds milk and 1,250 pounds of butterfat, everyone enjoyed taking a look at this great cow.

Next stop on the tour was in Grantsville, Md. and the farm of Wayne E. Schrock and Locker-Lane Holsteins. Wayne's cows support a Rolling Herd Average of more than 21,000 pounds of milk and a BAA of 107.

One day before the tour visited, Wayne's cows were classified. Wayne has 4 Excellent and 25 Ver Good cows giving him a BAA of over 107. The Schrocks use top TPI bulls for CFP and type. The feeding program revolves around a TMR mixer. The Schrocks were recently featured in the Harvestore magazine.

After lunch the tour went to Keyser's Ridge and the homestead of Carl and Martha Bender and Oakview-Ridge Holsteins located near Accident, Md. Two-thirds of the present herd are descendants of "Tulip", the first registered Holstein heifer Carl bought when he was 14-years-old.

The present herd consists of 75 registered cows with a RHA of 21,000 pounds of milk and 780 pounds of butterfat and a BAA of 106.1 including 10 Excellents. The Benders' breeding philosophy is one that combines type and production with type given slightly more consideration.

High PD (now PTA) bulls have been used successfully on cow families noted for their strength and large frames. The Benders have received the Progressive Breeders Award in the state of Maryland for the past seven years.

The final stop in Accident, Md., was at the Oren Bender Farm, the brother of Carl. Oren, Fannie, son Bob and his wife Alice and another son Brian, operate the farm. In 1959 this farm was begun with the purchase of 137 acres to which an additional 170 acres was added several years later. The farm boasts a RHA of 19,274 pounds of milk and 698 pounds of butterfat on 120 cows.

The BAA is 107.3 with 21 Excellents and 52 Very Goods. The Benders have bred over 50 Excellent cows. Seventy percent of the herd are descendants from one cow family, the Gem family.

ASCS Program On ARP Wheat Program

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Pennsylvania wheat farmers planted more than 225,000 acres in 1989; however, only 36,759 acres were in the ASCS wheat program according to George Greaser, Penn State research associate in agricultural economics. "Wheat farmers should take a serious look at the program," says Greaser. "On the average, Pennsylvania farmers in the program received $10 more per acre than the non-participants; that translates into a potential loss for non-participants of more than $1.8 million dollars. Wheat farmers should take a serious look at the program."

The 1989-1990 government wheat program has two options. Greaser says that farmers should take time and determine whether or not to be in the program. Farmers also should select the program option that offers them the largest net returns.

Option 1 includes planting this year's acreage allotment, which is 95 percent of the CAB or Crop Acreage Base. The program pays 95 percent of the government wheat program payments or deficiency payments.

Option 2 allows a producer to plant 10 percent additional wheat or 105 percent of their CAB. A farmer must be willing to deduct 1 percent of government deficiency payments for each 1 percent increase in production from 95 to 105 percent.

The rules of both programs are as follows:

1. The farmer must sign up for either option during the sign-up period, which is Jan. 16, 1990 to April 13, 1990.

2. Options can be changed only during the sign-up period.

3. A farmer who exits the program after the sign-up date must pay the penalties.

4. The forms used to sign up are:

a. CCC-477 regular form for the 95 percent planting option.

b. CCC-477 addendum for the additional planting program.

5. The soybeans and sunflower replacement option is not applicable for option 2.

6. The transfer of wheat CAB to oats is not applicable for option 1.

7. Other non-program crops may not be credited for wheat P&CP, or Planted and Considered Planted acreages for option 2.

8. Normal advance deficiency payments will be paid to modified contracts if a request is made during the sign-up period.

9. Limited cross compliance provisions will apply to both options, but the modified option for wheat is limited to 105 percent of CAB.

Using a computerized spreadsheet, Greaser can analyze the three possibilities for farmers--participating in option 1 or 2, or not participating in the program.

"There are two main reasons not to participate in the program," says Greaser. "If there is not enough available land to increase production or if a farmer has decided to increase the CAB.

Greaser says that in the following example there is little question that the largest net return of the three options is participating in option 2 at the 105 percent level.

He prepared the following hypothetical analysis of the government set-aside program on wheat.

1. ASCS yield per acre	34
2. Expected yield	60
3. Expected Pa/national price	$3.60
4. Percent of CAB planted	105%
5. Cost to cover barren ground	$0.50
6. Cost to maintain barren ground	$0.50
7. Variable cost per acre	$100.00

Using the above information yields the following analysis according to Greaser.

8. Target price	$4.00
9. Projected Pennsylvania loan rate	$2.29
10. National loan rate	$1.95
11. Deficiency payment per bushel	0.40
12. Payment level as a percent of CAB	85%
13. Total variable costs	$100.00

At $3.60 the net income for a non-participant would be $121.00; At $3.60 the net income for a participant 105 percent would be $132.00; At $2.29 the net income for a non-participant would be $39.00; At $2.29 the net income for a participant 105 percent would be $87.69.

More information about this program is available from your Penn State Cooperative Extension county office, an ASCS office, or George Greaser, 204 Armsby Building, University Park, Pa. 16801, (814) 865-7656.

FARM MANAGEMENT

WHAT PRICE COMFORT?

By Roland P. Freund
Regional Farm Management Agent

There was a time when farming was a rough and tough occupation in which the faint hearted could not survive. Cultivating the field involved walking behind a plow, and the only shade available was that created by a straw hat. Grandpa thought he had it made when a saddle-shaped steel plow seat was added to horse-drawn wheeled equipment. He could never have imagined the comfort options which would be available just 50 years later.

We have come to take convenience and comfort for granted. This has helped to keep people in farming, and made farm work attractive to hired workers. But it has also added to the cost of equipment which is "necessary" for the operation of the farm business. The prudent manager needs to evaluate both the benefits and the costs of comfort enhancing options before making such investments.

Benefits

The personal comfort of the farm operator is often closely related to work productivity. In some cases like high-lift orchard equipment, both operator comfort and a doubling of productivity over traditional equipment can be achieved. Reducing physical stress from dust, heat, cold, or exposure enables a person to work longer, pay better attention to the details of the job at hand, and so produce more. Then there is the reduced work loss due to illness, allergy, or injury. It is difficult to put a dollar value on such benefits, but farm managers will have to look more closely at all the factors of labor productivity as wage rates rise.

With livestock facilities, animal performance is often enhanced when creature comfort is improved. But the manager needs to be careful to make the conditions optimum for the animal - not the operator! Dairy barns which are comfortably warm for the herdsperson in winter may be too poorly ventilated for cow health and appetite.

Comfort, ease of operation and speed of milking in a modern parlor can halve the milking hours per day. But if it takes twice as many operators as the simple old parlor, then there may be little or no gain from the investment.

Costs

There are both capital costs and operating costs of comfort to be considered. In cases such as room air conditioning, the lifetime operating cost should probabaly dictate which model should be purchased. To make more profit many equipment and vehicle dealers install expensive air conditioning, stereo, and communication sets in their equipment. An extra $3,000 may not seem like much on a $60,000 investment. But there might be other places where that money could be more productive in the business, or provide a greater improvement in worker or family comfort, than in a piece of equipment whose air conditioning might only be used 50 hours per year.

Comfort can be costly

Farmers and pesticide applicators sometimes figure that safety equipment is too uncomfortable to wear. Label warnings are there for a purpose. Most pesticides will not knock a person over cold, but many accumulate in the liver, lungs and other vital organs. Failure to put up with the discomfort of protective clothing and apparatus could well cost an operator years of life expectancy. In comparison to paying this price, spending time and money on more effective and more comfortable applicator protection may not be very costly at all.

What about Mother?

Comfort in the workplace should move in step with comfort in the home. Is it reasonable to spend thousands of dollars on air conditioning for the combine while mother sweats it out in the kitchen? If we live to farm, home comforts will probabaly be ignored. The prudent manager farms to live in comfort and style in keeping with the income level which the farm generates.

In addition to family comforts, there is the need for comfortable, convenient and pleasant office facilities where the farm records can be maintained neatly and business plans can be prepared on a regular basis. This is where the most valuable time is spent, so it needs to be an environment which stimulates clear thinking, free of frustration and distractions.

The whole farm

Organizing the business begins with routine analysis of the business performance and planning steps to improve it. Sound business decisions can improve profits and work efficiency. Planning the entire operation with the goal of profitability may well show that some comforts are necessities. But improved profits will also enable the farm family to enjoy some comforts and leisure activities which would otherwise be impossible dreams.

Farm Lenders Gather At Chicago Mercantile Exchange

YORK (York Co.) — More than 30 agricultural lenders from the Farm Credit System participated in a two-day seminar at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (CME).

According to host Clinton P. Hakes, CME Ag Lender Marketing Specialist, the seminar was designed to help professional ag lenders examine the use of commodity futures and options contracts as marketing tools.

"Learning how to manage price risk by improving marketing skills is crucial for ag lenders, who face the important task of assisting farmers and ranchers to survive, financially, in these challenging times, Gains said. "Livestock futures and options can provide a safety net for falling prices," he added.

Hakes said too many commodity marketing opportunities are currently being ignored by farmers and lenders. By attending this program, he added, the participants take a hands-on approach to learning new pricing strategies that help producers increase income.

The seminar placed special emphasis on marketing plan development and the disciplined execution of that plan. The hedging process and the lender's role in marketing also were discussed in these sessions.

Highlights of the Chicago visit included tours of the one-acre CME trading floor and discussions with speculators and hedgers on how they work together within livestock futures and options trading pits to transfer risk.

Lenders from these seven Farm Credit districts attended: Baltimore, Louisville, Omaha, St. Louis, St. Paul, Springfield and Texas.

Apple Sales Still Down

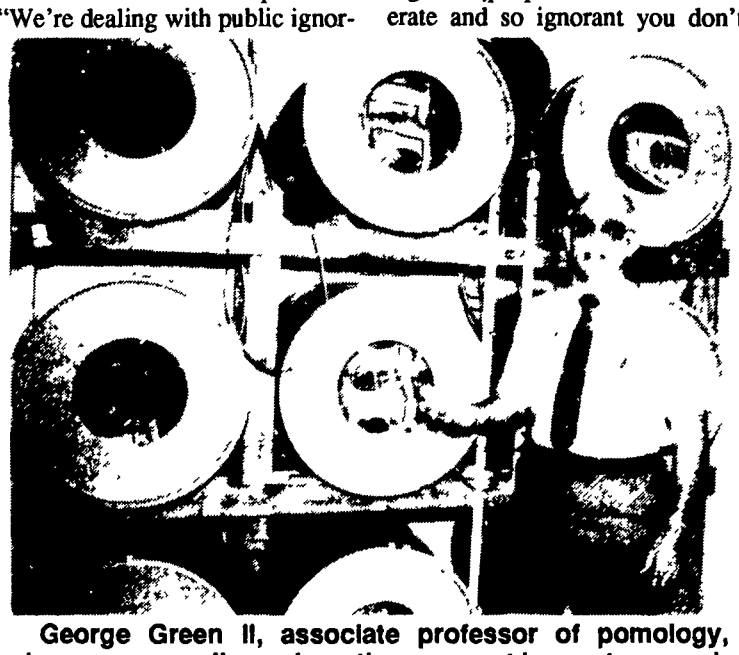
$100 million plus in industry losses and that's pretty hard to swallow," Donaldson said.

Low apple crop yields are blamed on a cold period in March after the tree sap had begun to flow. Industry experts believe the sap froze in the wood because the trees had good buds but never developed the flowers. Losses could run as high as 40 to 90 percent depending on the orchard location.

Dr. Herb Cole, from the department of plant pathology, added to the discussion of the Alar problem. "We're dealing with public ignorance," Cole said. "It's a national problem of the American population in all aspects of economic illiteracy. As a nation, we are not able to access risk and put it into proper pespective."

Cole cited the data used for the Alar documentary as "false and worthless." And he said, "The conclusions they have drawn are even more worthless. The impact of a child being in a room where someone is smoking a cigarette is 10 times as great as the impact of that child eating an apple treated with Alar, Cole said. "But we are dealing with people who are so illiterate and so ignorant you don't really know where to start."

A group of Penn State University ag advisory council members visit with Adams County apple grower Guy Donaldson (center in hat and overcoat).



George Green II, associate professor of pomology, shows ag council members the new post harvest research facility at the Biglerville Fruit Lab. Each bin (barrel) holds three bushels of fruit under controlled atmospheric conditions.

Calling it a "societal" problem Cole summed up the frustration with a question. "How do we get people to perceive risk and balance risk and then how do we get them to assess the risk properly?"

At the research laboratory, council members were informed of the insect, mite, fungus and virus problems related to fruit production, especially apples. And they were told about the "expert system," a computer program designed to deliver the recommendations of experts to producers through the use of artificial intelligence. The grower asks the computer specific questions about his situation and the expert system supplies the answers. The program allows the problem solving logic of human experts to be available to producer at any time day or night. These programs are expected to be available in the spring of 1990.

Also of special interest was the new post harvest facility where research data can be compiled in many different storage environments. This facility has walk-in coolers with 78 controlled atmosphere chambers. Multiple coolers permit the testing of different temperatures during the study. And a state-of-the-art, computerized, CA analyzer and controller keeps the different atmospheres under constant surveillance and even notifies the proper personnel by telephone if something goes wrong during off-hours.

Dean Lamb Hood reported that seven new research issues had been determined. He listed these issues as water quality, food safety, pesticide safety, animal health, profitability in Pennsylvania agriculture, rural economic development and forest resources. Hood said these were principle benchmarks to seek additional research funding during the last three years.

When not all the funding came that had been requested the list was narrowed down to: water quality, food safety, forest resources and rural economic development. These issues were given priority because the other three issues had opportunity for PDA funding and funding from the new state Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission.

Hood also said the University worked hard to form intergration between research and extension staffs and said that the Fruit Research Laboratory was a good example of this effort.

Newspaper Bedding — A Good Idea?

Glenn A. Shirk
Extension Dairy Agent
Lancaster County, PA

Farmers have used newspaper bedding for several years, and there are some advantages: 1. It can cost less than straw, shavings, sawdust or fodder. 2. It is highly absorbant, can "last" about twice as long as straw. 3. It is less dusty than many other bedding materials. 4. It permits land to be used for other crops. 5. It fits conventional manure handling systems -- liquid, semi solid, or solid. 6. It dissolves in liquid manure systems, and decomposes rapidly in the soil. 7. It is approved by FDA as a bedding material for dairy cows. 8. It is one way to help recycle newspaper, which is a major waste product of many communities, and thus reduce the load on landfills, trash incinerators, etc.

Are there any disadvantages? Not many. 1. Coarse or lightweight particles of paper, and long strands of paper can be tracked or blown around the barn and farm, giving it a cluttered appearance. 2. Newspaper works better than magazines; it is more absorbant, it has no staples, and it has "safer" ink. Farmers and researchers who have used unsorted paper, which contained photocopy paper plus magazines with staples, glossy paper and colored ink reported no problems with heavy metals and trace elements of concern; they were well within safe limits, even when paper was consumed by animals. 3. Composted manure, which contains newspaper, can retard mushroom growth.

There are several ways that newspaper can be prepared for bedding. The simplest way is to dump bundles or bales of whole newspaper into a bedding chopper, bale buster, hammermill, etc. Whole newspaper is more difficult to chop than bales of straw; it takes more horsepower and there probably will be more wear and tear on equipment. Bedding choppers, set up for chopping straw, produce particles that are about 1 to 5 inches in size; some of the larger pieces may hang up on gutter grates. Particle size will vary with the kind of equipment used, knife-settings, screen size, etc. Hammermill screens of ½ to ¾ inch may produce a fine product that resembles cellulose insulation.

Paper shredders produce long narrow strands of paper which are suitable for baling, but animals can drag these strands around on their feet. However, bales of shredded newspaper, put through a bedding chopper or bale buster produce particles of more desirable size, small enough to work through grates and not large enough to be easily drug around by animals. Shredded newspaper also chops more easily than whole newspaper.

Newspaper bedding lasts about twice as long as straw, and about half as much is needed. Mixing other bedding material with newspaper helps to hold it in the stall.

Are you interested in using newspaper for bedding? If so, please complete the survey form. Information from the survey will be shared with the Lancaster County Solid Waste Management Authority. It will help them coordinate residential recycling programs, as mandated by Act 101 (Penna.'s waste planning, recycling and waste reduction act) and determine if adequate markets exist for recycling newspaper.

neighbors receive, for the express purpose of taking pricing out of the hands of dairy farmers. With the support program as only a safety net, it is absolutely important for farmers to work together to get their fair and reasonable share of the consumer's dollar," he added.

With 500 less producers in Federal Order 4, 30 to 40 million pounds less milk, and strong Class I sales, the order utilization has climbed about five percent over 1988. Rapidly climbing M-W prices, the MACMMA premiums and normal service charges could mean possible Class I milk prices as high as $17.50, and $15.00 base milk, Cook projected.

Butter prices, however, have dropped to below the support level of $1.20/pound, lowering butterfat differentials. Further drops in the fat differential are expected, with falling commercial butter prices.

Manager Cook briefed members on the cooperative's recent move toward phasing out its dairy equipment business. Concern over potential liability suits throughout the Dairymen marketing area, and unsatisfactory financial returns in the equipment division, resulted in the business being offered to experienced employees. The dairy supply department, he added, is continuing as before.

Animal welfare and animal rights groups are making strong efforts to enforce animal husbandry practices that are impractical for farmers. The industry needs to work with respected organizations to develop animal husbandry guidelines which satisfy their concerns, as well as being practical for the concerned farmers, Cook told the Dairymen members.

Or, Albert Ortego, Dairymen, Inc., economist, warned the cooperative's Middle Atlantic members that rapidly rising M-W prices can sometimes fall just as dramatically, as production picks up. But, he added, the M-W has still not reached its likely highest point, yet, and production this year may not come back quite as strongly as was believed earlier.

Dr. Ortego detailed Dairymen, Inc.'s position on the 1990 Farm Bill, based largely on the findings of the National Dairy Policy Commission. The Louisville, Kentucky, headquartered cooperative is strongly in favor of a continued effective dairy support program.

Dairymen also supports continuance of Section 22 to protect the dairy industry against imports of subsidized dairy products from other countries. The economist noted serious concerns that dairy might lose to other commodity interests in the current round of GATT negotiations on international ag trade policies.

The cooperative further wishes to see changes made in the formula for measuring CCC purchases, from the present butterfat standard to one gauging whole milk equivalency.

Dr. Ortego also expressed Dairymen's concern over supply management proposals.

"The last two supply management programs -- the whole-herd buyout and the diversion program -- had their biggest impact on the Southeast," he said.

The economist praised the successful premium pricing efforts of MACMMA, noting that the ability of producers to pull together for over-order pricing has been seriously eroded in the Southeast. According to Dr. Ortego, milk prices in the Chicago area, with 20 percent Class I utilization, are higher than those in Atlanta, with 80 percent Class I utilization.

Dairymen and four other Southeast and Florida dairy cooperatives have recently agreed to a joint seasonal balancing program, to most effectively utilize milk supplies where they are produced, and reduce collective hauling costs.

Dr. Ortego reviewed ongoing lawsuits in Florida and Georgia on dairy processors bidding for school milk business. The prices over the years in question went up to the schools on average of a penny, while the cost the schools charged the students went up 16 cents, Dr. Ortego noted.

EBDC Fungicides Partially Removed From Market

EBDC fungicides, better known in the trade as maneb, mancozeb, and zineb, were partially withdrawn from the market effective January 1, 1990. The four manufacturers of the fungicides, DuPont, Pennwalt, Rohm & Haas, and BASF, will seek to retain the label for only 13 crops.

Rohm & Haas intends to retain the following crops on its DITHANE (mancozeb) label: asparagus, bananas, cranberries, grapes, onions, peanuts, potatoes, sugarbeets, sweet corn, tomatoes, and wheat. This action also will affect the Rohm & Haas products DIKAR fungicide-miticide. Currently registered seed treatment and turf-ornamental uses will be maintained.

DuPont still will register its mancozeb product, MANZATE 200, on the following crops: asparagus, bananas, cranberries, grapes, onions, peanuts, popcorn, potatoes, sweet corn, sugarbeets, tomatoes, wheat, turf ornamentals, and seed treatment.

The action announced by Rohm & Haas was effective as of September 6, 1989. Other companies have made similar changes. Experts expect these manufacturer to start producing products with new labels immediately. This action by no means guarantees the future uses of mancozeb on those crops retained. The Environmental Protection Agency could cancel additional or all remaining uses of the EBDC fungicides pending final outcome of the special review process.

NUMBER OF LACTATING COWS: 37

* Made With Master Mix Protek™ Concentrate

In Dec. 1987, my RHA was 20,000 lbs., 3.4 test and 698 lbs. of fat. In Aug. 1989, my RHA was 22,787 lbs., 3.5 test and 797 lbs. of fat. Hay and grain are fed at least four times a day and corn silage is fed two times. I always feed hay before my grain. The cows like the 1890's and they really held their peaks. In May I switched to the new 1890 Testmaker HF and I was surprised to see my test up 3 points in June. I am very pleased with my production-and my herd health and breeding are also good.

We have been feeding Master Mix Feed for 25 years. Our herd average really climbed when we began Top Dressing 1890's. This year, one of our cows - "Jane" - peaked at 177 lbs. She was fed 42 lbs. of 1890's and 9 lbs. of flaked pelleted dairy feed plus forage. Feeding 1890's really helps to make our cows peak higher. It's important to concentrate on good management and good breeding, but you need a feeding program that's going to allow your cows to milk to their fullest potential.

ROBERT and RODNEY SMYSER- York, PA

I switched to Master Mix Protek™ because I couldn't get my cows to peak. I wanted to make 18,000 lbs. of milk and I thought I had the genetics to do it. In December of 1988, I changed to Master Mix Protek™. The majority of my cows freshen during the summer months so that would give them time to get used to the new feed. Believe it or not, I reached my goal in only 4 months with days in milk nearing 200!

The butterfat has remained good and so has the breeding. I had heard about Protek and with some encouragement from my herdsman, Lamar Hurst, I decided to see what would happen with my herd. So far, I am very happy and surprised how my cows have responded.

Whatever the animal, whatever the breed, PA Dairy Princess Anne Mitchell has a special affinity with it. As a fulltime farmer, Anne said, "I always foresaw being involved with agriculture and animals. I never considered any other career."

State Princess At Home On Gambling B Farm

Father's Gamble Pays Off For Daughter

BY LOU ANN GOOD

MOHRSVILLE (Berks Co.) — Unlike most dairy princesses, Anne Marie Mitchell, the newly crowned PA Dairy Princess hasn't participated in FFA or 4-H programs. She hadn't even heard of a dairy princess until this past year when friends encouraged her to compete for the Berks County title.

But the slender blond with the winsome smile certainly isn't deprived when it comes to farm knowledge. She's a real down-home farm girl who works fulltime on the family dairy farm plus she does relief milking for other farmers.

During this season, brilliant-colored leaves tumble to the ground and cover the dirt lane leading to Gambling B farm that is home to Anne Marie.

The 116-acre farm is where the newly crowned princess prefers to be. Her love for farming began fifteen years ago when her dad, Bill Mitchell, risked everything to fulfil his dream to farm.

"He had no help or funds from anyone so dad named our place Gambling B Farm," Anne Marie explained. The B stands for Bill and gambling for the risk.

Those high risk years were filled with hard work and little pay, but one thing became prolific—the family's love for farming. Anne's mother Sarah, a former Ocean City gal, though formerly wary of moving to a farm, is now a full-fledged farm wife. Anne and her older brother Bill became so attached to farm life that after school graduation, both insisted on working fulltime on the farm. The family is trying to figure out a way to expand their farming operation and generate more income.

A self-professed animal lover, Anne spoke fondly of her childhood when her days were filled with riding her favorite cow and playing with the other animals and the farm.

Anne recalled that the family then lived off the farm and commuted. She stayed all day on the farm while her dad worked in the fields and barn. The animals became her closes playmates. The family recalls that calves, hogs and beef cattle gathered around Anne wherever she went.

Creativity flourished in Anne's play time on the farm. She went swimming with the cows and with a saddle strapped across Beauty the cow's bovine stomach, Anne wandered up and down rural roads.

"Cows are more stubborn than horses," Anne discovered. More than once, she sat atop the cow that refused to budge from the middle of the road. Undaunted, Anne devised a method of bovine cooperation. By holding a leafy branch over the cow's nose, Anne faked the cow into believing one more step would bring a satisfying mouthful of leaves.

"The cow was like a pet dog to me," Anne recalled. She followed me everywhere." Eventually the cow died from leukemia and Anne shed many tears just like she does over every sick or dying animal on their farm. She admits that she works so hard to make each animal feel special that if one gets sick or die, it's especially debilitating to her.

This devotion to animals has spurred a dream Anne has of owning a farm animal safari.

She explained, "There's a lot of farm tours around, but they generally only have one breed of animal. I'd like to have all the different breeds side by side and compare their differences."

She'd also like to offer visitors an hands-on milking and feeding opportunity.

Animals definitely are not all play and no work for Anne. Since Anne graduated from Schuylkill Valley High she works fulltime on her dad's farm and as a relief milker for nearby farmers.

If you visit the Mitchell farm, it isn't unusual to find Anne snuggling up with one of her cows.

Some people consider relief milking to be an unusual vocation for a female, but Anne believes that "girls generally handle cows better." And she loves it.

She said, "There are so many different ways to handle a milking operation. Doing it for other farmers gives me ideas of doing things differently on our farm, but sometimes it's scary. I'm afraid of forgetting something.

While in high school, Anne had a difficult time sandwiching milking between school activities such as track team, school plays, the marching band and chorus.

"My friends didn't understand why I couldn't wait to milk until later or why I needed to be home by a set time."

Her friends did enjoy visiting the Mitchell farm.

Anne recalls, "I never really thought about farming being a lot of work until my friends followed me around while I did the chores and begged, "Can't we please stop this and do something else?"

Anne said, "My friends were just naive. They did not have jobs and they couldn't fathom that cows

(Turn to Page B4)

The Long Green Line™

JOHN DEERE

Nothing runs like a Deere™

Father's Gamble

needed to be milked on a time schedule."

In addition to cows, Anne has raised hogs, 80 chickens from which she sold their eggs, 30 hamsters, 2 parakeets and a ferret.

Anne's new position has brought changes to her lifestyle.

For her, it's a lot easier to get up at 5 a.m. and go to the barn than it is to get ready for the public.

In the past, Anne admits to not putting much time into her own appearance.

"The cows don't care what I look like," she said.

The dairy promotion seminars encourage the princesses to choose the right hairstyles, clothing colors and makeup.

"It made me feel good that they analysed me and thought that my hairstyle was the right one for me and most of the colors I chose were right for me."

But make up has taken Anne some time to adapt. During the state pageant, she was horror struck by the make up she was forced to wear, but now she says, "I know I need coloring so that I don't look washed out in pictures."

"Besides," Anne remarks, "I'd like the public to know that being a farm girl isn't all work; we can be glamorous too."

She added, "Nurses don't wear their uniforms to the grocery store and farmers don't need to wear their farm clothes to the store either. They can get dressed up too."

Anne considers the opportunity to be the state dairy princess came at the right time for her. She was considering majoring in ag business at college, but uncertain where to attend.

She said, "In my appearances, I have met deans from many colleges. I hope this year will open my eyes and show me which direction to take."

Anne remarks that her dad's favorite cure for any problem is the old adage, "If you work harder, you feel a lot better."

This year, Anne expects to find out the truth of that statement. It's a busy schedule as she runs from meetings to the barn. But she's doing what she loves best—farming and promoting it.

She said, "I'd like to make the public more aware of what happens on the farm. Some people think we still milk by hand and make fun of us. Others, when they hear we use machines, think that farming is easy. But it isn't. We are farmers running a business, being a vet and a mechanic, keeping our own books. People should be aware just how much we farmers do."

Are You Minding The Children?

Are you tending the kids in the neighborhood and wondering what to do with them? Whether you are an official day care provider or just an occasional provider you may be wondering what you can do to make the day interesting for the children. "Better Kid Care Update" is the title of a four session course being offered by the Dauphin County Cooperative Extension. The course will run November 7, 14, 21, and 28 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m., at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, 2301 North Cameron Street, Room 309, Harrisburg.

The course will include information on basic first aid, stress on the children, gardens for kids, snack time fun, plus other creative activities and economical toys to make with the children. The cost for the series is $10 per person and includes a notebook and certificate. Participants will receive one Continuing Education Unit from Penn State University upon completion of the course.

Registration is required by Tuesday, October 31. For more information, contact Mary or Tamie at the Dauphin County Cooperative Extension Office at (717) 921-8803.

Take Steps To Lower Winter Energy Bills

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.)— Were you caught paying high heating bills last winter? If so, now is the time to survey your home to check for ways in which you can reduce your heating costs.

Check the caulking around windows, doors, pipes and wherever two different construction materials are joined. These areas should be kept airtight and watertight. Look for air cracks both inside and outside the home.

Water heaters use a lot of energy. When your water heater needs to be replaced, look for an energy efficient model and a size that matches your family's needs. Oversized and non-insulated water heaters use more energy than is necessary. Consider covering the water heater with an insulation wrap for extra energy savings. Insulate the pipe runs to reduce heat loss and conserve the water and energy otherwise wasted by running water until it's hot.

Correct sizing is important for heating and cooling systems, too. An oversized system will turn on and off too often which decreases the efficiency of the unit. An undersized unit will operate almost continuously so either way you'll waste energy.

Be sure to keep your heating unit clean. Check the filters and clean or replace clogged filters when necessary. Dust or dirt particles can block air flow and waste energy by overworking the equipment.

KUBOTA®

Nothing like it on earth.™

Just climb onto a Kubota and enjoy your view from the top-of-the-line compact tractor.

With the new B-series, we've reached what we think of as a turning point in tractor design. It's called the Bi-Speed Turn.

Most simply, the front wheels take corners sixty percent faster than the rear wheels. Sharp turns are not only tighter than those of ordinary 4-wheel drive, they're smoother, less damaging to turf, far less unsettling to the driver.

But then, Kubota has been the innovation leader since we introduced the first compact tractors to feature liquid-cooled diesel engines, 4-wheel drive and hydrostatic transmissions.

Service and support are ever present because, unlike many other tractors, evry Kubota is still made by Kubota. And you wouldn't want your success handled by just anyone.

Bread Baking With Ease

Lack of time and expertise are no longer valid excuses for not making home-baked breads. With fast-rising yeast and a food processor, bread doughs can be made more quickly, easily and successfully than ever before.

Muffins continue to grow in popularity. Whether they accompany a quick breakfast or an elaborate dinner, homemade muffins add a special touch that cannot be duplicated by packaged muffins.

If you're really in a hurry, but you want to add a festive touch to your meal, try seasoning prepared rolls or bread.

FRENCH CHEESE BREAD

½ cup shredded Swiss cheese or spicy Monterey Jack
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish
1 12-inch loaf French bread

In a small bowl, blend cheese, butter, parsley flakes and horseradish. Cut French bread into 12 1-inch thick slices; do not cut through bottom. Spread cheese mixture between each slice. Place bread on cooking grill and cover with paper towel. Cook on high for 1 to 2 minutes in a microwave, or until cheese is melted.

GINGER BREAD

½ cup sugar
½ cup butter or lard
1 egg
1 cup baking molasses
2½ cups flour
1½ teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water

Cream shortening and sugar. Add beaten eggs and molasses, then dry ingredients that have been sifted together. Add hot water last and beat until smooth. Bake in greased shallow pan 35 minutes in 325-degree oven.

BANANA BREAD

Cream ½ cup shortening with 1 cup sugar until light. Add 2 eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Stir in ¾ cup mashed ripe banana. Sift together 1¼ cup sifted cake flour, ¾ teaspoon soda, and ½ teaspoon salt. Add to banana mixture. Mix until well blended. Bake in 9x9x2-inch pan at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. Cut in squares.

CARROT-NUT MUFFINS

2 cups biscuit mix
⅓ cup brown sugar
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup shredded carrots
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
Cream Cheese Spread (below)

Grease bottoms only of 12 muffin cups or line with paper baking cups.

Mix biscuit mix, brown sugar and walnuts, reserve.

Beat remaining ingredients except cream cheese spread in medium bowl; stir in walnut mixture just until moistened. Divide batter evenly among muffin cups.

Bake until golden brown, 21 to 23 minutes. Serve with cream cheese spread.

Cream Cheese Spread:

Mix 8 ounces cream cheese, softened, ⅓ cup sugar, and ½ teaspoon almond extract until smooth.

POPOVERS

3 eggs
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt

In small mixing bowl, beat eggs at medium speed until foamy. Beat in milk and butter. Add flour and salt. Beat at low speed until smooth, about 3 minutes.

Fill greased popover pans, muffin cups or 6-ounce custard cups half full. Bake in preheated 425-degree oven until brown and firm, about 35 to 40 minutes. For crisper popovers, prick side of each with wooden pick and bake about 3 to 6 minutes longer. Loosen with narrow spatula, remove from pans immediately.

SWEET FRENCH BUNS

1 tablespoon yeast
1 cup milk, scalded
4 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon sugar
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup lukewater water
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
¼ cup sugar

Dissolve yeast and 1 tablespoon sugar in lukewarm water. Add 1½ cups flour. Beat until smooth. Set aside to rise for 15 minutes. Add the remaining ingredients. Bake in hot oven for 15 minutes. Contributor writes, "We love to eat this with fresh butter and jelly.

BRAN ENGLISH MUFFINS

1 cup whole bran cereal
⅓ cup instant nonfat dry milk
4 cups flour
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons sugar
2 packages rapid rise yeast
4 tablespoons unsalted margarine
½ cup hot water
1 cup cold water
Cornmeal

Combine cereal, milk, flour, salt and yeast with water and margarine. Knead dough until spongy. Turn dough unto surface sprinkled with cornmeal. Let stand 5 minutes. Roll dough out to ½-inch thickness. Cut out muffins with a 3½-inch round pastry cutter. Transfer muffins to an ungreased griddle or skillet over low heat. Cook 10 to 12 minutes. Turn muffins over; cook 10 to 12 minutes longer. Cool on wire racks. To serve, slice English muffins in half; toast.

GOLDEN APPLE BOSTON BREAD

¼ cup butter
⅓ cup honey
⅓ cup molasses
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup rye flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups buttermilk
2 cups coarsely chopped apples

Cream butter; add honey and molasses. Combine dry ingredients; add to cream mixture alternately with buttermilk. Stir in apples. Spoon into 2 greased loaf pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour or until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes before removing. Makes 2 loaves.

Variation: To steam brown bread, spoon batter into 2 greased 1 pound coffee cans, filling cans ¾ full. Cover tops of cans with aluminum foil; secure with string. Place rack in large kettle; add boiling water up to level of rack (about 1 inch). Place cans on rack in kettle; cover kettle and steam over low heat for 3 hours. Add more water if necessary. Bread is done when wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 2 loaves.

FRENCH BREAD

5½ to 6 cups flour
2 packages active dry yeast
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups warm water
Cornmeal

In a large mixing bowl, combine 2 cups flour, yeast and salt. Add warm water. Beat at low speed for ½ minute, scraping sides. Beat 3 minutes. Stir the remaining flour with a large spoon. Turn out onto lightly floured surface. Knead in enough flour to make a stiff dough that is smooth and elastic (8 to 10 minutes). Shape into ball. Place in greased bowl. Turn onto greased surface. Cover and let rise until double in warm place. Punch down. Turn onto flour surface. Divide in half. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll into 15x12-inch rectangle. Roll up tightly lengthwise. Seal well. Taper ends or shape into round loaves or smaller individual hard rolls. Place seam side down on greased baking sheet. Sprinkle rolls with corn meal. Cover and let rise until double (about 45 minutes). With sharp knife, cut diagonal slits ¼-inch deep across tops. Bake 375 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes. Cool.

Bread baking is much easy today than it was a generation ago.

CHUNK OF CHEESE BREAD

2 cups water
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup cornmeal
2 tablespoons shortening
½ cup molasses
1 pkg. dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
4-5 cups sifted flour
1 pound American cheese cut into small cubes

Combine the 2 cups water, salt, cornmeal and shortening. Cook until slightly thickened, add molasses. Cool to lukewarm. Soften the yeast in ¼ cup warm water, add to above mixture. Add flour gradually to make soft dough. Knead until smooth. Cover and let rise in warm place until double. Punch down and let rise again. Divide dough into 2 portions. Sprinkle board with cornmeal, work in cheese cubes. Shape into loaves. Place in greased bread pans, let rise for 30 to 45 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees about 40 minutes.

Featured Recipe

Each year at the Christmas In October program held at the Lancaster Extension Service, Doris Thomas, home economist for the county, presents recipes for holiday gifts. This year, her recipe for Fuzzy Navel Cake proved to be a favorite with those in attendance.

Doris said that despite its expensive taste, the cake is suprisingly low cost and easy to make.

FUZZY NAVEL CAKE

1 box yellow cake mix
½ cup vegetable oil
1 package (6 ounces) instand vanilla pudding mix
4 eggs
¾ cup peach schnapps
½ cup orange juice
½ teaspoon orange extract
4 tablespoons peach schnapps
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 cup confectioners' sugar, sifted

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine first seven ingredients in mixing bowl and blend well. Pour into greased and lightly floured 9½-inch bundt pan. Bake 45 to 50 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched. Combine 4 tablespoons peach schnapps, 2 tablespoons orange juice and confectioners' sugar. While cake is still warm in pan, poke holes in cake; pour liqueur mixture over. Allow cake to cool in pan at least 2 hours before removing.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't seem to find it anywhere, send your recipe request to Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Mildred Vorndran, Webster, NY, requests a recipe for dill relish.

QUESTION — A Millmont reader would like to know where to purchase kosher salt that is used in corned beef recipes.

QUESTION — Terry Lerew, Gardners, requests a recipe similar to the instant breakfast cereal "Peaches & Cream."

QUESTION — Mrs. J. Roy Wise, requests a recipe for coconut muffins like those served at Harpoon Hanna's.

QUESTION — Jane Raphael of Bricktown, NJ, requests a recipe for cheese babka, a yeast cake with ribbons of cheese and a few raisins. It is not sweet and is usually eaten toasted and spread with butter.

QUESTION — Doris Martin, New Holland, would like to know how to prevent air bubbles that form under pie crust when she bakes egg custard or shoo fly pies.

QUESTION — Mrs. John Snyder Jr., request help. She launders butcher aprons and towels used to clean tubs and trays in the market. After laundering, the aprons look gray and greasy looking despite being prewashed and soaked in strong bleach. She writes, "I would be forever grateful for a recipe or product to use for best results."

ANSWER — Joan Texter of Sinking Spring, requested a recipe for shoo fly pies. Thanks to Mabel Horst, Ephrata, who sent her favorite that she said has never cooked over.

Shoo Fly Pie

2 cups flour
1½ cups brown sugar
2 tablespoons lard or margarine

Mix ingredients like pie dough. Keep one cup crumbs for top. Put the remaining crumbs in a bowl and add:

1½ cups boiling water
2 cups molasses
3 eggs
½ cup hot water, put in 2 teaspoons soda to dissolve

Mix well with mixer, put into 2 unbaked pie crusts, put crumbs on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes.

ANSWER — Doris Martin, New Holland, had requested recipes using string beans. Thanks to Florence Nauman, Manheim, for sending one.

Barbecued String Beans

1 medium onion, chopped
4 slices bacon, chopped
1½ quart canned beans or cut beans
¾ cup ketchup
⅓ cup brown sugar
1½ tablespoon mustard
Salt and pepper to taste

Fry onion and bacon together. Remove from heat and mix everything together. Bake in casserole dish at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

ANSWER — Joan Texter, Sinking Springs, wanted to know how to serve 100 people scrambled eggs baked in roasting pans. Thanks to Peg Koser of Lancaster for answering this request.

Eggs For 100 People

100 eggs
3 tablespoons salt
2½ quarts warm milk
1 cup melted butter

Beat eggs well; add milk, salt, and butter. Pour mixtured in greased roasting pan. Grated cheese and ham may be added.

Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Stir once after 5 minutes.

ANSWER — A reader from West Virginia requested recipes for game. Thanks to an unidentified reader who sent in two recipes. She said she has many more recipes that she would be happy to send if you contact her at NINE, Box 433, Colts Neck, NJ 07722. Also thanks to Anita Moyer of Bernville who sent in a recipe and she writes that rabbit can be barbecued, fried or cooked the same way you cook chicken.

Mock Hassenpfetter

2 rabbits, cut up
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon parsley
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup oil
½ cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon honey
1 cup sour cream or yogurt

Combine flour, salt, pepper and rub well into rabbit pieces. Heat oil and saute rabbit until browned. Over low heat, in a separate pan, combine water, vinegar, sugar and honey. Simmer 2 to 3 minutes. Pour over rabbit. Bake in 325-degree oven for 45 minutes. Stir in sour cream and cook 5 to 6 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley.

Grilled Rabbit

2 rabbits, skinned and cleaned
¼ cup grated sweet onion
1 clove garlic, crushed
⅓ cup orange juice
2 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 tablespoons white wine
3 green peppers, chopped

Split rabbits lengthwise and wipe dry. Combine remaining ingredients in a shallow dish and marinate rabbit for at least 2 hours, turning every 15 minutes.

Drain rabbit from marinade and cook 25 to 30 minutes over medium coals on grill. Start cooking bone side down, turn at midpoint, basting frequently with marinade. May be made in oven by broiling for 15 to 20 minutes.

Rabbit Dijon

2 rabbits or chickens, cut up
Salt and pepper
1 cup flour
8 tablespoons butter, divided
¼ cup brandy or chicken broth
1 cup green pepper, chopped
½ cup chopped parsley
1 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
2 tablespoons dijon mustard
1 pint half and half
Parsley for garnish

Sprinkle meat with salt and pepper; roll in flour. Melt 4 tablespoons butter in large skillet, brown rabbit pieces and remove to roaster. Add broth to pan juices. Scrape browned bits from bottom and sides of skillet, pour over rabbit. Saute onion, parsley, and mushrooms in remaining butter. Pour over rabbit, cover and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Remove warm rabbit pieces to warm platter; stir mustard, half and half into liquid in roaster and heat. Pour sauce over rabbit on platter. (Mustard and half and half may also be stirred into onion, parsley mixture and baked as above). Serves 8 to 10.

ANSWER — Several weeks ago Roseann Metz, Willow Hill, requeste a recipe for peanut crumble. Mrs. John Snyder Jr. sent in the following recipe that she believes may be the one requested.

Peanut Butter Crunches

1 cup butterscotch chips, melted
¼ cup peanut butter
2 cups corn flakes

Blend butterscotch chips and peanut butter and stir in cereal. Drop by small teaspoonfuls on wax paper and let set until firm.

Bread Baking

APRICOT POPPY SEED LOAF

1 cup dark brown sugar
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons softened butter, divided
2 eggs
1 can (17 ounces) apricots, drained and pureed
1¾ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup poppy seeds
½ cup apricot juice
2 tablespoons granulated sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cream together sugar and ½ cup butter. Add eggs; beat until light and fluffy. Stir in apricots; set aside. Stir in poppy seeds. Spread batter into 4 buttered and floured 6x3x2-inch loaf pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. While loaves bake, heat juice, sugar and remaining 2 tablespoons butter; set aside. Remove loaves from oven. Cool 10 minutes; remove to wire rack. Prick entire top of loaves and slowly and evenly drizzle juice mixture over top of loaves.

DOUBLE GOOD WALNUT BREAD

1½ cups walnuts
3 cups flour
¾ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups milk
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted

Spread walnuts in a flat pan. Toast in preheated 350-degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes or until very lightly browned. Cool. Finely grind ¾ up toasted walnuts in blender; set aside. In a large mixing bowl, combine flour with sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in ground walnuts. Combine beaten egg, milk and melted butter. Blend into the flour mixture just until dry ingredients are moistened. Stir in remaining walnuts. Turn into greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees about 65 minutes or until pick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from oven; let stand in pan 10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool. Makes 1 loaf.

KALACH ROLLS

2 cups milk, lukewarm
2 sticks butter
3 eggs
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
6 or 7 cups unbleached flour
1 package dry yeast mixed in a little milk

Mix, let rise until doubled, knead. Separate into individual rolls and let rise again. Cover with towels to protect against drafts and let rise 30 to 45 minutes.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

ANSWER — Anna Weaver, Annville, requested a recipe for perogies. Thanks to Anna Martin of Reinholds for answering her request.

Perogies

Dough:
½ cup butter
1 cup cottage cheese, small curd
2 eggs
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
Mix ingredients to form dough.

Filling:
6 to 8 potatoes, cooked and mashed
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons butter
¼ pound grated cheddar cheese

Roll out dough on floured board. Use a coffee cup to press out circles. Spoon 1 tablespoon potato mixture onto dough circle. Fold in half and dampen edges with water. Press edges together. Boil 1½ quarts water with ½ teaspoon. Drop perogies into boiling water for 3 minutes. Saute perogies in brown butter with onions. Makes 24 perogies.

ANSWER — Anna Weaver, Annville, requested a recipe for pierogie. Thanks to Ida Hauryluk, Lebanon, for the following recipe.

Pierogi Dough

2 cups flour
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup water

Put flour on a bread board and make a well. Put salt and liquid ingredients into well. As you mix the center gradually pull in the flour a little at a time. Knead dough well. When dough is smooth, let rest under a bowl for at least 30 minutes.

In the meantime, prepare one of the following fillings.

Filling

8-ounces sour cream
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
3½ to 4 cups flour

Potato Filling

½ cup chopped onion
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups mashed potatoes. Saute onion in butter until golden. Add mashed potatoes and salt. Mix well.

Roll dough until thin. Cut into 3-inch circles. Place 1 teaspoon filling a little to one side of each round of dough. Moisten edges with water, fold over and press edges firmly. Make sure it is firmly seal or it will open during cooking.

Drop pierogi into salted, boiling water. Cook gently 5 to 10 minutes. Do not crowd in the water or they will stick together. Remove from water with slotted spoon. Serve with melted butter. Contributor writes, "My family also likes them with sour cream. After they are cooked, they can be fried crisp in butter."

Solanco National Runners Up

Jennifer Harnish of Christiana and Dale Herr Jr. of Kirkwood have been named silver and bronze award winners respectively in the National FFA Eastern Region Proficiency Awards.

Jennifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Edwin Harnish and a 1989 graduate of Solanco High School, became eligible for the award when she won the $100 State FFA Fruit and Vegetable Production Proficiency Award. Her major enterprise was strawberries.

Dale, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dale Herr, is a 1988 graduate of Solanco High School. He became eligible for regional competition by winning the $100 State FFA Specialty Crop Production Proficiency Award for tobacco production.

These awards are two of 29 agricultural Proficiency Awards presented annually at local, state, regional and national levels to recognize FFA members for their achievements in activities leading to careers in agriculture.

The Fruit and Vegetable Production Award is sponsored by Briggs and Stratton Corporation Foundation, Incorporated, while the Specialty Crop Award is sponsored by the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company (U.S.A.).

Jenny and Dale will be presented certificates and $100 each at the Pennsylvania FFA Mid-Winter Convention in Harrisburg during January.

What Can You Do With A Pumpkin?

Horticulture officials at the York Fair admire BatPumpkin in his BatPumpkin mobile.

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — No, Charlie Brown, the Great Pumpkin does not rise out of its patch on Halloween night and fly through the skies, bringing gifts to good boys and girls.

But many great pumpkins did come to the York Fair this year, and win awards for the good boys and girls who grew and decorated them.

The York Fair's pumpkin growing and decorating contests are two of the newest categories for prize-winning at the country's oldest fair.

But it is a contest which actually starts months before the early September opening day. This contest begins in late spring, when pumpkin growing kits are distributed to thousands of elementary school children in York area school districts. Agway, Rutter's and the York Fair team up to make the pumpkin growing kits and contest awards available.

Children who receive the kits of pumpkin seeds and instructions are encouraged to plant the seeds, care for the plants, and then enter the best of their harvest in the York Fair contest.

And, hundreds of children did, filling a large tent with the orange glow of pumpkins - from tiny to giant, and decorated in an array of creative ideas. There was Bat-Pumpkin and baby doll pumpkins, animal pumpkins, scarecrow pumpkins, and cowboy pumpkins. There were pumpkins with arms and legs, ears, noses, hair, and wearing bright painted eyes and smiles under hats of various costumes.

Judges had the hardest job of all, selecting the winners from several age groups. Champions from the decorating and face painting categories were put on display at a special place of honor in the pumpkin tent.

Some winners did a lot of clowning around with their pumpkin entries in the York Fair's great pumpkin decorating contest.

This pumpkin came to the York Fair contest prepared to go snorkeling, complete with a lifesaving tube.

All ready for blast-off was the shiny-silver-painted pumpkin rocket ship.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Considering the season, the setting seemed most appropriate.

Small, bright orange, jack-o-lantern pumpkins flanked both sides of the porch. A pair of solid, almost beige-colored, neck pumpkins were propped toward the back. And one black-furred cat crouched between the pumpkins, peering out with shining, yellow-green eyes.

Only thing missing was a black-garbed, straggly-haired person wearing a pointed, black witches hat. But then, there had been no specific intent to arrange this Halloween-looking porch scene; the pumpkins had just ended up there, and the cat plopped herself down on the cool concrete.

Halloween's become another major merchandising holiday in recent years, what with all the costume, party supplies, cards, and even electrically-lit outside decorations. Sociologists claim it's the baby boom generation trying to recapture the excitement of childhood Halloweens.

At the risk of dating myself, there's a lot moore "hoopla" today associated with fright night than when I was a kid. Costumes were often of our own making. We gathered the comparatively simple treats from just a few close neighbors in our rural neighborhood, carrying them in plain old brown paper bags. Homemade candy and popcorn balls were readily consumed without worry of tampering. Biting into a worm from a home-grown apple was possible, but no one had ever heard of crunching into a razor blade.

I never soaped or waxed a window in my life. Had I ever done so — and been caught - the guarantee of spending more hours scraping and washing it off the victim's windows had been well explained to me in very clear terms.

But I will confess to having snitched an ear or two of corn from nearby fields in the darkness of Halloween night. Tossing hundreds of shelled corn against a house window was a typical method of reminding neighborhood residents of what day we were celebrating.

That was pretty innocent compared to some of the Halloween pranks I've heard recounted. Classic is that old tradition made obsolete by progress: upsetting the outhouse.

A group of us at a recent meeting got to debating about the reason for upsetting outhouses. No one seemed to know why they were targets, just that they inevitably were.

One good friend who years ago served on the school board of a large rural district noted that it was the job of school directors to set the outhouses back up at their local one-room schools, after Halloween pranksters toppled them. And another friend related one of those classic tales of an outhouse being upset while in use, and the victim catching the name of one of the pranksters, and, well, just use your imagination to figure out the rest.

Still another vividly recalled a farmer's flatbed hay wagon turning up some distance away in the yard of a rural school. Early the next morning, she spied several neighborhood boys, lugging the wagon back from whence it had come. And, there were several hills in the road between, she remembered.

A hay rake belonging to a farmer's relative was completely dismantled and left in a pile of rake teeth, bolts, nuts and parts by one group of tool-wielding Halloween pranksters many years ago. And, from what I've heard friends relate, finding your driving buggy on top of your shed or barn roof wasn't too unusual.

So maybe all the current Halloween "hoopla" is really progress after all. It's certainly more positive than dismantling, moving and pushing property around.

At the least, it's diverted the flood of Christmas commercialization from the marketplace shelves a couple of more weeks. And it's a perfect excuse to lay in a supply of chocolate candybars.

New Jersey Dairy Princess Begins Reign

ASBURY (Hunterdon Co.)— Eighteen-year-old Tracy Beatty of Asbury in Hunterdon County was recently crowned the 1989-90 New Jersey Dairy Princess.

Tracy lives on a 165-acre farm with her parents Bernie and Sharon Beatty, two younger sisters and twin brothers. Their farm prefix is BSB Holsteins. They milk 50 registered Holsteins and are raising 50 young stock. The Beattys ship their milk tc NFO. Tracy owns 10 registered Holsteins of her own which she has shown at numerous 4-H and Open Shows during her ten years as a 4-H Club member.

Tracy says of her goals as State Dairy Princess, she wants to not only inform the public about the importance of dairy products but also about the very important person that produces the milk for these products - THE DAIRY FARMER.

Apples Are Autumn's Gift

Fresh apple season has arrived, and now is the time to enjoy apples at their finest. It is no exaggeration to say that apples vary as significantly as wines. Some apples are tender and delicately crisp; others are tart and have a sweet after-taste; some present the opposite sequence. Some suggest spiciness or wineness; some are mild but subtle. Some have thin, almost flavorless skins; in others an astringent skin is part of the whole effect. There are apples so juicy you almost need a bib to eat them, and equally good ones that will barely exude a drop of juice.

Look at apples carefully and you will see that they can differ as much to the eye as to the taste. They can be nearly solid crimson, greenish-yellow, clear lemony yellow, dull darkish red and green, and dozens of other shades. They can be mottled or splashed with color or present one pink or green cheek on a background of solid red, yellow, or green.

The apple is one of the most versatile of all fruits. Boil, bake, dry, broil ... name any known method of food preparation, and you can do it with apples! Although a great many apples are eaten fresh out-of-hand, they also make superb pies, cakes, dumplings, baked apples, sauce, jelly, apple rings, salads, pancakes, apple butter, juice, cider, brandy and a hundred and one other fresh and cooked dishes.

Apple pie has long been considered America's favorite dessert, and it is especially tempting when topped with a scoop of ice cream.

Each apple variety has a slightly different flavor and texture. It has been said that there is an apple to suit every taste. Because of this difference, some varieties are better suited than others to certain methods of preparation. The following chart suggests how some of the major varieties are best used. The ratings are relative. In the final analysis, of course, it is a matter of personal taste preference.

Apple-Nut Souffle

butter or margarine
sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
6 eggs, separated
3 cups peeled and chopped cooking apples (about 3)
½ cup ground California walnuts or black walnuts

About 2 hours before serving:

Grease 2-quart souffle dish with butter or margarine; sprinkle with sugar. In 1-quart saucepan over medium heat, melt ¼ cup butter or margarine; stir in salt, cinnamon and ¼ cup flour. Gradually stir in milk; cook, stirring, until thick and smooth.

In small bowl, with wire whisk, beat egg yolks; stir in small amount of hot sauce. Slowly pour yolk mixture into sauce, stirring rapidly to prevent lumping; cook, stirring until thickened (do not boil).

Preheat oven to 325° F. Toss apples with 3 tablespoons flour. In large bowl with mixer at high speed, beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually sprinkle in ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time. Fold sauce, apples and walnuts into egg whites; pour into souffle dish and bake 1 hour and 15 minutes or until puffy and browned. Serve immediately. Makes 8 servings.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

I read recently that chutney is "in" for upscale dining. Since there is no better way to cook a small batch of chutney than with your microwave oven, and since you might have a few last-of-the-garden vegetables like I do, I thought I'd share some chutney recipes today.

Chutney is a type of spicy relish made with chopped fruits or vegetables. Vinegar, sugar, herbs and spices gave it a tangy, sweet-sour taste. It can be peppery hot, depending on the seasoning. Ginger in the first recipe adds the peppery hotness, while minced chilies add it in the last.

Chutney is served and eaten like other relishes — as an accompaniment to other foods. In the United States, this East Indian-type concoction is served with any kind of curry dishes. But it also goes well with mild-flavored foods, such as broiled or roasted meats. Try it mounded on a wedge of cream cheese to serve as a help-yourself appetizer with crackers. Eat it with a grilled cheese sandwich or with a cream cheese-topped onion bagel. Spoon it on hot dogs and hamburgers. Serve it with grilled chicken or to accent wild game. It also goes well with roast turkey, so if you try today's recipes now, freeze some chutney to save for your Thanksgiving dinner.

Cooking small batches of chutneys in your microwave means no scorched pan bottom to wreck the chutney's flavor and make more work for you. Chutney needs to cook until thick. On the range top, this means lots of stirring to prevent scorching. Stir it once or twice in the microwave. Microwave on High power covered with a tight cover, such as plastic wrap or a tight lid, until ingredients are soft. Then microwave uncovered, still on High, until thickened or syrupy.

End-of-the-Garden Chutney is the most colorful of the two recipes below. It is a bit more tart than Apple Chutney. Cook it to a syrupy stage, but cook Apple Chutney until thick. There's no need to peel any of the vegetables, except the onion, for either recipe.

Apple Chutney

4 cups diced or coarsely chopped, unpeeled, red tart apples
1 medium onion, chopped
½ cup raisins
½ cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons teriyaki sauce
¼ cup white vinegar
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons grated fresh ginger or 1½ teaspoons powdered ginger

Combine all ingredients in a microwave-safe 2-quart measure. Cover with plastic wrap and microwave (High) 10 minutes. Carefully uncover, stir well; then microwave (High), uncovered, 5 to 7 minutes, stirring once, or until thick. Cool. Refrigerate or freeze in small jars. Keeps about 1 month in refrigerator and about 1 year in freezer. Makes 2½ cups.

Hint: Add less ginger if you prefer a less spicy chutney.

Each 1-tablespoon serving: 29 calories, 0 protein, 0 fat, 7g carbohydrate, 35mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

End-of-the-Garden Chutney

2 cups coarsely chopped or cubed unpeeled tomatoes
2 cups coarsely chopped or diced, unpeeled tart apples
½ cup coarsely chopped or diced unpeeled cucumber
½ cup coarsely chopped onion
⅓ cup coarsely chopped or diced sweet, red or green peppers
½ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup raisins
¼ cup white vinegar
½ small chili, seeded and minced
1 clove garlic, minced
¾ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¾ teaspoon ground allspice
¼ teaspoon ground cloves

Combine all ingredients in a microwave-safe 2-quart measure. Cover with plastic wrap and microwave (High) 10 minutes. Carefully uncover, stir well; then microwave (High), uncovered, 12 to 15 minutes or until syrupy. Cool. Refrigerate or freeze in small jars. Keeps about 1 month in refrigerator and about 1 year in freezer. Makes 4 cups.

Hint: Add less chili if you prefer a less spicy chutney. If desired, add the seeded chili in one piece to chutney and remove after cooking.

Caution: Be careful when handling chili — it can irritate your eyes and skin. Wear rubber gloves if possible. Wash your hands, knife and work area well after working with chili.

Each 1-tablespoon serving: 14 calories, 0 protein, 0 fat, 4g carbohydrate, 1mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

What's new?—

Now you can buy microwave cake pans in a variety of basic, novelty and holiday shapes. MicroBakes™ pans from Wilton come in 15 shapes — from tube pans and individual flan pans to teddy bears and heart or star shapes. They are for microwave cooking only. Each holds a package of prepared microwave cake mix (except the rectangle pan, which holds two), but can also be used with small "from scratch" recipes. The pans have an exclusive MicroGrid™ system on the bottom to provide even heat distribution. They are top rack dishwasher-safe. They can be found in decorating, craft and department stores nationwide. Price is $4.49.

I've got the teddy bear-shaped pan and have used it several times. Two tries were with a packaged microwave cake mix, and a homemade microwave brownie recipe. Both micro-baked evenly, came out of the pan easily, looked fine and tasted perfect. If I had taken the time to decorate the cake according to the pan label's suggestions, the result would have had a professional look. Instead, I sprinkled a little sugar-cinnamon in the bear-pan's ears, hands and feet before adding the yellow batter, and dusted a little powdered sugar on the finished brownies. They weren't as pretty, but they sure tasted good.

If you can't find these pans in a local store, they are available by mail order. To see what shapes are available, write for a free recipe leaflet that shows the 15 shapes and also gives recipes. Send a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope to: Fun Desserts with MicroBakes, Wilton Enterprises, 2240 — 75th St., Woodridge, IL 60517.

To order pans, send $4.49 for each pan, plus $3.50 shipping and handling (for orders costing up to $29.99), to MicroBakes Pans, Wilton Enterprises, 2240 — 75th St., Woodridge, IL 60517.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

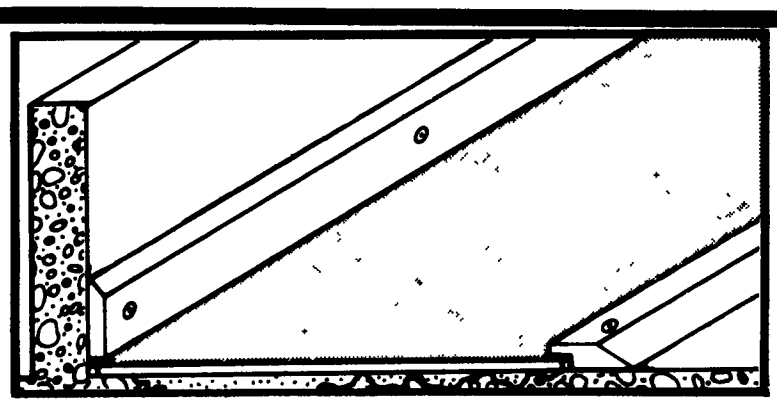
This month I am starting my 20th year of writing for Lancaster Farming newspaper. It was in October that I contacted the editor about writing something for the women readers. I've certainly shared a lot of my life with their many subscribers.

Naturally, my life has changed over those years. You see, when I started to write we had six children who called our home their home. Now they have all established homes of their own. Even our youngest daughter, who is single, purchased a large house in the county where she works. That is something I would not have even thought of doing at her age.

It was virtually a three-ring circus here as they all went to school or college and attended 4-H meetings and church meetings. They not only attended meetings but were active in the different organizations. My husband and I expected them to do their share of work here on the farm too. They did babysitting for neighbors, raised bees, chased cows, picked beans, mowed the lawn and went shopping.

Of course, some other things have changed over the years. Our four parents and my sister have died. Aunts, who attained the age of 100 years, also have passed away. As years pass by, we cannot deny that we too are a bit slower.

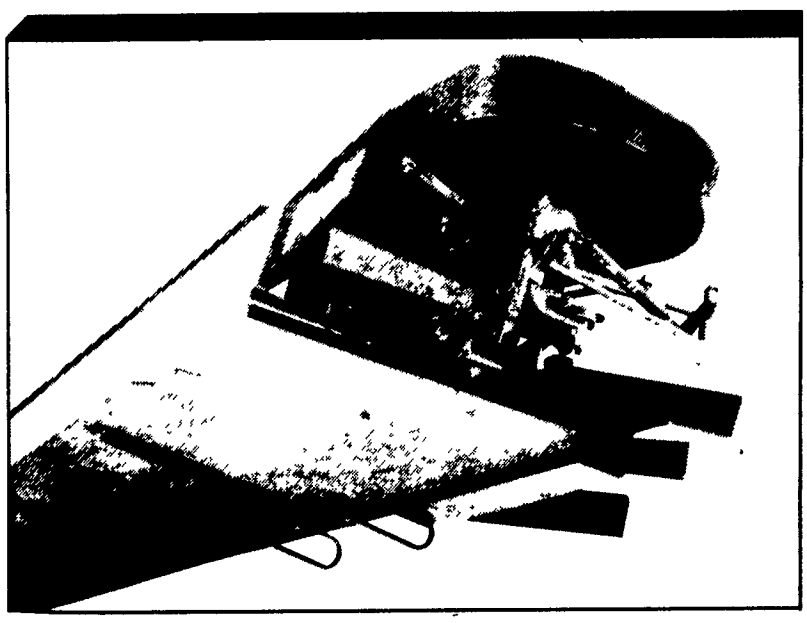
We have acquired a few more material things. A milk parlor, a new big kitchen and some nice furniture. But more important, we now have six wonderful grandchildren whom we seldom see as they live in Washington, Tennessee and Georgia. But one of these days, Allen will stop milking cows morning and evening and then maybe we can visit them as their parents urge us to do. Let's just hope we both can keep our health as that is the most important thing.



PatzGard liner

For mangers, feed bunks, conveyors, slides, gutters and more.

- Nonporous and super slick for easy cleaning.
- Will not rust, rot or corrode.
- Avoids rebuilding worn mangers and gutters.
- Avoids sour odors and feed waste.
- Feed savings could total $30 per cow each year.
- Cows eat better off PatzGard for higher production.
- Reduces fly feeding and breeding in mangers.
- Slick surface reduces power requirements for gutter cleaners and conveyors.



Why Patz is No. 1

- Durable Patz hook-and-eye link chain. Progression forging builds extra strength into hook-and-eye link contact points. Final heat treating increases hardness, strength and wear resistance.
- Four-tooth sprocket drives every link behind the hook--the link's thickest and strongest point.
- Chain flexibility for various layouts.
- Select 2" flites for solid manure or 4" high flights for slurry manure. ¼ -inch-thick flites are welded to Patz links. ½ -inch thick wear shoes extend flite life.
- Three drive unit sizes match your gutter length and allow expansion.
- Corner wheel top-and-bottom flanges guide the chain around the corner. Corner wheel assemblies remove easily for service without concrete breakout.
- Heavier XH link available for extremely long pulls.

QUALITY & PRICE - Patz HAS THE BEST COMBINATION!

Gathering The Grapes Of Gap

BY LISA RISSER

GAP (Lancaster Co.) — Talk grapes to most people and they would speak of Thompson, concord, and red flame. But to Richard and Cheryl Caplan, grapes encompass a world that includes vidal, seyval, chambourain, chancellor, vignole, chardonney, and pinot gris.

These are the grapes they grow; grapes that will end up in a red, white, or rose wine.

Owners of Twin Rivers Winery, still a fledgling business, the Caplans have been dabbling in winemaking on a small scale for several years. Richard began while the couple lived in Berks County several years ago. Much of his current knowledge comes from experimenting with raising various grape varieties and making wines.

They made the move to Lancaster County about five years ago with the intent to grow wine grapes. They purchased a 40-acre former dairy farm that was perfect for their needs. Two streams bedded in deep ravines run through the hilly property and create a cold-air drainage, which protects the tender grapes in the spring. The hills help provide good drainage.

For the past few years, the couple slowly has been increasing the acreage in grapes. Currently 14 out of 22 tillable acres are in grapes with 10 producing this year and an additional two acres will be producing next year. The other acres are rented out to a neighboring farmer who has it planted in soybeans, a nitrogen-placing crop.

"We went to grape growers and winery meetings to decide what grapes to plant," related Cheryl. "Some varieties are more difficult to grow in Pennsylvania. We started with what was currently in demand by wineries and were reasonably safe and would survive winter."

They started with a couple varieties and have slowly expanded into others in successive years. The first grape harvests were sold to area wineries, which would pay any where from $350 to $450 per ton for a French hybrid grape.

"We'd been selling grapes for two years when we decided to try and make wine," Richard said. "(With wine making) you can plant 10 acres, get a crop, and retail wine at $125,000 (per crop)."

Richard Caplan displays a bunch of grapes that will soon be processed into wine.

Winemaker Owen Smith prepares to clean out a storage tank where wine, made later in the day, will ferment for months.

Bees and birds do a lot of damage in vineyards. Cheryl Caplan, who holds up an example of bee damage, estimates that about five tons of grapes were lost this year due to pests, which happen to like the most valuable grapes best of all.

Richard's eyes light up and his words quicken as he describes the soon-to-be-completed winery. "We'll have a tasting room with a spiral staircase that leads to another wine tasting room. And the entry will have stained glass windows we salvaged from a torn-down church," he described. "There'll be viewing rooms to see the winery and the bottling room, and you can see the level of wine in the tanks."

The winery, housed in the renovated shell of a bank barn, also will feature a barrel room for wine storage, a warehouse, a sales area, and a porch overlooking the vineyards.

Richard also is very excited about the wine-storage tanks. "We're the first winery on the East Coast to use these tanks," he explained. "They're molded of some plastic-type material just for the wine industry. They're just as effective as stainless steel tanks but one third of the cost. You can actually see the wine level in the tanks."

Cheryl, who just earned her law degree, has been doing much of the work in the vineyards. She helps Reach for the sky!

Unmatched dump reach.

Get it done fast!

This loader does it all.

New Holland "Super Boom" loaders lift the payload forward as the boom rises. So you get more forward dump reach where you need it most. Extra dump reach means you can load the center of a tandem-axle dump truck.

Super Boom loaders also feature a longer wheelbase for increased stability and fast cycle times for more productivity.

Models range from 18 to 75 horsepower with SAE load ratings up to 2,050 pounds.

Ask us for a demonstration. You'll see how much better a skid-steer loader can be.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Convention

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — The 38th Annual Convention of the Berks County Farm Women was held at the Berks County Agricultural Center, with 140 members and guests present.

The convention was called to order by Berks County president, Janet Schlegel.

A musical presentation by sisters Joyce Shott and Lucy Meyer, set the mood for the ladies to relax and enjoy a fashion show by Sharon Kramer of Rehrersburg on "Styles of the Past" as well as a presentation down memory lane by past president of Berks County Society of Farm Women, "Fashions That Have Been."

The new officers elected include: president Janet Schlegel, Boyertown; vice president Judy Swope, Myerstown; secretary Joyce Shott, Myerstown; and treasurer Wendy Lingle, Bethel.

Officers were installed by Edith Diehl, state president. Good food, door prizes and reports of the year's activities were all part of the day's events.

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster County Farm Women's Society #8 met at the home of Gladys Ney on October 11.

The Secretary's report was given by Anna Mae Derr. Seventeen members were present and mantioned their special winter project as they responded to roll call.

The special speaker was Eleanor O'Neill, member of the Hospice Speakers Bureau.

Several cartons of food were presented to the Food Bank.

Hostesses were Grace Heilbron, Mary Grace Martin, Ruth Eby and Molly Baer.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Vernetta Wallander on November 8 at 1:30 p.m. She will present slides of a trip to Israel. A cookie exchange, with accompanying recipes, is planned also.

Lancaster Society 34

Lancaster Farm Women Society #34 met at Muddy Run Park on September 24 for their annual family picnic. It was decided to give the Quarryville Library a $100 donation. Members will have a sub sale on Oct. 13. A pound auction was held for the adults, with games for the children to participate in.

with the planting, pruning, and harvesting and manages the workers. Richard, a Philadelphia-based lawyer, works during his spare time and is mostly involved in the marketing end.

After being harvested and crushed, the grapes go to the tanks for fermenting, a process that takes one month or years depending on the wine. The Caplans have turned the actual wine making over to Owen Smith, a wine maker with a degree in enology (wine making) from California State at Fresno.

Smith, who came to Pennsylvania attracted by the East Coast's young wine industry, carefully shepherds the grapes from crushing to bottling. Part of his duties include testing the wine during its processing for alcohol content, total acidity, pH, and sugar content.

Some day the Caplans expect to produce 14,000 gallons of wine from the grapes they grow. When they get to the point where they need more grapes, they hope to be able buy them from area growers. "We're trying to encourage local growers to raise wine grapes," said Richard. "It's a labor-intensive crop, but not back-breaking and you could make $3,500 or $4,500 per acre."

The Caplans and Smith expect their first wines to be ready in the spring. Their first offerings will be mostly whites and light reds.

Lancaster Society 14

Lancaster County Farm Women #14 of Strasburg met October 12, at the barn of Gladys Esbenshade.

Members reported, "We had a rather different meeting with a surprise of (Farm Women) "Witches" stirring their brew of taffy. It sure was a fun experience "pulling taffy."

Members also played a few games on paper including cutting out a rabbit, wheelbarrow, or watering can.

Devotions were led by Jean Imhoff.

Lancaster Society 25

Lancaster Society of Farm Women #25 met at the home of Helen Happel on October 14. Thirteen members attended.

Speaker of the day was Tom Daniels, director of the Agricultural Preservation Board. He spoke of the necessity of farming security areas that will protect Lancaster County farms from being used up for indescriminate development. There are 400,000 acres of farmland in Lancaster County. The aim is to insure 200,000 acres to be kept as farmland: He stressed planning by townships and the necessity of agricultural zoning.

The next meeting will be held November 11 at the home of Jean Breneisen, 230 Goods Rd., Conestoga. Members will participate in a craft-making session.

Green Valley Society 26

The Green Valley Farm Women Society #26 will hold their November 14 meeting at the Bonanza Restaurant at the Valley Green Mall.

Eleven members planned to attend the Rutters Restaurant for breakfast Farm Women Day, October 14.

Survey Shows Consumers Prefer American Foods

WASHINGTON — In a survey commissioned by a Washington-based nonprofit organization, consumers showed a willingness to purchase American grown food products over foreign imports, even if it means paying higher prices at the check-out counter.

Of the 1,001 randomly selected households contacted nationally, well over half (60 percent) said that they would be more likely to buy American grown food products even if the price was 20 percent higher than the imported version.

The survey, which was sponsored by the American Grown Foundation, was conducted prior to recent U.S. bans on imported fruit. The research firm that conducted the survey said the support for American grown products was surprising even considering the patriotic values of most Americans.

The survey's findings also showed that:

•• Over three quarters (76 percent) of the sample's grocery shoppers said they would be a lot more likely to buy a product with all-American grown ingredients than a product, for the same price, that contained imported ingredients.

•• An overwhelming 85 percent of grocery shoppers agreed with the statement, "I wish someone would tell me which products are grown in America and which products are imported from other countries."

•• At least 65 percent of the shoppers in the survey thought that fresher taste, better government inspection, lower risk of harmful pesticides and helping our balance of trade were "excellent" or "good" reasons for buying American grown products.

•• More than a third (38 percent) of all consumers who had a preference between McDonald's and Burger King, said that they would switch to the other major chain if they displayed an "American grown" sign and their current favorite did not.

The public's compassion for the American family farmer was the consumer's strongest argument for buying American grown products. A full 95 percent said that helping the family farmer was an excellent or good reason for buying products grown in America.

Berks Society 1

The Berks Society of Farm Women Group #1 held their monthly meeting at the Stahl's Coachman's Inn and had dinner observing Lady's Day Out with 20 members attending.

President Elsie Berndt held a short business meeting and Ellen Snyder and Pauline Hartman discussed the progress being made in the observance of our 50th anniversary which will be celebrated next year.

Dot Bach, Ruth Walters, Evelyn Heacoch, and Cass Yanos will help at Bingo at Berks Heim on November 9.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Ellen Snyder, Limekiln. Bring your crafts and explain how you did them.

Lebanon Society 20

Lebanon Farm Women Society #20 met recently at Ono Fire Hall to entertain Group #3 and the county officers.

Members and guests were entertained by a "neighborhood farm boy," Jerry Bomgardner, dressed as a clown. Those present enjoyed juggling jokes, and a game of "Simon Says."

Members sent $200 of groceries to victims of Hurricane Hugo.

Members will be entertained on October 16 by Group #15.

IS THIS A GOOD MONTH TO BUY A RED ROSE BUILDING?

A Red Rose building is an outstanding value anytime of year, but if you buy it early in the season, you'll get some important extra advantages.

It's no secret that construction activity usually eases during the winter, so there's more time for planning and working out the special details of your new building. Time well spent because it can help you get a better return on your investment.

It's also a smart time to buy because you can avoid price increases that often occur when the spring building season gets under way. So, if you're thinking about a new building, get an early start. We'll be happy to tell you more about the advantages of buying a Red Rose building now, while construction schedules are flexible and prices are low.

For Meaningful Gift Giving, Start Christmas In October

Behind every smooth organization is capable leadership. Ruth Schroeder of Society 13 and Kathryn Hebbe of Society 10 organized the lunch at the Christmas In October workshop.

BY LOU ANN GOOD

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — "Giving personally is more meaningful than what we can buy," maintains Marilyn Sanko-Ebel, a workshop leader at the Christmas In October program.

Hundreds of countians who attended the all day workshop held at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center agree with Marilyn.

And for that reason, they return year after year to the annual program, which shows what is new on the creative craft list.

This year Marilyn, a floral designer for Stauffers of Kissel Hill, showed the audience how to make arrangements that express "who you are as a person."

Herb gifts

In her own gift giving, Marilyn, an avid herb gardener, incorporates herbs into potpourri, wreaths, cooking, and both fresh and dried arrangements, .

"Dry the herbs by fastening a rubber band around bunches of herbs cut in 4-inch lengths," she suggests. Hang them upside down until they are dried. A variety of the bunches can be placed in a basket and given as a gift.

Herb wreaths can be made by forming a coat hanger in the shape desired. With spool wire wrap the bunches of herbs on to the wreath-shaped wire until spaces are filled. Fasten a paper ribbon.

To freshen herb wreaths, hang it in your shower or steam it. It freshens the herbs and releases scent. Do not hang them outdoors as they will mold.

With today's busy homemaker, shortcuts to decorating are in vogue. Marilyn pushes transitional designing. That's taking a dried wreath and hanging a wreath made from greens behind it. The two-tiered wreath adds depth and Christmas touch. A Christmas angel or bow adds an additional holiday touch.

Outdated straw wreaths are a good base into which herbs can be fastened with hairpins or wire fasteners.

Don't limit wreaths to wall hanging. Use as a centerpiece. Place a wreath on the table. Place a wooden or cork chip duck in the center. Add bulrushes and other dried weeds and flowers around the duck.

Dried herbs can also be hung as swags. Add a paper ribbon or tie it on a grapevine wreath.

Swags formed in a half-moon shape can be hung above doorways, on windowsills and as additional decorations for wreaths.

In her "Naturally Your's" presentation, Marilyn also showed how an ordinary reed rocking chair can take on a holiday flavor by placing teddy bears dressed in red and green plaid coats with herb hairpieces.

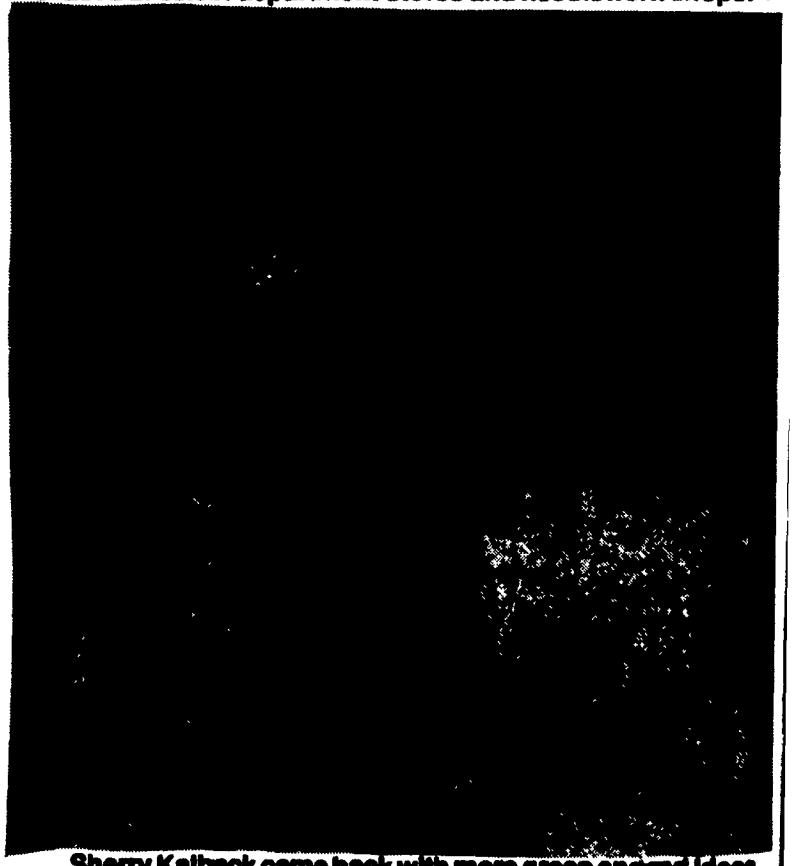
The Garbage Can lady was back this year with fresh ideas for using trash to make more trash.

This year Sherry Kalbach showed the audience how to make a customized calendars. She takes snapshots of her girls suitable for each month and glues the pictures on the calendar. She also showed women how to sew holiday dresses for their daughters by using a sweatshirt. The idea came from Family Circle.

Girl's Sweatshirt Dress

Materials: Crew neck sweatshirt, printed cotton challis; ½ yard of ¾ -inch wide ribbon.

Dressed for the holidays, Doris Thomas shows off the skirt she made that has a quilt patch effect. The skirt, in red, green and cream colors, is actually a kit that can be purchased at select department stores and needlework shops.



Sherry Kalback came back with more green and red ideas to brighten the holiday. The dress Sherry is holding demonstrates a quick and easy style for those who do not like to sew.

Directions: Cut 2 widths of fabric long enough for a skirt and hem, then another width about 4½ -inch deep for collar. Also cuat a bias strip 1x27-inches (or use bias binding).

Seam skirt pieces together at short ends, to make a ring; press seams open. With longest machine stitch, sew 2 gathering rows, from seam to seam, ¼ -inch from top edge. Pin lower edge of sweatshirt over skirt along the gathering, with a seam at each underarm. Pull up gathers to fit and stitch or zigag along edge of sweatshirt. Hem skirt, then hem petticoat ½ -inch shorter.

For collar, seam short ends of collar together to make a loop. Narrowly hem one edge. Gather the opposite edge. With right side up, pin gathered edge to sweatshirt along lower edge of the neck band, drawing up gathers to fit. Topstitch on gathering row.

With rides sides of collar together, pin bias strip against the neckband and stitch its lower crease to lower edge of ribbing. Turn bias piece downward over collar's raw edges and slipstitch over fold to sweatshirt (through collar).

Tie ribbon into a bow and pin or sew its center to the neck binding at the center front.

Doris Thomas, home economist for the Lancaster Extension, shared a sampling of food and craft ideas that can be created for family and friends.

She shared a sampling of seasonal scents to bring fresh ideas to gift giving.

Jumbo Potpourri

Combine assorted sizes of pinecones, lotus pods, balsa wood cutouts, desired scent of oil. Close bag and allow contents to sit for two weeks, shaking gag every few days to mix contents. Add more oil as necessary.

Line basket with plastic wrap to prevent oil from seeping through basket and damaging surface. Add potpourri to basket.

Those in attendance were also given directions to make a casserole carrier, a fire starter gift basket, scented mat and coasters, bathwraps, a holiday apron and recipes for snacks, zesty vinegars, and holiday cakes.

To show parents and grandparents what's new in toys for 1989, Thomas presented a slide presentation on toys available for the season.

Each year, several farm women societies sell their handicrafts at the program. This year, food, ornaments, dried flowers, handmade soaps and other crafts were available.

In between workshop demonstrations, the audience had a chance to examine the items and to talk with workshop leaders.

Marilyn Walters, left, Lititz, and Judy Landis, Quarryville, manned a bake sale table for Society 35. The Christmas tree ornaments made from cinnamon continue to be a favorite seller.

Chris Good (left) of Landisville and Renee Kreider, East Petersburg, have been working for many months in preparation for the Christmas in October workshop where they sell their handcrafted items to raise money for Farm Women Society 33.

Manheim Members At The Big E

More than 1,000 members from 15 states competed in 19 different contests at the Eastern States Exposition Regional FFA Contest held last month in Springfield, Mass.

Pennsylvania FFA members won seven of the contests and placed second and third in several others. The contests FFA members placed first in included dairy showmanship, dairy cattle judging, forestry, pleasure horse judging, agriculture mechanics, livestock judging and floriculture. The Pennsylvania FFA Association received the sweepstakes award for winning the most amount of contests.

Two members of the Manheim FFA chapter competed in the ag mechanics and pleasure horse judging contests. Dean Wenger, son of Elma and Nelson Wenger, placed first in the agriculture mechanics contest and was a member of the first-place team. Other team members were David Becker of the Elizabethtown FFA who placed third individually, and Seth Owens of the Clearfield FFA chapter.

Sharon Harnish, daughter of Rod and Nancy Harnish, placed third in the pleasure horse judging and was a member of the first-place team. Other team members were Michelle Rahbold of Mercer FFA, who placed second in the contest, and Mike Vannoy of the Red Lion FFA, who placed tenth in the contest.

Shearer Wins State Competitive Trail Ride

Jollene Shearer of Lewisberry placed first in the state 4-H competitive trail ride. The competition was held Saturday, September 16. Twenty-nine riders from throughout Pennsylvania participated in the ride. The 28-mile trail ride wound through Rothrock State Forest, touching points in Huntingdon, Mifflin and Centre counties. Riders had about five hours to complete the trail which included swamp, rock fields and steep mountains. Riders and horse must be well prepared as this event requires much endurance and technique.

Shearer, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shearer, had ridden in the trail ride last year and captured first place in the junior division. This year she was able to obtain the top honors again in the senior division/horse as well as be named the high-point 4-H senior rider.

This was the 5th Annual Competitive Trail Ride and it received tremendous support from Penn State Cooperative Extension - 4-H Huntingdon Co. Cooperative Extension, PA Air National Guard and the Department of Environmental Resources, Bureau of Forestry (Rothrock State Forest).

Grass-Lined Waterways Help Conserve Soil

LEESPORT (Berks Co.)— The grass-lined waterway is one of the basic conservation practices used to carry surplus water over land to drainage ditches or streams according to John Fior, soil conservationist of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

During and after recent rain storms have you noticed small ditches, gullies or rills down field slopes? These are good signs of a need for a system to safely dispose of the excess rainfall which the soil cannot absorb. Waterways can be a part of a system to safely discharge this runoff reducing silt and pollution to downstream areas.

"A good vegetated waterway is the beginning of a good conservation treatment for the entire watershed," adds Fior. Waterways provide a safe disposal of runoff from diversions, terraces, road ditches and other natural draws.

The most common shape for waterway construction is parabolic or saucer shaped. This allows water to spread out, slow down giving grass plants with a good root system a chance to hold soil in place. Where prolonged flows of water and steep slopes prevail a stone center may have to be laid in place. Subsurface drains can also be installed to help keep a good grass cover.

Liming and proper fertilization of waterways are an essential part of maintenance. Good sod forming grasses are necessary for a permanent cover. Kentucky 31 tall fescue, perennial rye grass and reed canary grass are some of the desirable species of grass cover. Multiple uses can be utilized of this grass. Hay or green chop can be used as supplemental feed for livestock. Makes excellent cover for wildlife and nesting areas for birds as well as beautify the landscape.

Farms, homesteads, housing developments, and industrial sites can all benefit from waterways being properly planned, installed and maintained reducing silt and pollution to areas below.

For assistance in establishing a grassed waterway contact the Soil Conservation Service office in your county.

TENSAR POLYGRID

POLYGRID * Bird Barrier protects livestock and poultry from the costly diseases that pesky sparrows and starlings can spread from farm to farm. It's a long lasting alternative to conventional wire. It's easy to install. It won't rust, rot or corrode, has no sharp edges to tear curtains or harm animals and it's virtually maintenance free.

EBY

GRAIN BODY

CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

You'll get more out of an Eby aluminum grain body. Lightweight and rugged aluminum provides rigid, fuel efficient support to fill your grain hauling needs.

Eby packs years of experience workmanship and performance into every aluminum body it manufactures. And special Eby options let you customize your body to your individual operation. Available in standard lengths, each unit is designed to provide you with an investment in durable performance and practical economy.

Look over these outstanding features

- Less weight Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction
- Less maintenance Aluminum construction won't rust or rot—never needs painting
- Long-life durability Heavy duty structural components and hollow tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work

SUPER HOPPER

FLASH 1990's Coming - Call For Special Deals!

NEW REDESIGNED 1989 TIMPTE GRAIN HOPPER

Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

20' Gooseneck Trailer

A versatile, lightweight, Eby aluminum stock trailer is built to provide years of maintenance free service. An Eby trailer is custom built to fit your individual hauling needs - No mass production! We use only quality components and strong alloy aluminum to manufacture what may be the last trailer you'll ever buy.

- LIGHTWEIGHT - Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.
- MAINTENANCE - Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY - Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

Trustmark Heifer Calf Brings $7,000 At Polled Hereford Sale

PENN YAN, NY — The Lake Country Holiday Sale of registered Polled Herefords on September 24 at the Glade Haven Farm of Timothy Dennis and family was very successful with more than 200 persons in attendance and brisk bidding throughout the fast-paced sale.

The 32 lots were consigned by Dennis and family. Willard "Spud" Kuhlman and family of Hammondsport, and Don Dean of Slitor Hills Farm in Naples. Guest consignors were Joe Endres of Windy Knoll Farm in South Wales and Robert Jacobsen of Follifoot Farm in Dryden.

The sale featured cow/calf pairs, bred heifers, and several herd bull prospects and show heifers in the offering of calves.

The sale was topped at $7,000 with a May heifer calf by Trustmark selling to County Line Farms of Illiopolis, Ill. for $5,000 and her dam, a three-year-old daughter of Eagle Rare selling to Timothy Dennis for $2,000. They were consigned by Jason Kuhlman.

A Windy Knoll Farms consignment, which included a three-year-old daughter of Top Priority and her twin heifer calves out of Wallstreet, was the second-highest lot in the sale at $3,050. The dam was purchased by John Bates of Java Center for $1,450 and the calves by Steven Shaffer of Watkins Glen for $800 each.

A March 1988 daughter of MSU Knight Ryder consigned by Slitor Hill Farms was the third-highest selling lot. Her buyer, at $3,000, was John and Pat Porter of Phelps. Another Slitor Hill consignment, a three-year-old daughter of IHRY GK Race, was the fourth-highest lot. Her buyer was Double MB Ranch of Southwick, Mass., who paid $2,900.

A Glade Haven consignment of a bull calf by Trustmark and a Prospector daughtekr was the fifth-high selling lot at $2,650. Theodore Kreise of Spring Pond Farm, Cato was the buyer of the bull calf at $1,200 and Mike Holden of Homestead Polled Hereford Farm, Whitney Point was the buyer of his dam at $1,450.

The bull calf, Curtiss, out of JR Nick the Butler and a STLBRK Gilead 67K daughter, sold to Don Schwarz of Nichols. This February calf was another consignment of Jason Kuhlman.

Two other lots sold for $2,000 or more. A Glade Haven lot including a brood cow out of GK Beau Victor 301J and her March bull calf by Columbus were purchased by Michael Culbert Farms of Wellsville for $1,050 each. A May, 1988 daughter of Knight Ryder consigned by Slitor Hill Farms was bought by Briar Hill farm of Ontario, Canada for $2,000.

The sale grossed $57,650 with an average of $1,801.56. Buyers were present from Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, as well as from Ontario, Canada.

Jim Baldridge of North Platte, Neb., was the auctioneer and was assisted by Dann Auctioneers of Canandaigua.

Lunch was catered by the Benton United Methodist Church.

American Polled Hereford Association area coordinator Ernie Smith was present and commended the quality of the cattle offered at the Lake Country Holiday Sale. His remarks were supported by the number of bidders and the continued interest throughout the sale.

Other buyers were W.W. Donaldson of Peterborough, Ontario, Canada; David Derr of Bloomsburg, Pa.; John Adsit of Paradise Acres, Central Square; Richard Frye of Hillcrest Farm, Waverly; Marlands-Hyland Farm of Erieville; Richard Foster, Foster Glen Farm, Owego; Vernon Fassett of Hammondsport, J.B. Farm of East Chatham, Chappel Hill Farm of Addison, Allens Polled Herefords of Owego, Peter and Patti Anderson of Long Eddy, and Barber Farms of White Lake.

The Lake Country Holiday Sale consignors expressed their appreciation to all who help or supported the sale. They expressed their hope that this Lake Country Holiday Sale will not be a sole event, but, that in a few years they will again present a select group of registered Polled Herefords and will invite breeders for a return to the Lake Country of the Finger Lakes.

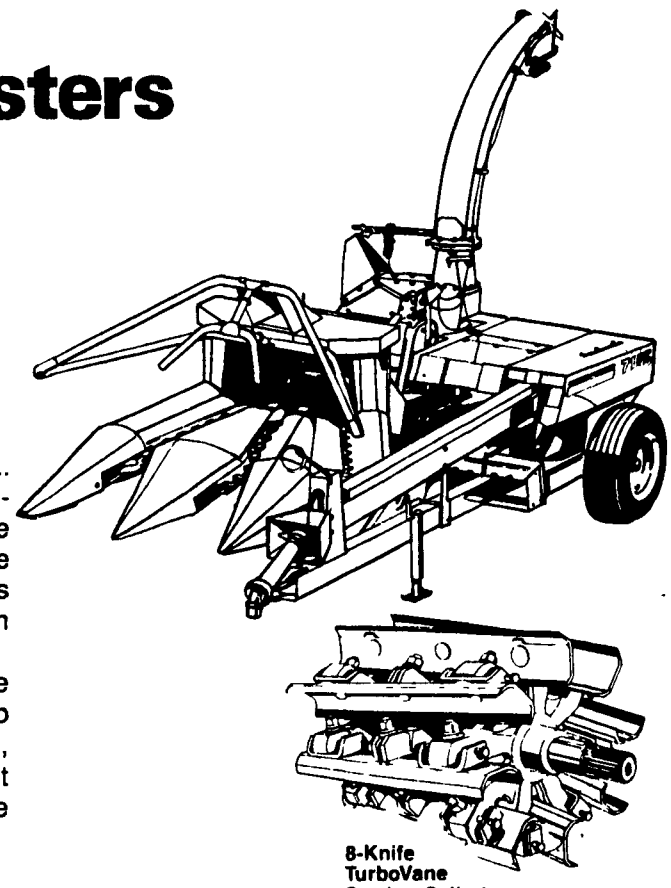
Hesston harvesters give more forage on less fuel.



Three Hesston Models... the 7165, 7155 and 7145... offer increased harvesting capacity with the revolutionary 8-Knife TurboVane Cutting Cylinder. This exclusive Hesston design features eight C-2 knives that produce high capacity "scissor-action" cutting that eliminates bunching and carry-over...and gives more output on less fuel!

The C-2 knives have two cutting edges that can be reversed for longer service life. And the Auto-Sharp Knife Grinder, standard on the 7155 and 7165, sharpens quickly and easily...anytime and anywhere! It is a self-indexing grinder that sharpens knives with the cylinder running in normal cutting direction.

PFA Reports Farm Tax Planning Saves $100,000

CAMP, HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The nature of the farming business and the farmer businessman has changed dramatically.

Twenty-five years ago a farmer could "do his own thing" with a little advice from the local feed dealer, equipment dealer, the local banker, the extension agent, the county soil conservation service and other government agencies.

Today these same dispensers of information and advice still exist, along with a host of new ones offering many services. There's also a multitude of government agencies and quasi-government organizations that have actually become antagonists for farmers.

"Net profits are difficult under the best circumstances," said Donald Hummel, assistant manager of PFA Farm Management Services, "but, almost impossible if the farmer businessman is operating alone. Agriculture must have expert assistance in the area of farm management and tax planning to survive and generate a net profit.

The farm management expert cited one example where good year-end tax planning saved a farm family more than $100,000. "It's impossible for a farmer to devote enough time to understanding the tax laws and the most recent changes to do proper tax planning," Hummel remarked.

"I'm not inferring that the farmer is not capable of understanding tax laws and every interpretation of these laws," he commented, "but, if he takes the time necessary, his farming business is going to suffer from lack of attention."

That's the reason the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association formed PFA Farm Management Services and it continues to grow today, according to Hummel. It's providing valuable services that farmer-members want and need.

"Our staff works as a team. So in reality the farm family might see one person... their account supervisor.. but there is a host of staff who support that individual," Hummel stated. "When the farmer pays the fee he is actually purchasing the services of the entire team."

PFA Farm Management Services has more than 5,000 Farmers' Association members as clients with only one goal in mind... more net profits for its clients.

"Our 38 farm account supervisors spend many days in training each year," he said. "We expect our staff who work with farmers to understand the tax implications for each individual client.

The 38 staff persons are subjected to a rigorous training program, which has resulted in 18 of them being designated as "senior account supervisors." To receive this designation each of them passed a written exam (enrolled agent examination) administered by the Internal Revenue Service, and must have a minimum of six years service.

Prospective account supervisors normally have a four-year degree in agriculture or accounting, and in most cases have a farm background. Once they are hired they spend months in an intense training program, including working with their "mentor", another account supervisor.

Hummel emphasized that training for account supervisors "never ceases."

Each farmer-client is provided one of two types of record systems. The first system centers around a simple record keeping book and is maintained by the farmer. The book is summarized by the farm account supervisors on their three or four visits each year to the farm.

The second system is a computerized record program where the farmer wants a monthly record summary. Farmers can either code all income and expenses and send them in for processing, or enter the information into their own computer and send to PFA Farm Management via a telephone modem or computer disc.

"About 90 percent of our clients maintain their records with the farm account supervisor doing the summaries, versus the computerized service," Hummel reported, "but the number of farmers using the computer program continues to grow."

Fees for the service are based on gross income and the business structure of a particular farm.

This service is offered to all PFA members in cooperation with the 54 county farmers associations. Each county association has a Farm Management committee, appointed by the member service chairman. Promotion and education are two key committee activities, and it serves as a sounding board in meeting client needs.

Pralle's End 42 Years With Guernseys On A High Note

REYNOLDSBURG, OH — On September 23, one of the nation's oldest and most prominent herds dispersed. Bernard and Mary Pralle of Onalaska, Wisconsin saw their 239 Guersneys sell for an oustanding average of $1,568. An estimated crowd of over 600 dairy enthusiasts attended the Fauver Hill Dispersal. Cattle were bought by breeders from coast to coast.

The herd was well known for outstanding type and production. The current herd sold with an August 1989 Rolling Herd Average on 85 cows of 16,702M 4.5% 752F 3.5% 588P DHIR. Sixteen Excellent, 43 Very Good and 14 Desirable cows sold backed by 22 years of American Guernsey Association (AGA) Gold Star Breeder Awards.

Lot one, Fauver Hill KA Radiance, a 93-point daughter of Shadylawn King Arthur was the high-seller of the day. Rick Sanborn of Manitou Beach, Michigan purchased this reserve grand champion of the 1987 Wisconsin State Show for $7,400. With records to 21,010M 956F amd 694P, she sold fresh two weeks.

Struck off at $6,100, Fauver Hill Telestar Freddie, another 93-point cow, was purchased by Getzkow Guersney Farm of Eden Valley, Minnesota. Already over 100,000M lifetime production and with several records over 24,000M and 1,000F, this Maurana Wis Telestar sold due at sale time to Kellogg E Choice Pender. Her Clovelly Top Hornet dam was also EX-93. Freddie's ten daughters sold for an average of $1,720.

Another well-known Fauver Hill cow family commanded the third and fourth high-selling prices. Fauver Hill Tel Odette-ET, EX-92, and her daughter, Fauver Hill Volcano Odessa, VG-84, were purchased by Phil Laesch of Curtiss, Wisconsin for $5,200 and $4,500 respectively. Ranked 10th in the breed for CPI and completing her second national class-leading record for milk, fat and protein, Odette-ET is sired by Telestar and from a 90-point Kellogg Minnies Choice, Gold Star Dam. Odessa is a Harmony Quantity Volcano daughter that sold with a package of ten of her embryos.

The sale was managed by the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders' Association. Danny Shaefor of Richland Center, Wisconsin and Doug Wilson of Shawano, Wisconsin cried the sale. Arnold Knight, Markesan, Wisconsin and Dave Kjome, of Rochester, Minnesota read pedigrees.

Eastern Doubles Profits, Triples Bonuses To Farmers

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Despite lower sales and milk volumes, Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative nearly doubled its net proceeds and tripled its record payout of cash bonuses to farmers, General Manager Michael Donovan reported during the co-op's annual meeting Oct. 3 in Syracuse, N.Y.

Eastern marketed 1.9 billion pounds of milk for its member-owners in fiscal 1989, resulting in sales of $236 million. Last year Eastern had sales of $260 million on 2.1 billion pounds of milk.

Most of the sales revenue is turned over to farmers in the form of milk checks. Out of the money that is left, the co-op pays operating expenses and either makes a profit or breaks even.

"Last year our net proceeds were $138,702. This year we nearly doubled that to the tune of $268,404 - and that was after we used $658,000 of profits to enhance our cash bonuses to members," Donovan said.

"In total," added R. LaVerne McCarty, the dairy farmer president of Eastern, "we paid out over $10 million in cash bonuses to farmers. That's a new record. Last year we paid out $3.2 million in cash bonuses."

These bonuses were above the government-set price for farmers' raw milk, and, except for the $658,000 that came out of Eastern's own coffers, they resulted from improved milk supply arrangements that Eastern negotiated with fluid milk bottlers and manufacturers of cheese and other dairy products.

Donovan also attributed the improved prices and profitability to the tightening supply of milk in the Northeast.

"The various government programs aimed at cutting the national surplus of milk - such as support price cuts, the dairy diversion and the whole herd buyout - have worked all too well," Donovan said. "Right now the Northeast is actually experiencing a shortage of milk. We have customers that are practically begging us for more milk. We just don't have it. The same is true of all the other dairy co-ops in the Northeast."

McCarty noted that the number of farmers in the Northeast, and across the U.S., continues a downward trend. Eastern's membership of 3,100 is down from 3,400 because of farmers retiring or leaving the land, the president said.

Eastern Milk, headquartered in Syracuse, N.Y., has member farms in nine states, with a high concentration in Pennsylvania, New York and Vermont. The co-op also serves member-owners in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

Those member farmers own two cheese plants in New York's Southern Tier, which are leased to Leprino Foods, a leading manufacturer of mozzarella in the U.S. Also, Eastern operates a New England office in Montpelier, Vt.; a balancing plant in Grover, PA.; and milk receiving stations in Dover, Del., Sunbury, Pa., and Hinesburg, Vt.

The co-op also owns two subsidiaries: Eastern Laboratory Services, a commercial testing facility in South Waverly, Pa.; and Eastern Best Products, which operates six dairy stores in New York and Pennsylvania, and a rural bulk-buying service with truck routes serving over 30,000 customers in a dozen states.

Mosquitoes Spread Sleeping Sickness To Maryland Horses

ANNAPOLIS, MD. — Viral Encephalitis, also known as sleeping sickness, has struck horses on Maryland's Eastern Shore in Wicomico and Somerset Counties. Four cases have been observed by veterinarians in these locations. Laboratory confirmation is under way to identify the causative virus type.

Viral Encephalitis often occurs during the late summer and early fall seasons until the first few frosts. The virus circulates in a bird-mosquito-bird cycle with viral "spill over" into horses and people. Horses and people are victims of this viral disease but they are not involved in the spread of the diseases. Captive wild birds such as those on game farms often are affected with the eastern viral type.

Protection and control of viral encephalitis is dependent on the following actions:

1. Local and area mosquito control measures. The Maryland Department of Agriculture is intensifying their field spraying to kill mosquitoes.

2. Persons should use repellents to protect themselves from mosquitoes, especially people who are outside a great deal of the time such as: fishermen, hunters and golfers.

3. Horses should be vaccinated in the late spring and those vaccinated before April should be revaccinated now.

Eastern viral encephalitis prevails in the eastern United States. The mortality of the eastern type of viral encephalitis is usually 85-90 percent in both horses and people.

For further information contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture at 301/841-5810.

COMPARE THESE FEATURES AND OPTIONS

Simple hydraulics allows one valve to operate the lift and stabilize cylinders. Center plumbing means less hose length and easier coupling
The basic box is heavy duty steel welded seams and reinforced for even more strength
Standard offset hitch adjusts in 5-inch steps to lengths from 6'3" to7'11". To allow for different row crop spacings you can offset either right or left, 5 7½ 10 or 12½ inches
Rub rails offer more protection to vehicles when approaching during dumping cycle and when departing
Stabilizer cylinders hydraulically lock on to axle to hold wagon rigid during dump cycle
Galvanized roof features vent insert for straight through air flow

Make Your Operation Safer • Use Year Round • Variety Of Crops • All Field Conditions • Operate In Wet And Muddy Conditions

LAST CALL TO BARGAIN HUNTERS ON NEW CASE IH TRACTORS & EQUIPMENT!

Oct. Ends Our 4th Quarter For Year-End Discounts - Deadline Is Oct. 31, 1989 For Bigger & Better Deals!

MAGNUM

7110 & 7120 In Stock
New With 4 Reverse Speeds Trans.

Case IH put more into the new MAGNUM Tractor line than any farm tractors developed in over twenty years. Here's why you'll get more out of it.

MAGNUM means more. Outstanding field performance from a new 505-cubic-inch turbocharged engine with reverse power. MAGNUM power.

The MAGNUM Tractor's powershift plus 18 speeds of shift-on-the-go workpower at your fingertips—standard. And only MAGNUM Tractors offer a full powershift creeper transmission with six additional speeds from .5 to 2.1 mph for more control and performance. MAGNUM performance. The MAGNUM Tractor's new larger cab has 48 square feet of window area — virtually unobstructed visibility — more room and more seating comfort. MAGNUM comfort.

It all adds up: Case IH MAGNUM Tractors are setting new standards for the 130-195 PTO hp power range and for you. See us for details

★ See The New Updated Magnum With New Features ★
Including The New 4-Reverse Transmission.
Only Case IH Offers You A Warranty Like This!
5 Years Or 5000 Hrs.;

The MAGNUM 5-Year/5,000-Hour Warranty

MAGNUM means more! But there's much more to a MAGNUM tractor than meets your eye. Because behind the more powerful engines, the more efficient transmissions and the high-visibility cabs. .

Stands the best warranty in the business. The MAGNUM tractor 5-year/5,000-hour warranty, whichever occurs first * A warranty that gives you coverage, from top to bottom, front to back. It's the best warranty in the business. By far. The way MAGNUM tractors are built there's a good chance you'll never need to take advantage of this advantage

Come on in and look over the all-new MAGNUM tractors. And ask us for details on the best warranty... and the best tractors in the business.

* Excluding tires, which are covered by their own manufacturers warranties A $200 deductible applies to each repair after the first year

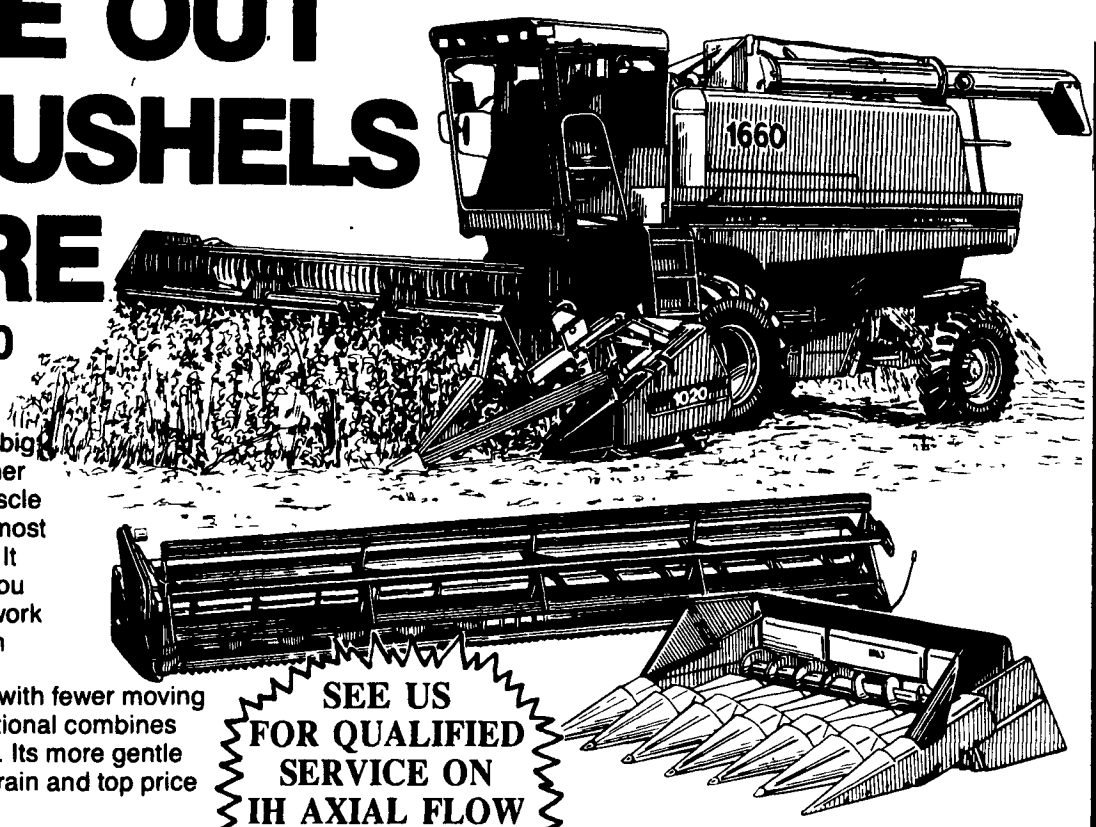
SQUEEZE OUT MORE BUSHELS PER ACRE



Case International 1660 Axial-Flow Combine

When it comes to harvesting crops, this big crop-saver can save more grain than other combines in its size class. It has the muscle to "get in and get out" fast to make the most of each day of good harvesting weather. It consistently turns out cleaner grain so you can get top market price. Put a 1660 to work and take advantage of these field-proven features.

- Axial-Flow Design. Uses a single rotor with fewer moving parts and fewer problems than conventional combines using the cylinder-and-concave design. Its more gentle threshing action means less cracked grain and top price for every bushel.
- Human-Engineered Cab. Provides day-long comfort for increased operator productivity.
- 180 hp Turbocharged Diesel and 3-Speed Hydrostatic Transmission. Plenty of power to handle soft soils and hilly terrain.
- 1015 Pickup Header. Available in 11- and 13-foot widths. Hydraulic variable speed drive lets you match crop pickup to ground speed for smooth delivery with minimum shattering.

SEE US FOR QUALIFIED SERVICE ON IH AXIAL FLOW & CONVENTIONAL COMBINES

Need A Service Check For Your Combine? TRY US!!!

- 1010 Rigid and 1020 Flexible Cutterbar Direct Cut Headers also available in several widths from 15 to 30 feet depending on model.
- 1000 Series Corn Heads in four to eight row sizes

The 1660 Axial-Flow Combine . . . a generation ahead.

Take any rough-graded lot. The Ag-Tech PRESEEDER can transform it into a flat, finished seedbed - quickly, easily!

The PRESEEDER attaches to any tractor equipped with PTO drive, 3 point hitch and remote hydraulic valve. Large front rotor with heavy duty tines can be adjusted low on first pass to loosen surface and fill in holes with soil from higher areas. Horizontal angle of rotor displaces rocks and other debris into windrows. On final pass the PRESEEDER can be set high for smoothing. Evenly-spaced teeth on rear roller punch into finished soil to speed germination of grass seed.

Your end result, a beautifully-prepared seedbed - fine textured, even and ready for planting!

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

Over the past 8 years, we have sold thousands of T.A.'s to satisfied customers across the U.S. Some of our best customers are I.H. Dealers.

We do complete job or center housing while you wait or will sell you the parts.

Our prices on T.A.'s with the Dana Sprag, are now $645.00 with a 2 year warranty.

We also have units and parts available to rebuild old style T.A.'s, including Ramp & carrier sets for $300.00

Clutches, Pressure Plates PTO Drives & Water Pumps

We have clutches available for most all IH tractors; including many heavier than original. We also have clutches for many other brands.

- Compare Our Prices -

All clutches & T.A.'s will ship U.P.S. and are sold on an exchange basis. Core charges Apply.

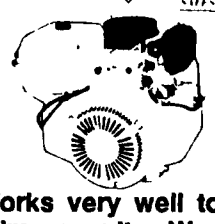
Is Your Corn Picker Engine In Shape To Handle This Year's Heavy Crop?



This twin 20 hp is becoming very popular for hay balers and other applications traditionally equipped with 2 cylinder Wisc. engines and can also replace the older 4 cylinder engines on some applications.

Works very well to run corn pickers, crimpers and mower crimper units. We can mount your Wisc. clutch reduction for $1495 or sell the engine with used Wisc. reduction for $1995. Price includes picking up your clutch and delivery of completed unit to you. (Lancaster County Only)

We Also Stock 25 HP Lombardini Diesels With Adaptor To Take Wisc. Reduction

A CUT ABOVE THE REST

With almost double the number of cuts per minute over most of our two bladed competitors and the extra suction created by Vicon's unique triangular discs it's easy to understand the no-plug non stop performance of Vicon's three bladed KM disc mower conditioners

Heavy duty discs and reversible blades, and two piece cutter bar skids give you reliability and economy as standard equipment

Superior conditioning is achieved by intermeshing rollers which the crop passes through, crimping each stalk at regular intervals along its length, to accelerate moisture loss in the evenly formed swaths

The unique design of the Vicon full swivel hitch now makes it possible to keep the PT.O. linkage in perfect alignment at any angle of turn In-field productivity is greatly increased and wear, vibration and power requirements are reduced.

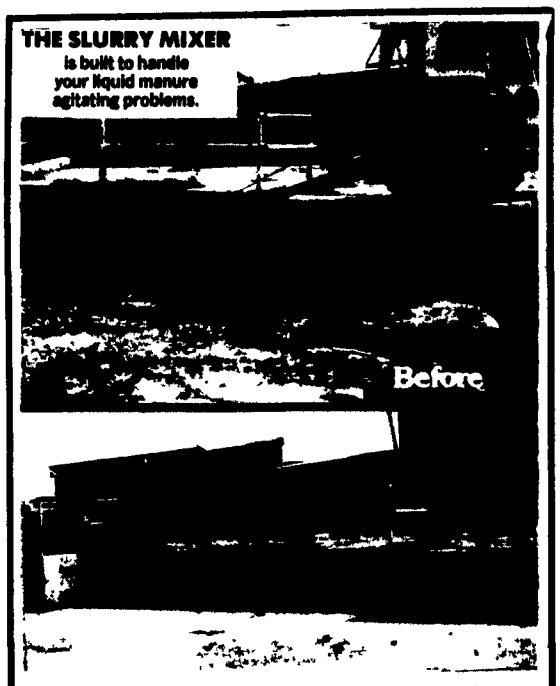
THE SLURRY MIXER is built to handle your liquid manure agitating problems.



This 3 point hitch Slurry Mixer's large 22" propellor produces a strong undercurrent that moves liquids, floating chunks of crust, weeds, bedding and dried manure into the propellor that chops, mixes and blends your manure into an even liquid Slurry.

Priced at $2,285

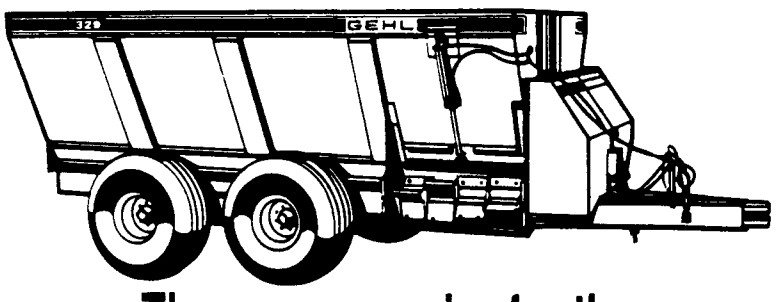
GEHL®



The one spreader for the two spreader farm

Spread liquids, semi-solids, solids, pen-packed, even frozen manure. A Gehl Scavenger® II manure spreader does the work of two spreaders for the price of one. It's built for efficiency, with a heavy-duty square-tube auger that works harder than conventional round augers. The auger powers up and down hydraulically to prevent bridging and cut through winter freeze-ups. Variflo front, right-hand discharge gives you complete application control. Stop by for a demonstration today!

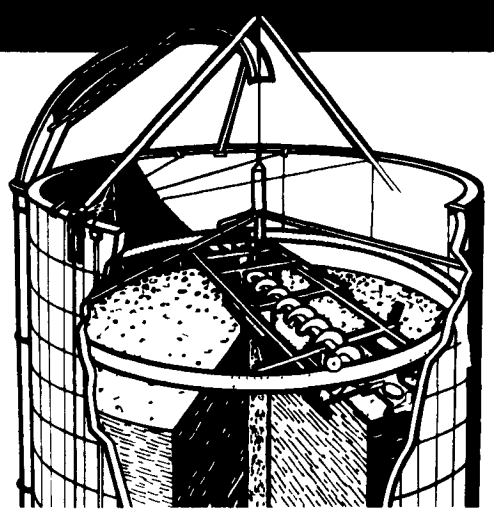
FACT: BIG JIM BEATS BOTTOM UNLOADERS COLD!



The Jamesway Big Jim system unloads silage from the top, then discharges it down a big pre-formed center hole and out the bottom. Result: You can store high moisture silage—with more total feed value than low moisture silage—without cold weather worries. And without the big price tag of oxygen-limiting, bottom-unloading systems. See us soon for details.

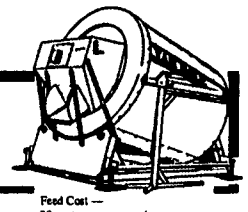
VAN DALE — Dependability through Quality

RISING FEED COSTS?

VAN DALE Has The Answer!

the Orbit Mixer



Thousands of dairy farmers just like you have changed to a total mixed ration program for their dairy herds—and they're glad they did. By working with a qualified nutritionist to determine the most economical ration for their herds and by using a VAN DALE Orbit Mixer designed to blend the exact ration every time these dairy farmers are reporting significant profit improvements through lower feed costs and/or higher milk production

Typical Savings for 60 Cow Herd

Feed Cost —
20 cents per cow per day
60 cows x 365 x .20 = $4,380

Milk Production —
4 lbs extra per cow per day
60 cows x 300 x 48 x .10 = $7,200

Bottom Line Savings
60 cows per year = $11,580

See your local VAN DALE dealer

Records Topple At Manheim Farm Show Livestock Auction

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Records were shattered last week at the Manheim Farm Show livestock auction as bidders contested for the champion animals.

Pam Myer was delighted to sell her 230-pound champion hog for $1,534 to Bomberger's of Elm. The 17-year-old 4-H'er also had the fair's champion hog last year and sold it to Bomberger's for $1.50 less than this year's winning bid of $6.50 per pound.

The reserve champion also brought in big bucks as Jacob Ruhl Inc. paid $4 per pound for the honor of taking it home. Greg Hoover, who showed the 208-pound crossbred reserve champion hog, pocketed $832.

Steer bidders, sluggish at the other county fair livestock auctions this year, contested hotly for the top two steers at Manheim. Dave Graybill of Penway Construction beat out other bidders to purchase Sharon Harnish's grand champion Angus-Chianina-Limousin steer for $4 per pound or a whopping $4,720. The bid was $.40 higher for the 16-year-old's animal than was paid for last year's champion steer.

The reserve champion steer, a purebred Angus exhibited by John Hess of Manheim, went for $2.85 per pound to J.H. Brubaker Inc. Hess had last year's grand champion steer at Manheim.

The last record to topple was that of the grand champion lamb. Willie the Butcher, top bidder on last year's grand champion lamb, once again had the last say and took Phil Yeagley's champion Suffolk for $5.90 per pound. This was $.89 higher per pound than last year's winning bid.

Lebanon Valley National Bank purchased the reserve grand

ASIA & PSWGA Updates

What is ASIA and how can I become a member of PSWGA are two questions on the minds of some interested Pennsylvania sheep producers.

The first one, "What is ASIA?" As of January 1989 the American Sheep Producers Council and the National Wool Growers Association merged into one, now called the American Sheep Industry Association, with Rodger Wasson as the association's director. ASIA also has a new mailing address: ASIA, 6911 S. Yosemite St., Englewood, CO 80112; 303/771-3500 and FAX 303/771-8200.

ASIA works very closely with the land-grant universities, sheep extension pecialists and the leaders of state sheep organizations such as the PSWGA. Those who have subscribed to their newsletter "Insights" are aware of some additional changes whereby future sheep industry news will be part of the monthly publication the "National Wool Grower", $25 per year.

In place of "Insights", ASIA will be publishing a weekly ASIA Lamb & Wool Market News, annual subscription also $25. A 24-hour Lamb Market News call remains available to anybody wanting to call 303/771-8472.

This brings us to the next question, how to become active members in the Pennsylvania Sheep & Wool Growers Association, PSWGA. Again, recent changes in the state organizations' by-laws, as printed in the May-June 1989 issue of the "PA Sheep Producer Magazine", has defined three classes of due paying members. The one I will mention is the individual membership.

A paid-up member ($20per year) is entitled to full voting privileges within the PSWGA. In addition the member will receive free an annual subscription to the quarterly PSWGA's "PA Sheep Producer Magazine", which has a regular annual subscription of $10, and a free monthly issue of the "National Wool Growers Magazine" because the PSWGA is a federated member of ASIA.

The annual dues to the PSWGA is $20. Yes, that is right $20. To those who want to keep abreast of what is happening in your industry at the international, national, state and local level, you can not go wrong on this offer, in my opinion. To phone in a subscription to the PSWGA Sheep Producer magazine, call 814/448-3349.

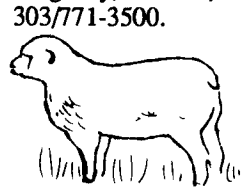
How do I join the PSWGA? Official membership forms will be available at the upcoming Shepherds' Symposium, December 7-9, at the Sheraton Lancaster in Lancaster. Symposium information may be requested by calling your local PSU Extension office or direct to the Conference & Short Course office at 814/865-8301.

See you at the Shepherds' Symposium!!

Coming events:

January 7-12, 1990 Farm Show week, Harrisburg, PA

January 14-17, 1990 ASIA Annual Convention, Civic Plaza, Hyatt Regency, Phoenix, AR, Reg. info 303/771-3500.



KILE Corrections

The reserve champion Southdown ram at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition was bred, owned, and shown by Jennifer Flinchbaugh of York. The animal was no relation to the grand champion.

The premier exhibitor in the Yorkshire swine breeding show was Strawbridge & McCleary of Windsor.

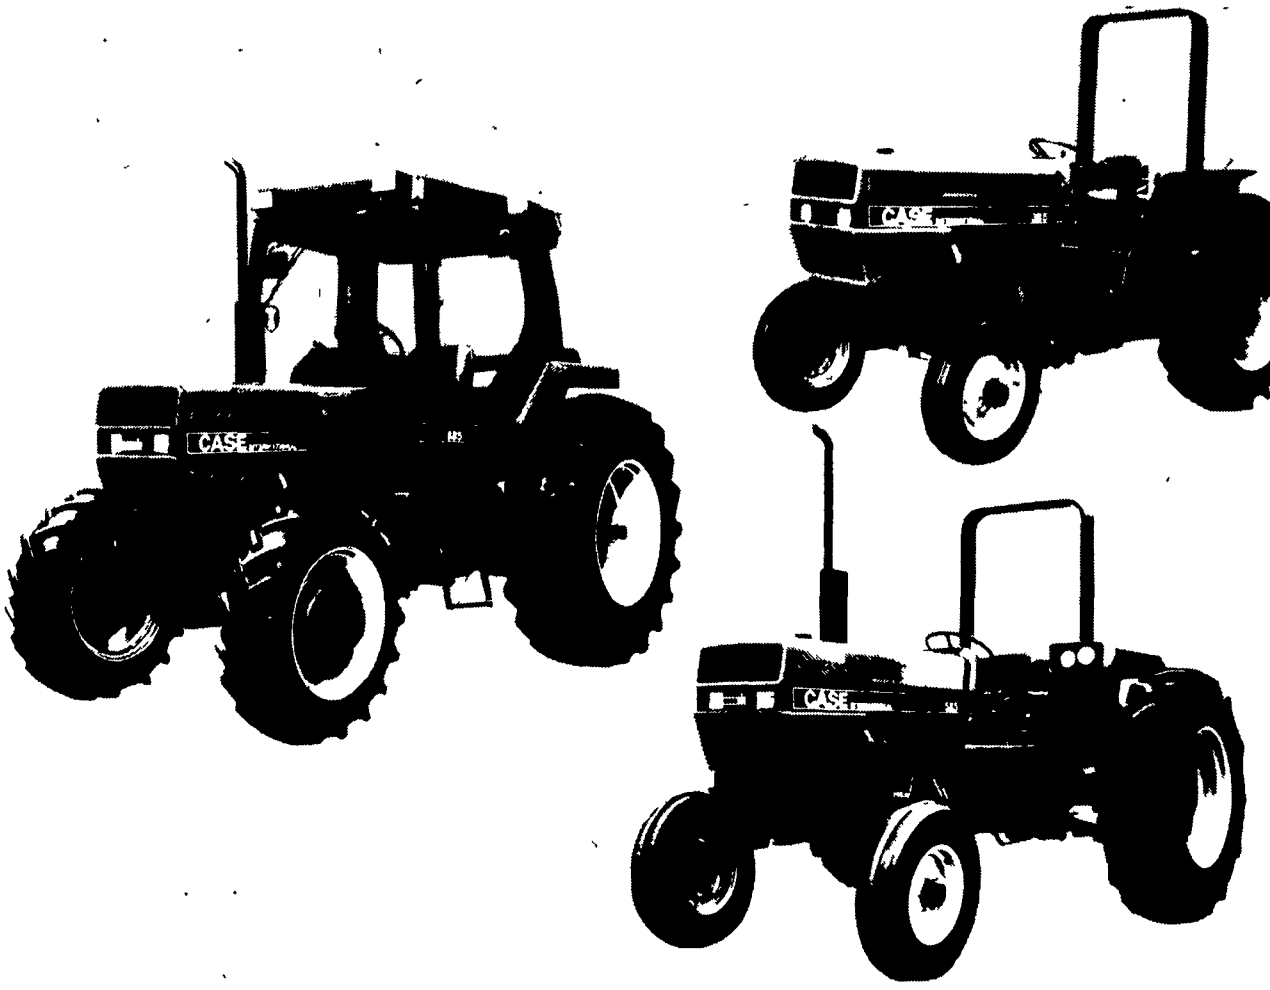
Best Values in New Equipment



Case IH: Your best choice in general-purpose tractors.

Five basic power sizes in 21 different styles make Case IH 85 Series tractors the value leaders in their class. There are literally no boundaries in the types of jobs they handle—whether in field, feedlot, orchard or vineyard.

With four basic styles—row-crop, utility, low-profile and Mechanical Front Drive (MFD), you can tailor an 85 Series tractor to your specific farming and cropping practices.

These Case IH tractors are equipped with nearly every standard feature you could want. You enjoy smooth, sure electro-hydraulic power shifting with a dash-mounted toggle switch (standard on 885, optional on others). You can shuttle shift to clean up feedlots, scrape and level loading areas or move bulk feed. You move quickly, almost effortlessly through 16 speeds forward, and eight in reverse.

There's a lot to see in the Case IH 85 Series tractors. See them now at your nearby Case IH dealer.

A HEALTHY POULTRY INDUSTRY

Donald L. Singletary

Over the years the poultry industry has been troubled by a number of serious diseases that have caused devastating losses and hindered its development. Fortunately, the industry has been able to solve its major health problems. Let's review some of these diseases and how they were controlled.

The first disease to be controlled was pullorum. In the early 1900s it was extremely difficult to raise poultry because of the mortality caused by bacillary white diarrhea, as pullorum was then called. Salmonella pullorum, a bacterial organism, is spread primarily by the transmission of the organism from infected breeder flocks through the egg to the chick. The development of a blood plate test in the '30s that detected pullorum-infected breeder flocks has essentially eliminated the disease from commercial poultry flocks.

The parasitic disease coccidiosis, likewise, made it very difficult to grow large numbers of poultry because of the losses it caused. However, the discovery of the sulfa drugs in the '40s and the subsequent introduction of modern coccidiostats led to effective control of coccidiosis by the addition of these drugs to the feed.

The viral respiratory diseases (Newcastle disease, infectious bronchitis, laryngotracheitis) were the next to be identified and the cause determined. This quickly lead to the development of vaccines, which are now commonly used to prevent these viral diseases.

Egg-transmitted mycoplasma infections also caused severe health problems in poultry. These were, like Salmonella pullorum, controlled by blood testing of breeder flocks.

Early in the '70s Marek's Disease was finally controlled. The high "leukosis" condemnations of broilers at the processing plant and the high mortality of started pullets and layers ceased with Marek's vaccination of chicks at the hatchery.

Although Gumboro disease was first described in the early '60s, its most significant effect, immunosuppression, was not recognized until the '70s. This effect led to a much better understanding of vaccination failures, secondary E. coli infections and certain diseases such as gangrenous dermatitis and inclusion body hepatitis. Vaccination of breeder flocks for Gumboro greatly reduced the effects of this disease and improved progeny performance.

The control of these diseases permitted the growing of large numbers of poultry, thereby, enabling the poultry industry to develop into the large commercial industry it is today providing a popular, tasty, economical food for the consumer.

Hugo Hurts Carolina Poultry Industries

When Hugo made its sweep through the United States, it devastated much of North and South Carolina's major poultry-producing counties. Many poultry houses were destroyed or badly damaged.

Estimates placed the damage in South Carolina to be more than $5 million. One Chesterfield County, S.C., turkey producing company lost $300,000 in birds, $500,000 in house damages, and $250,000 in corn.

Tyson Food's Holly Farms operation in Wilkes and surrounding counties in North Carolina reported 107 houses with 5 to 100 percent of roofs torn off; 5 houses totally destroyed; and 17,000 broilers lost. Damages were estimated at $600,00 to grower facilities.

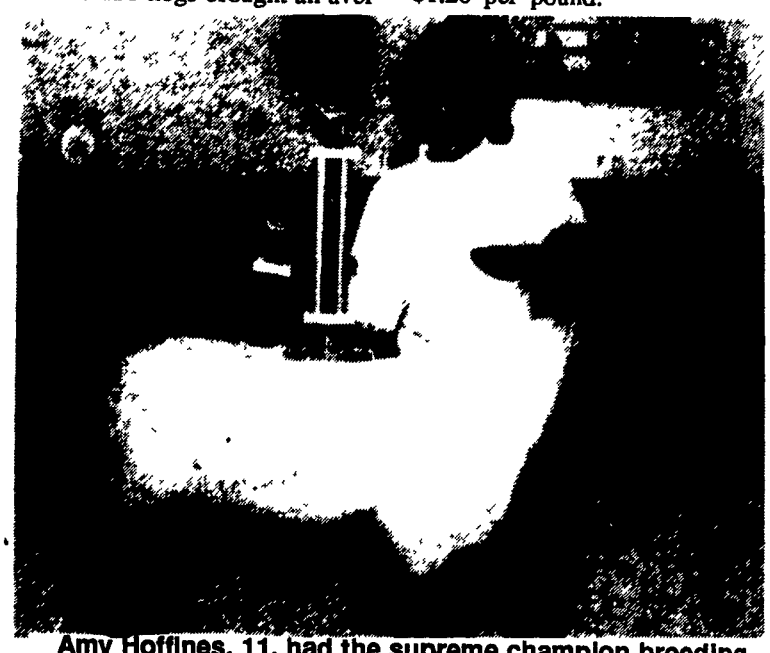
champion lamb for $4 per pound. Mark Tracy of Elizabethtown went home with $416 to put in the bank.

The 126 hogs brought an average of $.92 per pound, while the steers averaged $1.96. A total of 39 lambs were sold for an average of $1.26 per pound.



Amy Hoffines, 11, had the supreme champion breeding sheep at Manheim Farm Show's. Her Hampshire was also the breed champion. Daughter of Linda and Robert Hoffines, of Marietta, Hoffines is a sixth-grade student at Donegal Middle School.

Koehler Tops Cheviot Show Again

BY VAL VANTASSLE
Berks Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— For the second year in a row Mike Koehler had the top ewe and ram at the Cheviot show held at the Keystone International Livestock Expo Saturday morning in Harrisburg. Koehler, a Schnecksville resident, raises Dorsets as well and had the champion ewe in that breed Friday morning.

Koehler was particularly pleased with the yearling ewe's performance. "She has won every class she has ever been in. She was also chosen at the Ohio State Fair," he explained.

Koehler had not only the champion ram, a yearling, but the reserve champion, a spring ram. Koehler has been showing sheep for six years. He intends to take his sheep to the national competition in Louisville next month.

The reserve went to Erdenheim Farm for their spring ewe lamb. According to shepherd, Marlyn Stroh, the animal has been doing well in competition this year. "This is her first reserve but she was fourth in a class of 32 at the Eastern Expo, the Big E." The lamb is owned by F.E. Dixon, Jr., Lafayette Hill, Pa.

Koehler was named premier breeder and exhibitor of Saturday's show.

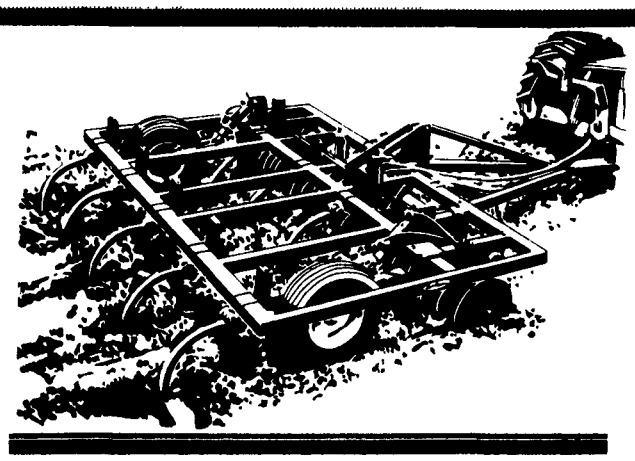
Frame Type Deep Till

The frame type DEEP TILL is available with a Category II or III hitch and may be equipped with the optional drawbar hitch to convert it to a pull type. The hitch features both clevis and straight drawbar for four-wheel drive tractors. Adjystable top arm controls the front-to-rear leveling of the machine. Sizes range from 12'6" to 27'6". Hydraulic gauge wheels control working depth from 8" to 18". The pull-type hitch is easily removed to convert the unit to a 3-point Category III hitch model. The automatic reset feature on all models allows non-stop tilling and eliminates the inconvenience, downtime and expense of replacing shear bolts. All frame type Deep Tills must be used with pull-type hitch when using either style trash cutting coulters.



THE EROSION STOPPERS

Now you can build up your soil while you stop erosion with Brillion's 14 models of Soil Builders. These conservation tillage machines slice through residue, then chisel and ridge the soil. They increase water holding capacity. Blend in cornstalks and trash. Fight water and wind erosion.

Brillion Soil Builders are the one-trip minimum tillage tools that save fuel and cover 50% more acres compared to moldboard plowing. See us for names of farmers who have used Brillion Soil Builders. Available in new 15- and 17-shank sizes for big tractors; or 5, 7, 9, 11 and 13-shanks to match whatever h.p. you have.

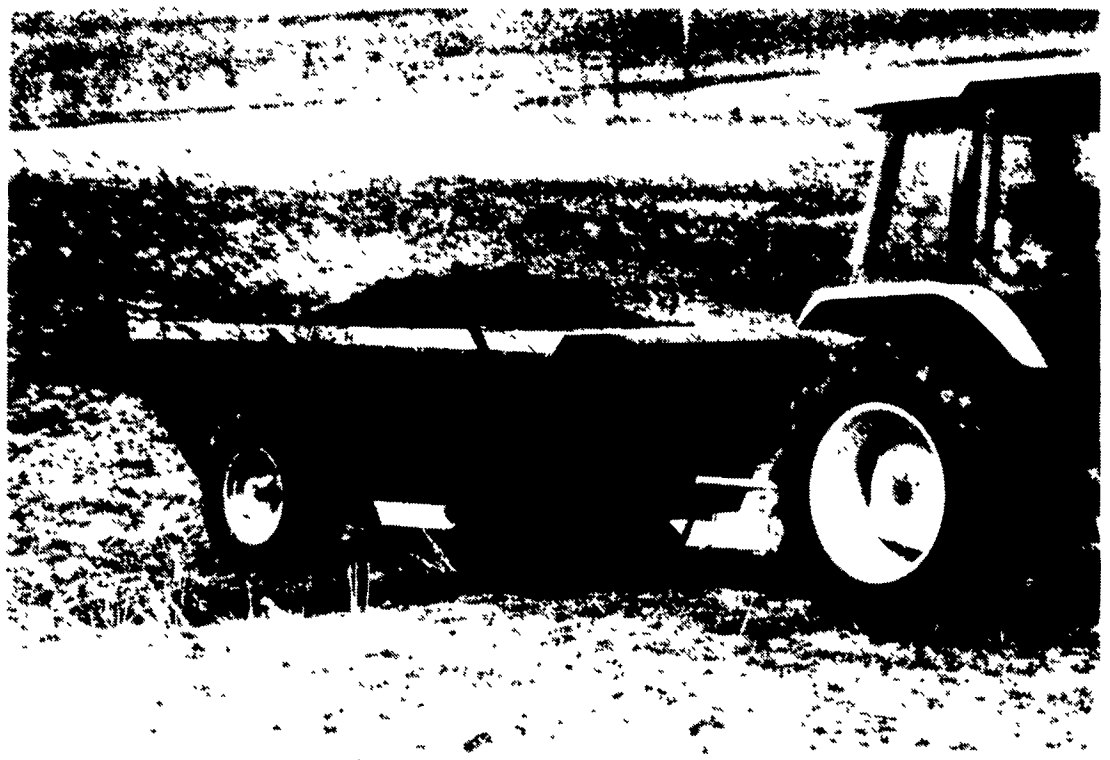
Farm Credit Makes Management Changes

YORK (York Co.) — Leo L. Sayler has transferred to the position of executive loan officer for York Farm Credit, and C. Daniel Brogdon has been promoted to the position of executive loan officer of York Farm Credit.

Brogdon, a native of western Pennsylvania, was employed by York Farm Credit in 1986 as loan officer in the Chambersburg branch office. A graduate of Penn State, he holds a bachelor's degree in agricultural mechanization.

Sayler is a graduate of North Dakota University and holds a bachelor's degree in agricultural education. In addition, he has enhanced his education with graduate work in teaching psychology, adult education techniques, and training-needs analysis. Saylor has held positions within the Farm Credit System for the past 12 years, the lastest position being director of farm records in Pennsylvania.

York Farm Credit presently provides more than $108 million in long-term and short-term loans to 1,900 borrowers in Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, Fulton, Perry and York counties.



The model 305 Ford New Holland spreader features a larger expeller than most models. A new expeller drive design increases unloading speed substantially and improves durability.

Ford New Holland Introduces Side-Delivery Manure Spreader

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The Model 305 side-delivery spreader from Ford New Holland features a new, larger expeller to provide more positive material transfer from tank auger to the expeller. As compared to previous models, the expeller has been lengthened and bearing mounts have been relocated to maximize durability. A belt drive replaces roller chain to provide additional durability and minimize maintenance. The belt drive is quiet and smooth operating.

"In the field, spreading rates are hydraulically controlled, providing a uniform spread pattern," says Howard Winey of Ford New Holland.

Winey points out spreading rate control has become increasingly important for large dairy and livestock operations because of plant food nutrient requirements. Many farms can now supply entire crop nutrient needs with little or no chemical fertilizer if manure is applied according to need. Ground water pollution and runoff become much less likely.

The "305" is the machine of choice for operations that need to handle sloppy manure as well as manure with bedding, according to Winey. The top rim of the spreader, which has "fish bowl" extensions, deflects splashing inward to minimize spillage on the way to the field. This is an exclusive on Ford New Holland spreaders.

Purina Mills Subsidiary Offers Hog Producers Free Diskette

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.)— Now, hog producers can get a quick, easy introduction to hog-management software that's designed to fit their operation. Chek-Tech Inc., an information-technologies subsidiary of Purina Mills, offers its new Farm Management Series demonstration diskette free to interested hog producers. All they have to do is make a toll-free call to 800/772-6333 and request the diskette.

"This is a practical way for any producer to get a firsthand look at the broad capabilities the Farm Management Series software offers," notes Tom Murphy, sales manager for Chek-Tech. "If the farmer doesn't have access to an IBM computer, or a compatible, we'll even help locate the nearest Chek-Tech representative who can go to that person's place and demonstrate the system. We also want interested parties to know they don't have to be Purina customers to get this service."

The new Farm Management Series is the first comprehensive software package made for farmers that integrates management, production and financial capabilities. Developed -- and continually enhanced -- with direct input from hog producers, the Hog and Finance Edition was "made from scratch" and is not an alteration of existing software. The same is true for the two other Farm Management Series software program, the Feed Edition and Dairy Edition.

Hog producers can expect the Farm Management Series software to handle a wide range of jobs including:

* individual sow, boar and litter performance tracking;
* nursery, grower and finisher tracking;
* daily work and activity schedules;
* producer-defined graphics;
* budgeting capabilities;
* "what if" planning;
* check writing; and,
* individual enterprise analysis.

Murphy is quick to note that reliable, on-going service is an important aspect of any Farm Management Series software purchase. "We don't leave our customers out in the cold once they've bought our product," he stresses. "We're backed by nationwide IBM service and support, and also, customers can continue to use our 1-800 number to get immediate responses to any questions or problems they have."

In addition, Chek-Tech offers its customers a free, two-and-a-half-day school training session that's held monthly at the Purina Mills headquarters in St. Louis. The school teaches producers how to use the system as well as how to put the information they get from the software to practical use. Producers can attend the school as often as they choose. Their only cost is travel and lodging.

Murphy adds that many hog operators also appreciate the Chek-Tech support program, which gives them the opportunity to receive on-going software enhancements and up-to-date manuals. "The special thing about our enhancements is that over 90 percent of them come from producers' suggestions," he explains. "These suggestions help us do the important job of staying in-tune with producers' needs and providing the software to match."

Hydraulic Farrowing Crate Prevents Crushing

NEWTON GROVE, NC — Hog Slat® recently introduced a new, hydraulic farrowing crate that increases litter survival rates (mortality reductions of one quarter pig per sow have been reported) without the drawbacks of conventional farrowing methods. Its unique, patented design enables producers to get more pigs to market plus offers significant improvements over saver-bar type methods which are often uncomfortable and restrict access to teats.

Hog Slat's new proctor farrowing crate features a hydraulic cylinder that allows the crate's sides to adjust to meet the sow's needs, then lowers her slowly and gently to the floor. The expanding sides enable even the largest sow to nurse in comfort. And, since there are no lower bars to obstruct nursing, even the smallest pigs will get a full feed. When the sow is standing, the crate's sides hang close to her sides, creating a larger safe area for the pigs. This safety area is further expanded by an easily-adjustable rump guard, which also protects pigs at birth.

Constructed of hot-dipped galvanized or painted steel, the crate is seven feet in length and can be set up with a 4½ or 5 feet-wide stalls. It measures 44 inches to the top of the crate and side widths may be adjusted from 25 to 36 inches. The rump guard also easily adjusts to fit large and small sows. Equipped with nipple waterers (cup waterers offered as an option), the crate features a pull-out rod for cleaning its stainless steel feeders with ease. Of European design, the crate is also compatible with Hog Slat's feed-saver feeders.

Hog Slat, Inc. is a leading manufacturer of hog production equipment specializing in complete turn-key facilities. For more information on the Hog Slat Protector Farrowing Crate, write or call: Hog Slat, Inc., P.O. Box 308, Newton Grove, NC 28366; In NC: 800/682-1103; in US: 800/334-6465; 919/594-0219.

Elanco To Begin BST Educational Program

MADISON, WI. — Elanco Products Company recently announced plans to introduce an educational program to show both small and large farmers how to use BST effectively, once the product is approved for commercial use. In a statement made during the World Dairy Expo, Donald W. Hecht, director of dairy market development for Elanco, said his company's planned educational program will show dairy farmers how to use BST to their best advantage, and it will also show how BST can fit into a good program of dairy herd management. "This educational program will be available wherever Elanco BST is available to dairy farmers, both small and large."

Hecht also cited a study conducted for the U.S. Congress which showed that dairy farmers of all sizes will profit from effective use of BST. The study, done at Texas A & M University,

Wayne Extension Association Plans Dinner Meeting

PLEASANT VALLEY, (Wayne Co.) — The annual dinner meeting of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Association will be held Thursday evening, October 26, 7:45 p.m. in the Pleasant Valley Grange Hall. A visitation period with milk punch being served is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

The agenda will include a presentation by State Representative Jerry Birmelin, who will discuss current legislative issues. In addition, Dr. Wayne Schutjer, associate dean of the College of Agriculture and associate director of Cooperative Extension at Penn State, will discuss the procedure followed in establishing extension educational programs.

The Wayne County Extension annual report will be distributed and an election of extension executive committee members will be held. Seven new members will be elected to the executive committee for four year terms.

All persons who utilize extension services, or are interested in extension, are considered members of the Extension Association, and encouraged to attend the annual meeting and participate in the election. Seven new members will be elected to the Extension Executive Committee, which serves as an advisory group to Cooperative Extension and is responsible for local funding.

Tickets can be secured from any member of the extension committee or in the Wayne County Extension office, Court House, Honesdale; phone is 253-5970 Ext. 239.

showed that the increased profits from BST could be of greatest benefit to dairy farmers in the Upper Midwest and Northeast, Hecht said.

"That's one reason why we're enthusiastic about BST," Hecht said, "because we at Elanco know that BST can improve the profits of dairy farmers. It actually can strengthen those family farms that use BST effectively."

Hecht also expressed optimism about the use of BST to feed hungry people around the world. "BST will help food-deficient countries like the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, India and others," he said. "As the result of BST, there are many people in the world who will have dairy products who would otherwise go hungry."

Sheep Competition Tough In All Breeds At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Judge for the Dorset show, Albert "Buster" Wilson a Virginia breeder, said the quality of the sheep in KILE competition is tops. "Judging is tougher at KILE than at the Farmshow because exhibitors come from so many different states," he said.

It took four days for exhibitors to show sheep from 13 different breeds. Exhibitors came from many states. Even those who don't win were pleased with the chance to talk with other and breeders and exhibitors.

DORSET

The award winning ram was one of six the Downsbroughs entered from their flock of 70 brood ewes.

ROMMEY

A Kent County Maryland couple captured top honors during Romney sheep judging competition. William and Cindy Bankhead of Springfield Farms near Rock Hill showed the grand champion ram and the reserve grand champion ram. The Bankheads, who have been breeding Romney sheep for 12 years on Maryland's eastern shore, also were named Premier Exhibitor.

Remsden Farm of Birdsboro exhibited the champion ewe in the Romney division of sheep competition at the 33rd Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

"This was our first try as exhibitors at KILE," said Remsden's Susan Nejman, who is partners in the operation with her father, Roy C. Higginson.

SOUTHDOWN

Sheep breeders from Jefferson, Maryland dominated competition in two divisions of judging at KILE.

In Southdown judging, W.G. Carpenter & Sons showed the champion sale ewe, the reserve champion sale ewe, reserve champion ewe, and the reserve champion ram. Carpenter was also named Premier Breeder and Premier Southdown Exhibitor during competition.

F.R. Farms of Marlington, West Viriginia showed the Southdown champion ewe and the champion ram.

Jennifer Flinchbaugh of York showed the reserve grand champion ram. Jennifer is from Walnut Lane Farms, which has 30 Southdowns, 30 Hampshires, and 30 commercial sheep. The ram's dam is a Canadian bred ewe from Cooper's Flock.

Dan Strahl, judge from Greenfield, Indiana for the Southdown division, said the sheep shown at KILE are very competitive nationally.

SHROPSHIRE

Another Jefferson, Maryland breeder, Peter D'Ambria captured most of the top awards during Shropshire sheep judging at KILE. D'Ambria exhibited the champion ram, the champion ewe, the reserve champion ewe, and was named Premier Breeder and Premier Shropshire Exhibitor.

A Bradford County Shropshire breeder, Kenneth T. Moore or Rome, won a ribbon for showing the reserve champion Shropshire ram.

SUFFOLK

Robert McNabb Jr. of Marlington, West Virginia gathered up a handful of ribbons and was named Premier breeder and Premier Suffolk Exhibitor during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition in the Pennsylvania International Livestock Exposition in the Pennsylvania State Farmshow Complex.

Exhibitors from Ohio also won big in Suffolk judging. Yeo Farms of Lowellville, Ohio showed the champion ram and champion ewe. Chippendale Suffolks of Scio, Ohio brought the reserve champion ram and reserve champion ewe to show in Harrisburg.

Yeo Farms also showed the top Exhibitor's Flock in Suffolk judging.

OXFORD

Junior exhibitor Jason Bixler of Mt. Holly Springs was a strong competitor in the Oxford breeding sheep contest showing a champion ram and reserve champion ewe. Both Oxfords were yearling entries.

Century Farm, a Saugerties, N.Y., breeder, showed the first-place ewe lambs, of which one went on be named the champion of the show. In addition, the sheep producer racked up enough points during the show to be named premier exhibitor as well as premier breeder.

The reserve champion ram was exhibited by Kendra Lay of Ridgeway, Ohio.

MONTADALE

The Montadale competition this year was dominated by veteran exhibitors Alfred and Katherine Tyler of Glen Arm, Md. Three of the four top Montadale titles went to the pair, who also were named the premier breeder and exhibitor of the breed. The Tylers, who had last year's KILE reserve champion ewe had the champion and reserve champion ram and the champion ewe.

Taking home reserve champion ewe honors was yearling entry shown by Alexandra J. Drenning of Woodsboro, Md.

MERINO

Although they only had one champion in the Merino show, Morehouse Farm of Red Hook, N.Y., was named the premier breeder and premier exhibitor. Their champion was the first-place fall ram lamb.

Taking two of the other top titles was Blue Rock, Ohio, exhibitor Jerry R. Frame and family. Frame had two spring lambs of which the ewe was named champion and the ram was named reserve champion.

Another Ohio exhibitor, Joan Hess and Sons, grabbed the other rosette. Their yearling ewe was named reserve champion Merino.

CORRIEDALE

L.D. Cook and Sons of New

Gretchen Yeo of Yeo Farms exhibited the champion Suffolk ram. Hidden behind P.P. Abraham is shepherd Joe Hixenbaugh.

Yeo Farms of Lowellville, Ohio, owned by Gretchen Yeo, had the champion Suffolk ewe in the open competition. Holding Yeo Farms 2179 is Joe Hixenbaugh, Yeo Farms shepherd.

VV864 Cameo, owned by Vesper Farm in Spring Grove, was named the champion Corriedale ewe.

Ramsden Farm 0057, the champion Romney ewe, was exhibited by Susan A. Nejman, shown, and Roy C. Higginson.

The champion Montadale ewe in the KILE open breeding show was exhibited by Katherine and Alfred Tyler.

London, Ohio, showed a fall ram lamb to a champion title and also took home a ewe that the judge named reserve champion Corriedale. Edging Cook and Sons out of the top ewe title was the Pennsylvania yearling entry from Vesper Valley Farm of Spring Grove.

The reserve champion ram came from the flock of the Jagger Brothers of Mt. Gilead, Ohio. Carl P. Ulrich, a Rhinebeck, N.Y., exhibitor received both the premier awards for the Corriedale breed.

Field Day Focuses On Water Quality

COLLEGE PARK, MD. — How do you respond to the growing concern about water quality and still maintain an economic edge in your farming operation? If you've been wondering what your options are and how they could affect your bottom line, come to the Indiantown Farm Field Day, Tuesday, October 24, in Queen Anne's County.

The field day will feature wagon tours, exhibits and an open-pit beef barbeque. It is sponsored by the University of Maryland's Agricultural Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service (CES).

The program will include an explanation by Denise Clearwater with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources of how the new Nontidal Wetlands Protection Act could affect your operation, and a presentation of Extension's new nutrient management service for farmers by CES nutrient management specialist Mitchell Woodward. Lynn Shuyler of the Environmental Protection Agency will give a progress report on our efforts to clean up the Bay.

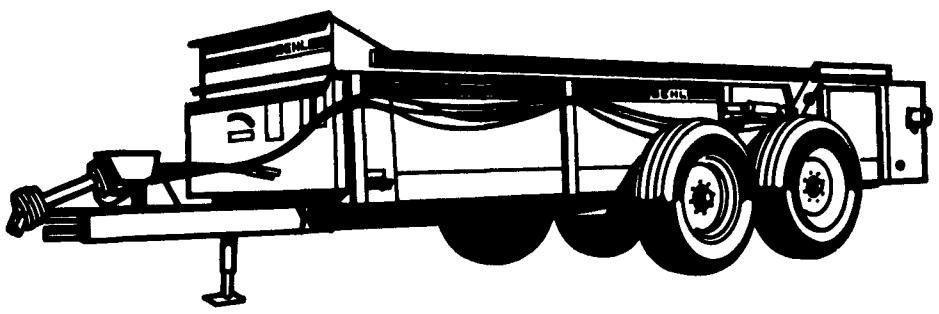
Other tour stops will focus on:

* measuring the impact of agriculture on ground and surface water at Indiantown,
* the economics of employing Best Management Practices,
* using cover crops as a nitrogen management tool,
* the influence of buffer strips on water quality,
* new options in the Conservation Reserve Program and an update on cost-share programs.

Located on gently rolling hills near the Chester River, the Indiantown Farm is a logical setting for a field day focusing on water quality issues, according to Dr. Richard A. Weismiller, CES soil and water resources management specialist. Indiantown is a 343-acre cash grain operation owned by the Wood family and operated by Buck Farms, Inc. Since 1984, it also has been a demonstration farm developed by the University of Maryland with funds from the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Chesapeake Bay Initiatives program.

The field day will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. Registration for the event is $5 and must be received by October 17. Contact James Wood at 301/827-8056 for more information.

GEHL



Unbeatable . . . priced right

If you handle mostly solid manure, a Gehl box spreader has the performance features you want at a price you'll appreciate. Features include special Gehl-Tuff flooring that prevents the apron from freezing to the floor and lets manure slide out with little resistance; 12-gauge, corrosion-resistant GEHL STEEL sides for strength and endurance; wide-spread beater paddles for wide, even spreads; constant velocity pto; and a standard two-speed worm drive transmission. Add a 10-year warranty on the floor and sides and you have an unbeatable package available only from your Gehl dealer.

York Couple Captures Top Horse Prize At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— Evergreen Farms of Wrightsville, (York County) Pennsylvania captured the biggest prize ever awarded during horse competition at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) in the State Farm Show Complex here in Harrisburg. Evergreen Farms' Paint horse, "Paint Me Hobby," was named SOVEREIGN CHAMPION during the first annual "Glatfelter Challenge of the Breeds" horse competition Saturday night in the Large Arena.

Evergreen Farms is owned by Terry and Peg Helder, who are well-known exhibitors of Paints, Appaloosas, and Quarter horses.

The Glatfelter Challenge is a brand new KILE event, sponsored by the Glatfelter Insurance Group and the Pennsylvania Equine Council. It provides a $1,000 cash prize to the Sovereign Champion and $500 to the Reserve Champion. The competition was open to four breeds: Paints, Appaloosas, Arabians, and Quarter Horses. Entries had to be nominated by state breed associations, and each association was permitted to nominate two horses for the competition. Each entry was required to compete in five out of six scored events. The events include Pleasure Driving, English Pleasure, Hunter Hack, Western Pleasure, Western Riding, and a Barrel Race.

Evergreen Farms captured the Sovereign Champion title with first places in Hunter Hack, Western Pleasure, and English Pleasure. Evergreen placed third in Pleasure Driving, and Western Riding; and fourth in the Barrel Race.

The Reserve Champion in the 1989 KILE Glatfelter Challenge of the Breeds was "Turn to Skip" a Quarter Horse owned by Rebecca Gilson Trego of Port Royal, (Juniata County) Pennsylvania.

KILE, now in its 33rd year at the State Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, is one of the premier livestock shows in the nation. Exhibitors have entered 3,500 animals in this year's show, vying for an increased purse of $125,000. The Expo is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Farm Products Show Commission.

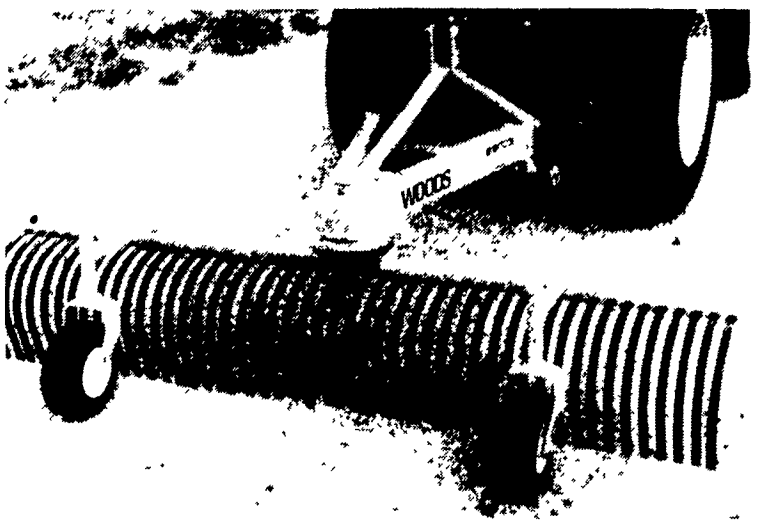
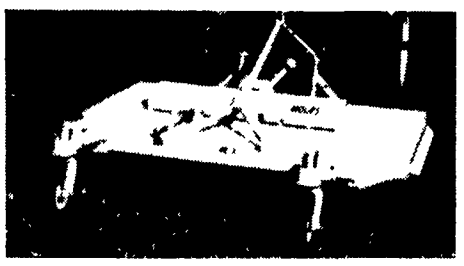
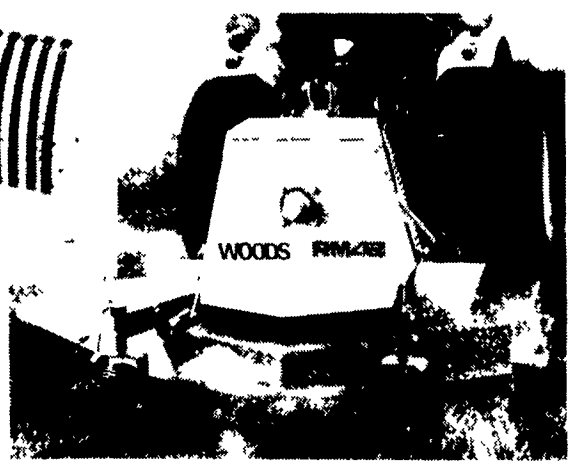
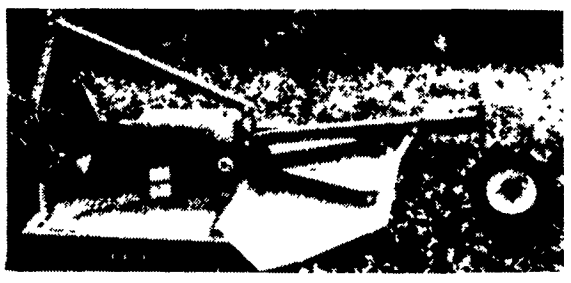
This stallion foal born March 7, 1989 was both the junior and the grand champion of the Percheron show for Dennis Hays, Fredericksburg, OH.

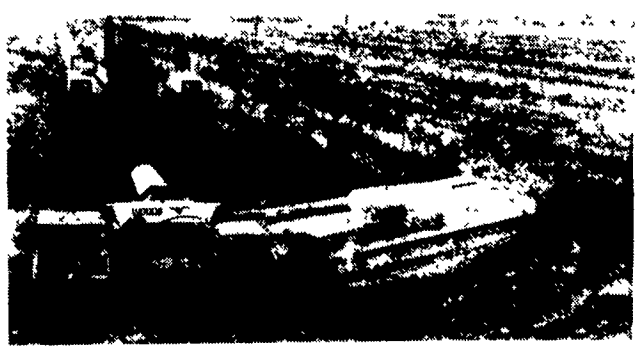
One tree doesn't make a Woods

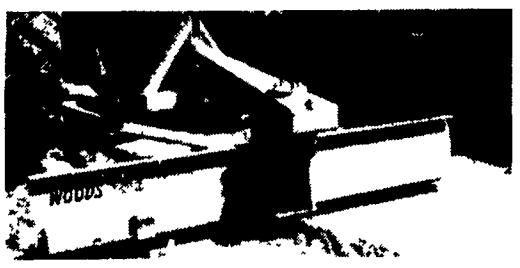












Nor does just one product. That's why when Woods introduced the world's first successful tractor powered rotary shredder back in 1947, they didn't rest on their laurels. Instead, they continued to apply outstanding engineering expertise producing equipment packed with performance, reliability and value. The results: a line-up of over 50 different products including mowers, cutters, rear scraper blades, backhoes and specialty machines. The best that money can buy.

Swine Handling Video Available

MADISON, WI. — "Swine Handling and Transportation", a fifteen minute VHS video produced by Livestock Conservation Institute (LCI), is now available.

This video will show farmers how to take advantage of swine behavior to handle and transport swine more easily and effectively, resulting in reduced injuries and workers compensation costs, improved carcass quality, and higher profits at the market.

The video was produced under the direction of Dr. Temple Grandin, an internationally recognized behavioral researcher and facilities design consultant, and chairman of LCI's Handling Committee.

Founded in 1916, LCI is an organization made up of 180 agribusiness and producer organizations, encompassing several diverse segments of the livestock industry.

LCI's mission is to develop and achieve the implementation of industry-directed solutions to the animal health and care needs of the livestock industry.

To order a copy of the video "Swine Handling and Transportation", send US $29.95 to Livestock Conservation Institute, 6414 Copps Ave., Suite 204, Madison, WI 53716. For more information contact LCI at (608) 221-4848.

Soviet Farmers Visit Iowa Farms This Fall

Twelve Soviet farmers are living and working on Iowa farms this fall as guests of the Iowa Corn Promotion Board (ICPB) and the Iowa Corn Growers Association (ICGA).

In exchange, the Iowa host families will make a reciprocal visit to the Soviet Union to see how Soviet agriculture is changing.

The Soviet farmers who have been chosen to come to Iowa this fall are middle-level managers, mostly engineers or mechanics, who are familar with farm machinery but not necessarily with marketing or production techniques, said Jerry Perkins of ICGA. "They hope to learn how an Iowa farm is organized to produce and sell its crops."

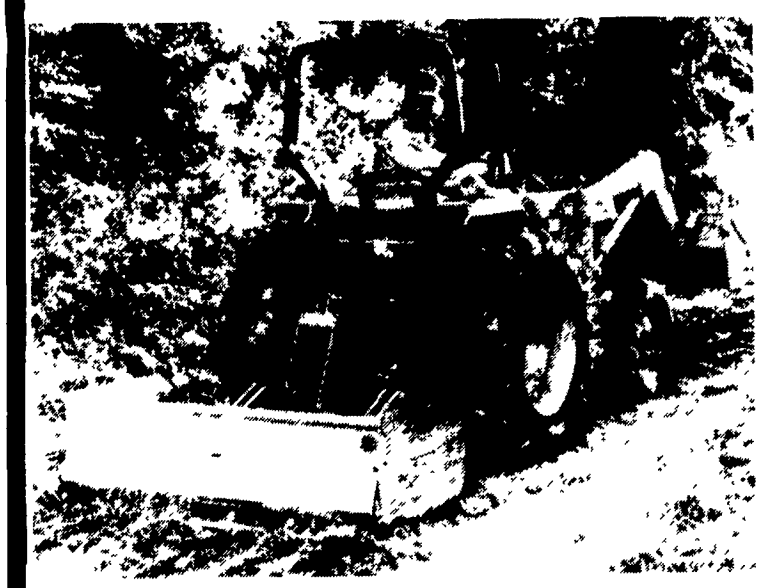
BOOST YOUR PRODUCTIVITY



Kubota's mid-size tractors are powerful and versatile enough to significantly increase your productivity.

Weekend farmers, groundkeepers and construction workers will appreciate the Kubota L-Series wide choice of implements. Mowers, loaders, box-scrapers and backhoes make these Kubota tractors high achievers.

Powerful direct injection. 20-40 PTO HP diesel engines. 2 or 4 wheel drive on most models. You can select an 8x7 or 8x8 mechanical transmission plus two models with the exclusive Glide Shift Transmission. Along with fuel economy and low maintenance.

See how a Kubota L-Series tractor can boost your productivity.

KUBOTA®
Nothing like it on earth.™

Kubota Tractors Corporation Markets a full line of tractors from 10 to 85 PTO horsepower through a nationwide network of nearly 1,000 dealers.

"Financing As Low As 2.75% At Participating Kubota Dealerships Through December 31, 1989."

BIG BALE CHOPPERS
from KIDD give regular bale economy from big round bales.

For animal feed, bedding or mulching the Kidd Big Bale Chopper provides either or both sides delivery controlled from the tractor seat. It saves on hay, straw and labour. And with air box adaptor, it blows material through a 7 inch dia. flexible hose, ideal for landscaping applications. For animal feed, it chops and shreds hay to provide better digestion and increased growth rates and, for bedding, it means less waste. For mulching it can be used around strawberry plants or apple trees with considerable saving on straw and labour.

If you can find a more productive 160 hp tractor, buy it.

When Massey-Ferguson introduced the revolutionary M-F 3000 Series Autotronic™ and Datatronic™ tractors over three years ago, the farm press and farmers said "Wow!"

Our competitors said "Oh oh." And began scrambling to copy our advancements.

And the only complaint we've heard is from farmers who want the M-F Autotronic and Datatronic tractor features, but with more horsepower.

Massey-Ferguson listens.

And responds. That's how we got to be the Western World's largest tractor company.

Two years ago we introduced the M-F 3630 and 3650 tractors with all the features; now we're proud to present the new 4WD M-F 3680 with more power for even more productivity.

The performance features you want.

Power. A big, 452 cu. in. (7.4 L), turbocharged engine delivers 160* PTO hp, with very economical fuel consumption.

Transmission. The most versatile transmission in the industry with 16 forward and 16 reverse speeds, fully synchronized with shuttle. You even get a 2-speed powershift in this flexible gearbox.

"Silent Revolution" cab. You'll simply love this "farm office." It's quiet, comfortable and has a great view.

M-F Autotronic tractor "smarts."

Nobody else can even come close to all the M-F 3680's productivity features.

For example, you'll make tighter headland turns because it automatically disengages and re-engages the differential lock, WITHOUT SHUTTING OFF THE 4WD.

You'll save time and fuel by reducing slippage; the M-F 3680 automatically re-engages the differential lock when you lower your implement. Touch the differential lock and it also automatically engages 4WD.

PTO equipment is pampered with a unique sensing system that automatically measures the PTO load and engages the clutch smoothly and progressively to prevent damage.

M-F Datatronic tractor "brilliance."

For real productivity, get the optional M-F 3680 Datatronic tractor.

It can show you which gear, engine speed and implement setting to use for best fuel economy or productivity.

Want to know how many acres you've worked? How long to finish the field? If you have enough fuel to finish? When the next servicing is due? How much wheelslip? It shows you everything.

But it doesn't stop there. The M-F 3680 Datatronic tractor will even control 3-point hitch implements to prevent wheelslip in excess of your setting.

Get your demo today.

Ask your M-F dealer for a complete demo and experience the benefits that make the M-F 3680 your best value in the 160-hp class.

A LOADER FOR ALMOST ANY LIFTING AND LOADING JOB.

The 2440 QT Front End Loader from Bush Hog® does an outstanding job with general contracting and landscape chores—but it works just as well when cleaning feed lots, lifting grain or for snow removal.

Designed for 30 to 60 HP tractors, the 2440 QT allows a choice of 48, 60, 72 or 80-inch buckets as well as fork lifts and bale spears. An optional quick attach system makes it easy to switch from one attachment to another.

Come in to see the 2440 QT—it makes a perfect match for your tractor...and a perfect match for your job.

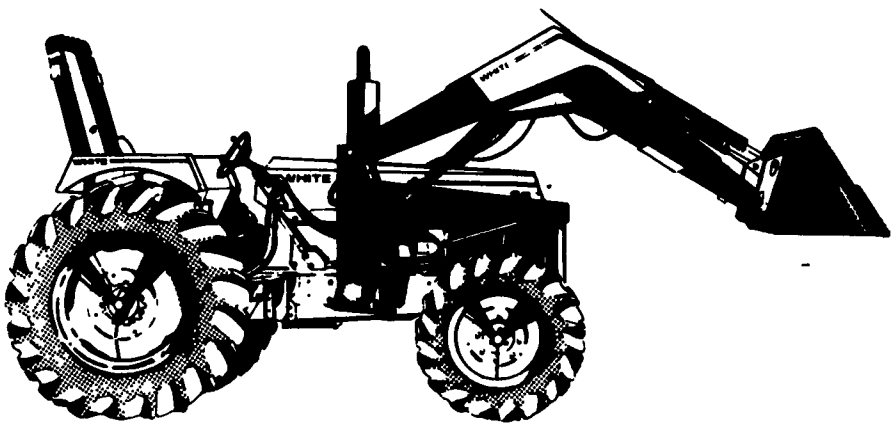
WHITE FRONT END LOADERS



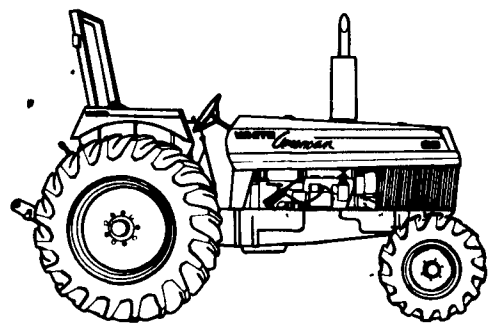
White Loaders Are Convenient, Easy To Use And Even Make Your Chores Fun.

The White 1170 and 1185 front end loaders are sized to perform those tough everyday jobs. Whether its loading, hauling or digging, the 1170 and 1185 loaders are a pleasure to operate. Plus you can store these loaders anywhere at any time with quick attach mounting and an integral storage stand.

For a real workhorse combination, team up a White 60 or 80 with an 1170. Or choose an 1185 loader with your White 100, 120, 140 or 160. Both offer hydraulic self leveling that keeps the bucket level all the way up.

Less worry and hassle. White loaders can make your work a lot easier.

ALL-PURPOSE AND FIT FOR THE FIELD.



The All-New American Series from White Farm Equipment

Dependable and rugged, White's all-new American Series has power for the field. Powered by a Cummins 4-cylinder engine, both 60 and 80 hp models really get you through the field...at an operating cost that leaves more for your bottom line.

And the American Series is available in your choice of four historic colors: Oliver Green, Minneapolis-Moline Gold, Cockshutt Red and White Farm Silver.

We've equipped the American Series with standard features that give you the best of the "utility" and "row crop" worlds.
- Cast iron main frame
- 6-speed transmission
- Adjustable 3-point hitch

And you can choose from options that give you even more big tractor performance.
- Posi-trac full power front axle
- Electronic 3-speed power shift
- 2nd and 3rd remote detent valves

Put economical field power to work for you. See the American Series today.

QUALITY ENGINEERING

The new White 120 quality features include

- A newly designed, fuel efficient 118 PTO HP Cummins engine that produces a 27% torque rise under load
- Ability to select from 18 forward speeds, 9 in the working range of 2 to 7 mph with White s proven 3 speed powershift transmission
- Innovative, high clearance PosiTrac Full Power Front Axle that adapts to dif ferent row spacings and has a short, 13 1 ft turning radius
- Massive drive train that features planetary final drives, wet disc brakes and engage on the go differential lock

Sale Date NOVEMBER 18, 1989

11:00 A.M. Equipment1:00 P.M. Real Estate

OWNER/SELLER VERNA H. HORNING

Location along Rt. 501, two miles south of Rt. 422, Myerstown, four miles north of 897, Schaefferstown, Jackson Township, Lebanon County, Penna.

Open House Sat., Nov. 11th, 1-4 P.M.

I am a friendly, high productive farm, a very artistic creation indeed. My solid stone house was built in 1820, comfortably suitable for your family. That 32x75 tobacco barn has also large corn storage including conveyor for convenience, and full basement. My modern dairy bank barn, built 1969 boasting 4 ton bin, 50 stanchions & gutters shows stability. Other outbuildings being numerous. You will want to peek through.

My fertile soil lies approx. half on each side of the road, which divides only my original 1864 stone barn (42x84) with attached hog pens and chicken house from me. I'm complete this side. Could it be there are two farm families who could share my price and build another house thereby completely owning two average size farms.

Thank you for marking your calendar now to enjoy considering this opportunity.
